County Chambers Reach Accord In Harbor Bill Fight

TO SUPPORT PLAN UP TO $1,000,000

Johnson Resolution Adopted Ending Controversy Of Long Time Standing

FIREWORKS MISSING

Two-thirds Vote Necessary to Carry Bonds After First Million Ballot

V. D. JOHNSON, Orange county publicity director, became the Moses of Orange county last night, when he led the delegates of the Associated Chambers of Commerce meeting in Costa Mesa, out of the wilderness of perplexity into the Promised Land of harmony by offering a resolution that brought the factions involved in the controversy on the proposed Orange county harbor bill into absolute accord.

The Johnson resolution, which was adopted after a minor amendment had been passed, approved the harbor bill with its provision for voting harbor bonds on a straight majority vote on condition that amendments be made to the bill limiting the amount of harbor bonds under the straight majority vote to $1,000,000; that expenditure be under direction of the federal government, and that attempt to vote harbor bonds not be made until after an election on flood control and water conservation bonds.

Amendment Carried

Strong opposition to the latter provision developed and it was eliminated only after lengthy debate, in which assertions were made that the north end of the county did not seem disposed to give the coast section a square deal. Only relegates were permitted to vote on the motions and, when the vote was taken, the amendment was carried 25 to six, Johnson voting no.

The amended resolution then was adopted by a 26 to three vote. If the bill is adopted by the legislature after the proposed amendment is made, a two-thirds vote will be necessary to carry harbor bonds after an issue of $1,009,000 had been voted on the straight majority provision.

Expected "fireworks" did not develop in discussions on indorsement of the harbor bill by the county body and speakers made no attempt to make uncomplimentary remarks about individuals or groups beyond declarations, by one or two speakers, that fair play was not being accorded the coast section.

The debate was brought up by a report from the legislative committee recommending that the harbor bill be disapproved because of the majority vote proposition, the report being presented by J. A. Smiley, chairman.

Lew H. Wallace, veteran leader of many harbor battles, opened the discussion. Pledging his support to flood control programs and asserting that his attitude, as well as that of other beach residents, had been given incorrectly in rumors, Wallace urged that men speaking on the subject say nothing of an irritable character.

Great Passenger Traffic

In refutation of oft-heard remarks that nothing had been accomplished in the harbor project by money already expended, Wallace pointed out that prior to the original county bond issue there was neither passenger nor freight traffic into the harbor, while in 1928 40,000 per-

SOUTH IGNORED BY HOOVER IN NEXT CABINET

President-Elect to Rest In Next Three Days—Ends Work On Speech

BY THOMAS L. STOKES
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, March 1.—(UP)—President-elect Hoover has found no place in the cabinet for the south, it appeared today, despite insistent pleas from close advisers that he include a southerner in his official family. None of the eight cabinet members whose identity has become known is from the south, and it was indicated today in well-informed quarters that neither of the "surprises" promised by Mr. Hoover's associates for the commerce and agriculture posts will be a southerner.

Recognition of the south was generally expected because of the contribution that once solidly Democratic section made to Mr. Hoover's election. He carried four states from which to pick, Virginia, North Carolina, Florida and Texas.

In passing by the south, the president-elect has disregarded the advice of associates who know the feeling of that section and had first hand contact with it as campaigners last autumn.

The president-elect is warmly appreciative of the aid the south rendered in his election, and has taken many occasions to express this appreciation.

Mr. Hoover, however, had made it plain he did not consider geographical lines in selection of his cabinet, but that his effort was to find 10 able men who would co-operate with him in carrying out his policies, wherever they might live.

With his cabinet completed and has inaugugarl address in the hands of the printers, the president-elect curtailed his schedule today in order to rest for the next three days from what has proved the biggest job he ever had—picking his cabinet of 10 men.

Almost last minute changes were necessary in some cases, the secretary of labor for one. Not a week ago, Mr. Hoover had settled definitely upon William N. Doak, vice-president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, for this post. Objections were voiced by the American Federation of

DRAKE GLIDER IN DISTANCE RECORD

LOS ANGELES, March 1.—(UP)—A new world's distance record of 175 miles for a glider towed by an airplane was claimed today by Dale Drake, whose trip from Sheep Camp to Long Beach ended in a San Fernando valley barley field yesterday.

Drake was being towed over Santa Susanna pass at an elevation of 7200 feet when the tow rope snapped. The pass below offered no landing place and he started a 12-mile coast to the Metropolitan airport at Van Nuys.

Drake fell two miles short of the Metropolitan airport and landed in the plowed field after a glide of 10 miles.

Tidal Wave Hits Three Japanese Coast Villages

TOKIO, March 1.—(UP)—Three villages were destroyed and many others suffered great damage today when a tidal wave hit the Japanese coast near Chosi for a distance of many miles.

Casualty reports had not been received at 11 a. m. The first huge wave which destroyed the villages was followed by other smaller waves with comparatively less damage.

Chosi is on the point of a peninsula on the eastern coast of Japan, about 65 miles east of Tokio in Chiba province.

Huge Sedan Crashes Into End of Truck—Man Is Held In Jail

MRS. LOUISE BONE, 25, of 302 Magnolia avenue, Long Beach, was believed to have been fatally injured, and Robert F. Eastman, 29, real estate broker of 2027 Linden avenue, Long Beach is being held in the county jail for investigation, following an automobile-truck crash, four miles west of Westminster at 9:30 o'clock last night.

Mrs. Bone is in the Long Beach Community hospital with a fractured skull and last night physicians stated that her condition was critical and that she had small chance to recover.

Eastman was driving the car in which the woman was riding towards Santa Ana at the time of the accident. According to D. D. Adams, state traffic officer, he drove his machine directly into the rear of a truck driven by Irwin Fore, of 4809 South Alameda street, Los Angeles, as the truck, running at a much slower speed, was travelling in the same direction as the Eastman car.

The top of the sedan was torn completely off and the engine of the car went through a huge tank on the back end of the truck.

Eastman was slightly cut and bruised. He was arrested in Long Beach at 1 o'clock this morning by Sheriff's Officers Howard and Steward and returned to jail here. According to officers he will be held for investigation, pending the death or recovery of Mrs. Bone.

3 SAILORS KILLED IN SHIP EXPLOSION

BUENA VENTURA, Colombia, March 1. — (UP)—The English steamer Tritonia, loaded with dynamite and gasoline, was shattered by a terrific explosion and sank in Buena Ventura bay yesterday. A check-up today showed that three men had been killed and many injured, while several, including the first and second engineers, were missing.

The explosion was of such force that the custom house, 1200 yards from the ship, was unroofed. Several walls of the building collapsed and other nearby structures, including the army barracks, were damaged.

The explosion was due to a fire aboard the steamer. Most of her crew was saved, as they were enabled to put off in lifeboats just before the explosion.

CATHOLIC HISTORY RECITED AT TRIAL

LOS ANGELES, March 1.—(UP)—Excerpts from several volumes dealing with the history of the Roman Catholic church during the Spanish inquisition were read by the defense today in the trial of Rev. R. P. "Fighting Bob" Shuler on charges of criminally libeling the fourth degree, Knights of Columbus.

Dr. Frank W. Pittman, professor of history at Pomona college, testified that the works of Henry Charles Lea, which were offered in evidence, were recognized as the most authentic concerning the Catholic church during the middle ages.

Dr. Pittman gave numerous dates of birthplaces and deaths of historians he mentioned as if he were conducting a class in history.

LAST MEETING OF COOLIDGE'S CABINET HELD

Only Two Members Will Hold Over—Farewells Said By Many

By LAWRENCE SULLIVAN
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, March 1.—(UP)—With two business days remaining before he turns over the reins of government to Herbert Hoover, President Coolidge virtually finished his administration with the final cabinet meeting today.

It was mostly a meeting of farewells and good wishes, for there was little business to demand the ttention of the last gathering of the Coolidge official family.

The spacious and richly furnished cabinet room, immediately to the left of the president's private office, provided an uncommonly austere setting this morning, for it has been nearly stripped of wall decorations. Several of the chairs of the retiring members have been removed and three new ones of the same pattern await their first occupants.

Of the ten men who make up the cabinet today, only two—Secretary of Treasury Mellon and Secretary of Labor Davis—took office eight years ago with Mr. Coolidge at the beginning of the Harding administration. By a trick of political circumstance, they are the only two members of the Coolidge cabinet who appear assured of places in the Hoover administration.

Two of the nation's elder statesmen probably end their public careers with today's meeting. Secretary of State Kellogg soon will return to Minnesota to resume practice of law.

Postmaster General New, likewise one of the seniors of the Coolidge cabinet, looks forward to a period of retirement on his Virginia estate, not far from the capital. Even should he accept a business connection later, it will be one involving activities in Washington rather than in Indiana, the state in which he wrought his political career.

Secretary of Commerce Whiting and Attorney General Sargent, both close personal friends of President Coolidge, plan to return immediately to their New England homes, the former in Holyoke, Mass., and the latter in Ludlow, Vermont.

Secretary of Agriculture Jardine, whose policies frequently were the storm centers of the administration during the trying times of agriculture's post-war distress, plans to remain in Washington as director of a newly organized cooperative fruit marketing enterprise.

Secretary of the Navy Wilbur, who left the California supreme court to enter the cabinet, has been mentioned as a likely appointee to the federal circuit court in the recently created ninth district.

Secretary of the Interior West, who succeeded to the post of Chairman Hubert Work of the Republican national committee last July, when work undertook direction of the Hoover campaign, is planning to return to Chicago to resume his law practice.

Secretary of War Davis will return to his St. Louis home, but has not announced his plans.

Friends Aver Wedding May Be Surprise

Lone Eagle Will Spend His Week-end at Cuernavaca It Is Revealed

MEXICO CITY, March 1.—(UP)—The wedding of Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh and Miss Anne Spencer Morrow before the flier returns to the United States from his present trip to Mexico is regarded as highly probable.

Lindbergh's coming trip for the week-end to Cuernavaca with United States Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow and his family led to renewed discussion of a possible quiet wedding at the Morrow country retreat.

Any clew from the Morrow family, however, was conspicuously absent. Lindbergh and his fiancee took refuge constantly behind their phrase:

"I have nothing to say."

Friends of the family, nevertheless, said they would not be surprised if the wedding occurred without warning.

Lindbergh was understood to be ready for the ceremony at any time, and it was assumed that the decision rested with the family of the bride-to-be.

The capital was loud in its praise of both the flier and Miss Morrow for their pluck and coolness in going for a flight again so soon after the crash of Wednesday, in which they were lucky to escape with their lives.

Lindbergh, with his arm still in a sling to east the shoulder which was dislocated when their plane overturned with a missing wheel, took Miss Morrow up yesterday for an air trip over Valbuena field.

He piloted with his left hand and showed the aviation skill for which he is famous by his easy handling of the plane, swooping down from the air, taxiing along the field twice and rising again with ease.. Aviators at the field said it was an extraordinary exhibition.

The purpose of the demonstration was two-fold. First, it is a rule of the air service for a flier to go up again immediately after a crash to discipline his nerves, and Lindbergh is a rigid observer of all air rules. Secondly, one of Lindbergh's chief aims has been to show the public that aviation is safe, and the flight with his fiancee was intended to demonstrate that Wednesday's mishap had not caused them to lose confidence in airplanes.

MARSHAL FOCH'S CONDITION BETTER

PARIS, March 1.—(UP)—Marshal Ferdinand Foch showed further improvement today. A bulletin issued by his doctors said:

"The temperature is 37.1 (98.78 Fahrenheit) and the pulse 84. The pulmonary congestion is subsiding and the patient passed a good night. He is now taking food."

C. C. LANGLEY COMPLETES 30 YEARS ON LOCAL P. O. STAFF

By ELEANOR YOUNG ELLIOTT

March 1, 1929, coming in like the proverbial lamb, brought a "special delivery" package of congratulatory wishes today to the Santa Ana post office, where C. C. ("Cliff") Langley, foreman of carriers, celebrated his thirtieth consecutive year of service in the local office, and at the same time recalled the fact that just 30 years ago today, the city mail delivery service was instituted, when he shouldered the first leather mail satchel, and started out to deliver letters in the business district.

Pausing this morning in his rush of dutios, the veteran post office employe, second oldest in point of service on the present staff, recounted stirring details of that day in 1899, packing boxes. The letter stacks with their pigeon holes, did not come until later, when the post office stepped from third to second class, by the institution of free delivery.

"T. J. Alexander was postmaster at that time," he recalled, "Santa Ana had a population of about 5500, and for two successive years the office had done a $10,000 business, entitling it to a second class rating with the privilege of city delivery service. I came into the office that morning as a green youth with no precedent to guide me in the matter of mail delivery. None of our equipment had come and there were no arrangements for taking care of the mail and sorting it ready for the carriers, beyond piling it into big

GOVERNOR C. C. YOUNG NOT TO APPOINT NEW JURIST DURING JUDGE CARLOS HARDY TRIAL

By HOMER L. ROBERTS
United Press Staff Correspondent

SACRAMENTO, March 1.—Governor Young does not plan to appoint a superior judge to act in place of Judge Carlos Hardy during his impeachment trial beginning March 18, unless specifically ordered by Attorney General U. S. Webb.

This became evident at the executive offices today, where it was announced that an opinion from the attorney general would decide the governor's power in the matter.

Impeachment proceedings against the Los Angeles judge for giving legal advice and accepting a $2500 check from Aimee Semple McPherson, were completed late yesterday before the senate.

Immediately after the vote, the governor was notified of the action and the assembly board of managers declared that Judge Hardy was automatically suspended from office under the penal code.

Little precedent was found in the state law to guide the governor in his actions. The legislative counsel bureau, however, expressed doubt that the executive should appoint a temporary judge, for the following reasons:

1. That in the impeachment of Judge James H. Hardy in 1862, for giving a toast to Jeff Davis and the southern confederacy, Governor Leland Stanford did not appoint a judge to the position during trial, and not until a final verdict was reached.

2. That "serious doubt" exists as to the power of the state legislature by statute to suspend an official whose term is fixed by consitution

3. That in case the office is held to be vacant, by creation of the state judicial council, whose power is to assign judges to fill vacancies, that body may well succeed to the duties conferred upon the governor by the penal code.

Upon advice of Attorney General Webb, Lieutenant Governor H. L. Carnahan last night sent a telegram to Judge Hardy informally telling him of the senate's action, and requesting him to appear at the bar of the senate to answer the charges at 11 a. m. March 18.

Judge Hardy's first and probably best opportunity to end the case against him is in his motion for demurrer, which he may file, either in person or by attorney, within 10 days after the impeachment papers are formally served upon him.

Only a majority vote is required to sustain this demurrer in the senate, which would have the effect of immediately terminating the proceedings. A two-thirds vote of the senate is required to convict the accused judge, and if he is found giulty of any one of the five articles of impeachment, he may be suspended from office. A diary, alleged to have been written by Mrs. Lorraine Wiseman-Sielaff, sister of Mrs Virla Kimball, the mysterious "Miss X" in the famous Aimee Semple McPherson kidnaping story, was presented to the assembly prosecutors yesterday by Assemblyman Melvin I. Cronin of San Francisco.

Cronin expressed doubt as to its authenticity. The diary consisted of a school composition book, written in pencil with frequent erasures of notations concerning alleged conversations wih Mrs. McPherson. Several pages had been torn out, and members of the committee said that unless Mrs. Sielaff could be found to corroborate the information it purported to disclose the diary was worthless.

7 KILLED, 8 HURT AS TANK EXPLODES

ATLANTA, Ga., March 1.—(UP)—An investigation was underway today to determine responsibility for the explosion of a compressed air tank at Stone Mountain, which resulted in the death of seven men and serious injury to eight others. Three of the injured are not expected to recover.

It is believed a workman neglected to turn a petcock which connected an air pump with the tank. The safety valve on the tank evidently failed to work, the instrument filling and bursting with a roar and detonation which shook the entire neighborhood.

Three of the men killed were white men. They were: C. C. Davis, foreman; O. S. Cowan and John Galze.

KIDNAPING OF AIMEE UNTRUE IS INFERENCE

Story Discounted In Article of Impeachment of Judge Hardy

SACRAMENTO, March 1.—(UP)—An inference that the kidnaping story of Mrs. Aimee Semple McPherson, titian haired evangelist, is untrue is contained in impeachment charges against Judge Carlos S. Hardy, who conducted the inquiry into her disappearance in 1926.

One charge against Hardy, who was notified of his impeachment yesterday, declared he attempted to conduct the investigation favorably for Mrs. McPherson, "even though he received information to the contrary before the hearing."

Date for Hardy's trial was set at March 18.

Mrs. McPherson, in 1926, disappeared and reappeared at Douglas, Ariz., and told of having been held captive by "Steve and Rosie." She has asserted several times since then that "that's my story and I'll stick to it."

The judge is accused in five articles, one of which deals also with his conduct of the trial of William Edward Hickman for kidnapping and murder. The jurist is declared to have made a "vaudeville show" of the trial.

The second article of the impeachment indictment contended "that within a few days subsequent to the reappearance, Judge Hardy received reliable information that Mrs. McPherson had not been kidnaped or held for ransom but that notwithstanding his knowledge of the facts he conducted the investigation and attempted to direct the action of the investigating grand jury favorably to Mrs. McPherson's claim that she had been "kidnaped."

Other allegations "upon which the assembly is ready to offer proof" follow:

"Between Feb. 1, 1923 and April 1, 1927, Judge Hardy furnished legal counsel and services to Mrs. McPherson and her mother, Mrs. Minnie Kennedy.

"During the time Mrs. McPherson disappeared and reappeared, claim-

COOLIDGE TO OPEN $7,500,000 BRIDGE

SAN MATEO, Calif., March 1.—(UP)—As one of his last official acts, President Coolidge tomorrow will press a button in Washington and flash the signal that will open the world's longest highway bridge.

The span, christened the San Francisco bay bridge and connecting the San Francisco peninsula with the mainland near Hayward, is 7.1 miles long and has been constructed at a cost of $7,500,000.

It was built to relieve the congestion of traffic between San Francisco and Alameda county and from the Sacramento valley through Dublin canyon, connecting with the Lincoln highway.

Eaker Stops At March Field On Way To San Diego

RIVERSIDE, March 1.—(UP)—Capt. Ira Eaker announced that he would leave March field at 2:30 p. m., today, in his Boeing speed plane for San Diego.

The former pilot of the army endurance plane Question Mark said he would remain overnight at San Diego and hop off at dawn Saturday for San Antonio, Tex.

He plans to make a dawn-to-dusk flight from Rio Grande, Tex., to the Panama canal zone in the single-seated speeder.

Captain Eaker left Los Angeles late yesterday and was to have gone direct to Rockwell field but landed here instead to visit friends.

ALL STOCKS BOOMED IN BULL RUSH

TICKERS RUN LATE

Over 4,000,000 Shares Sold By 2 o'Clock and Orders Are Still Coming

NEW YORK, March 1.—(UP)—America from San Francisco to New York and from the tip of Florida to Maine was represented in the stock market today in a Hoover demonstration seldom rivaled in the annuals of the stock exchange.

Millions in wealth were thrown into the buying side and such representative shares as United States Steel, Radio corporation, American Can, Bethlehem Steel, practically all of the coppers, many rails and a long list of other stocks made new highs for the year or longer.

Advances ranged from one point to a maximum of 25 in the case of Adams Express. Radio late in the afternoon was up nearly 17 points, Wright Aero 4, Baltimore & Ohio 7, General Electric 4, and others one to five points.

Call money ruled at 8 per cent an easement that more than o[illegible] set any ill effects from an increase of $30,000,000 in brokerage loans announced after yesterday's vclose.

"Buy one hundred at the market" was a tame order today. Sales at the opening, among the largest in history, showed on the ticker in lots ranging from 1,000 to 35,000 shares.

Sales in the first half hour were at the rate of 12,000,000 for a five hour day. By 2 p.m. the 4,000,000 share mark had been reached and the market was on its way toward the 6,000,000 level in the last hour. Tickers were swamped, running more than a half hour late much of the day.

John J. Rascob, former chairman of the finance committee of General Motors and now chairman of the Democratic national committee, was reported a heavy buy-

Branch distributing warehouses are maintained at San Jose, Monterey, San Luis Obispo, Santa Barbara and Ventura.

TRADE-MARK BILL BATTLE INDICATED

SACRAMENTO, March 1.—(UP)—California's long-expected "battle of the century" today threatened to break out on the floor of the state assembly.

The Bernard bill, proposing a state trade-mark for all California products, failed to receive a favorable vote in assembly committee on governmental efficiency and economy at a public hearing last night.

As a result, Bernard announced that he may carry the fight to the floor of the ouse. He will first attempt, however, to have the bill reconsidered when a full committee is present. Only nine of the 11 members were present at last night's hearing.

Simon J. Lubin, president [illegible] the Sacramento region citiz[illegible] council, sponsors of the me[illegible] presented the argument in [illegible] of it. He was assisted by [illegible] Hopkins, director of promo[illegible] the council.

The explosion was due to a fire aboard the steamer. Most of her crew was saved, as they were enabled to put off in lifeboats just before the explosion.

CATHOLIC HISTORY RECITED AT TRIAL

LOS ANGELES, March 1.—(UP)—Excerpts from several volumes dealing with the history of the Roman Catholic church during the Spanish inquisition were read by the defense today in the trial of Rev. R. P. "Fighting Bob" Shuler on charges of criminally libeling the fourth degree, Knights of Columbus.

Dr. Frank W. Pittman, professor of history at Pomona college, testified that the works of Henry Charles Lea, which were offered in evidence, were recognized as the most authentic concerning the Catholic church during the middle ages.

Dr. Pittman gave numerous dates of birthplaces and deaths of historians he mentioned as if he were conducting a class in history.

LAST MEETING OF COOLIDGE'S CABINET HELD

Only Two Members Will Hold Over—Farewells Said By Many

By LAWRENCE SULLIVAN
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, March 1.—(UP)—With two business days remaining before he turns over the reins of government to Herbert Hoover, President Coolidge virtually finished his administration with the final cabinet meeting today.

It was mostly a meeting of farewells and good wishes, for there was little business to demand the ttention of the last gathering of the Coolidge official family.

The spacious and richly furnished cabinet room, immediately to the left of the president's private office, provided an uncommonly austere setting this morning, for it has been nearly stripped of wall decorations. Several of the chairs of the retiring members have been removed and three new ones of the same pattern await their first occupants.

Of the ten men who make up the cabinet today, only two—Secretary of Treasury Mellon and Secretary of Labor Davis—took office eight years ago with Mr. Coolidge at the beginning of the Harding administration. By a trick of political circumstance, they are the only two members of the Coolidge cabinet who appear assured of places in the Hoover administration.

Two of the nation's elder statesmen probably end their public careers with today's meeting. Secretary of State Kellogg soon will return to Minnesota to resume practice of law.

Postmaster General New, likewise one of the seniors of the Coolidge cabinet, looks forward to a period of retirement on his Virginia estate, not far from the capital. Even should he accept a business connection later, it will be one involving activities in Washington rather than in Indiana, the state in which he wrought his political career.

Secretary of Commerce Whiting and Attorney General Sargent, both close personal friends of President Coolidge, plan to return immediately to their New England homes, the former in Holyoke, Mass., and the latter in Ludlow, Vermont.

Secretary of Agriculture Jardine, whose policies frequently were the storm centers of the administration during the trying times of agriculture's post-war distress, plans to remain in Washington as director of a newly organized cooperative fruit marketing enterprise.

Secretary of the Navy Wilbur, who left the California supreme court to enter the cabinet, has been mentioned as a likely appointee to the federal circuit court in the recently created ninth district.

Secretary of the Interior West, who succeeded to the post of Chairman Hubert Work of the Republican national committee last July, when work undertook direction of the Hoover campaign, is planning to return to Chicago to resume his law practice.

Secretary of War Davis will return to his St. Louis home, but has not announced his plans.

Friends Aver Wedding May Be Surprise

Lone Eagle Will Spend His Week-end at Cuernavaca It Is Revealed

MEXICO CITY, March 1.—(UP)—The wedding of Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh and Miss Anne Spencer Morrow before the flier returns to the United States from his present trip to Mexico is regarded as highly probable.

Lindbergh's coming trip for the week-end to Cuernavaca with United States Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow and his family led to renewed discussion of a possible quiet wedding at the Morrow country retreat.

Any clew from the Morrow family, however, was conspicuously absent. Lindbergh and his fiancee took refuge constantly behind their phrase:

"I have nothing to say."

Friends of the family, nevertheless, said they would not be surprised if the wedding occurred without warning.

Lindbergh was understood to be ready for the ceremony at any time, and it was assumed that the decision rested with the family of the bride-to-be.

The capital was loud in its praise of both the flier and Miss Morrow for their pluck and coolness in going for a flight again so soon after the crash of Wednesday, in which they were lucky to escape with their lives.

Lindbergh, with his arm still in a sling to east the shoulder which was dislocated when their plane overturned with a missing wheel, took Miss Morrow up yesterday for an air trip over Valbuena field.

He piloted with his left hand and showed the aviation skill for which he is famous by his easy handling of the plane, swooping down from the air, taxiing along the field twice and rising again with ease.. Aviators at the field said it was an extraordinary exhibition.

The purpose of the demonstration was two-fold. First, it is a rule of the air service for a flier to go up again immediately after a crash to discipline his nerves, and Lindbergh is a rigid observer of all air rules. Secondly, one of Lindbergh's chief aims has been to show the public that aviation is safe, and the flight with his fiancee was intended to demonstrate that Wednesday's mishap had not caused them to lose confidence in airplanes.

MARSHAL FOCH'S CONDITION BETTER

PARIS, March 1.—(UP)—Marshal Ferdinand Foch showed further improvement today. A bulletin issued by his doctors said:

"The temperature is 37.1 (98.78 Fahrenheit) and the pulse 84. The pulmonary congestion is subsiding and the patient passed a good night. He is now taking food."

C. C. LANGLEY COMPLETES 30 YEARS ON LOCAL P. O. STAFF

By ELEANOR YOUNG ELLIOTT

March 1, 1929, coming in like the proverbial lamb, brought a "special delivery" package of congratulatory wishes today to the Santa Ana post office, where C. C. ("Cliff") Langley, foreman of carriers, celebrated his thirtieth consecutive year of service in the local office, and at the same time recalled the fact that just 30 years ago today, the city mail delivery service was instituted, when he shouldered the first leather mail satchel, and started out to deliver letters in the business district.

Pausing this morning in his rush of duties, the veteran post office employe, second oldest in point of service on the present staff, recounted stirring details of that day in 1899, packing boxes. The letter stacks with their pigeon holes, did not come until later, when the post office stepped from third to second class, by the institution of free delivery.

"T. J. Alexander was postmaster at that time," he recalled, "Santa Ana had a population of about 5500, and for two successive years the office had done a $10,000 business, entitling it to a second class rating with the privilege of city delivery service. I came into the office that morning as a green youth with no precedent to guide me in the matter of mail delivery. None of our equipment had come and there were no arrangements for taking care of the mail and sorting it ready for the carriers, beyond piling it into big

By HOMER L. ROBERTS
United Press Staff Correspondent

SACRAMENTO, March 1.—Governor Young does not plan to appoint a superior judge to act in place of Judge Carlos Hardy during his impeachment trial beginning March 18, unless specifically ordered by Attorney General U. S. Webb.

This became evident at the executive offices today, where it was announced that an opinion from the attorney general would decide the governor's power in the matter.

Impeachment proceedings against the Los Angeles judge for giving legal advice and accepting a $2500 check from Aimee Semple McPherson, were completed late yesterday before the senate.

Immediately after the vote, the governor was notified of the action and the assembly board of managers declared that Judge Hardy was automatically suspended from office under the penal code.

Little precedent was found in the state law to guide the governor in his actions. The legislative counsel bureau, however, expressed doubt that the executive should appoint a temporary judge, for the following reasons:

1. That in the impeachment of Judge James H. Hardy in 1862, for giving a toast to Jeff Davis and the southern confederacy, Governor Leland Stanford did not appoint a judge to the position during trial, and not until a final verdict was reached.

2. That "serious doubt" exists as to the power of the state legislature by statute to suspend an official whose term is fixed by consitution.

3. That in case the office is held to be vacant, by creation of the state judicial council, whose power is to assign judges to fill vacancies, that body may well succeed to the duties conferred upon the governor by the penal code.

Upon advice of Attorney General Webb, Lieutenant Governor H. L. Carnahan last night sent a telegram to Judge Hardy informally telling him of the senate's action, and requesting him to appear at the bar of the senate to answer the charges at 11 a. m. March 18.

Judge Hardy's first and probably best opportunity to end the case against him is in his motion for demurrer, which he may file, either in person or by attorney, within 10 days after the impeachment papers are formally served upon him.

Only a majority vote is required to sustain this demurrer in the senate, which would have the effect of immediately terminating the proceedings. A two-thirds vote of the senate is required to convict the accused judge, and if he is found giulty of any one of the five articles of impeachment, he may be suspended from office. A diary, alleged to have been written by Mrs. Lorraine Wiseman-Seilaff, sister of Mrs Virla Kimball, the mysterious "Miss X" in the famous Aimee Semple McPherson kidnaping story, was presented to the assembly prosecutors yesterday by Assemblyman Melvin I. Cronin of San Francisco.

Cronin expressed doubt as to its authenticity. The diary consisted of a school composition book, written in pencil with frequent erasures of notations concerning alleged conversations wih Mrs. McPherson. Several pages had been torn out, and members of the committee said that unless Mrs. Sielaff could be found to corroborate the information it purported to disclose the diary was worthless.

7 KILLED, 8 HURT AS TANK EXPLODES

ATLANTA, Ga., March 1.—(UP)—An investigation was underway today to determine responsibility for the explosion of a compressed air tank at Stone Mountain, which resulted in the death of seven men and serious injury to eight others. Three of the injured are not expected to recover.

It is believed a workman neglected to turn a petcock which connected an air pump with the tank. The safety valve on the tank evidently failed to work, the instrument filling and bursting with a roar and detonation which shook the entire neighborhood.

Three of the men killed were white men. They were: C. C. Davis, foreman; O. S. Cowan and John Galze.

KIDNAPING OF AIMEE UNTRUE IS INFERENCE

Story Discounted In Article of Impeachment of Judge Hardy

SACRAMENTO, March 1.—(UP)—An inference that the kidnaping story of Mrs. Aimee Semple McPherson, titian haired evangelist, is untrue is contained in impeachment charges against Judge Carlos S. Hardy, who conducted the inquiry into her disappearance in 1926.

One charge against Hardy, who was notified of his impeachment yesterday, declared he attempted to conduct the investigation favorably for Mrs. McPherson, "even though he received information to the contrary before the hearing."

Date for Hardy's trial was set at March 18.

Mrs. McPherson, in 1926, disappeared and reappeared at Douglas, Ariz., and told of having been held captive by "Steve and Rosie." She has asserted several times since then that "that's my story and I'll stick to it."

The judge is accused in five articles, one of which deals also with his conduct of the trial of William Edward Hickman for kidnapping and murder. The jurist is declared to have made a "vaudeville show" of the trial.

The second article of the impeachment indictment contended "that within a few days subsequent to the reappearance, Judge Hardy received reliable information that Mrs. McPherson had not been kidnaped or held for ransom but that notwithstanding his knowledge of the facts he conducted the investigation and attempted to direct the action of the investigating grand jury favorably to Mrs. McPherson's claim that she had been "kidnaped."

Other allegations "upon which the assembly is ready to offer proof" follow:

"Between Feb. 1, 1923 and April 1, 1927, Judge Hardy furnished legal counsel and services to Mrs. McPherson and her mother, Mrs. Minnie Kennedy.

"During the time Mrs. McPherson disappeared and reappeared, claim-

COOLIDGE TO OPEN $7,500,000 BRIDGE

SAN MATEO, Calif., March 1.—(UP)—As one of his last official acts, President Coolidge tomorrow will press a button in Washington and flash the signal that will open the world's longest highway bridge.

The span, christened the San Francisco bay bridge and connecting the San Francisco peninsula with the mainland near Hayward, is 7.1 miles long and has been constructed at a cost of $7,500,000.

It was built to relieve the congestion of traffic between San Francisco and Alameda county and from the Sacramento valley through Dublin canyon, connecting with the Lincoln highway.

Eaker Stops At March Field On Way To San Diego

RIVERSIDE, March 1.—(UP)—Capt. Ira Eaker announced that he would leave March field at 2:30 p. m., today, in his Boeing speed plane for San Diego.

The former pilot of the army endurance plane Question Mark said he would remain overnight at San Diego and hop off at dawn Saturday for San Antonio, Tex.

He plans to make a dawn-to-dusk flight from Rio Grande, Tex., to the Panama canal zone in the single-seated speeder.

ALL STOCKS BOOMED IN BULL RUSH

TICKERS RUN LATE

Over 4,000,000 Shares Sold By 2 o'Clock and Orders Are Still Coming

NEW YORK, March 1.—(UP)—America from San Francisco to New York and from the tip of Florida to Maine was represented in the stock market today in a Hoover demonstration seldom rivaled in the annuals of the stock exchange.

Millions in wealth were thrown into the buying side and such representative shares as United States Steel, Radio corporation, American Can, Bethlehem Steel, practically all of the coppers, many rails and a long list of other stocks made new highs for the year or longer.

Advances ranged from one point to a maximum of 25 in the case of Adams Express. Radio late in the afternoon was up nearly 17 points, Wright Aero 4, Baltimore & Ohio 7, General Electric 4, and others one to five points.

Call money ruled at 8 per cent, an easement that more than offset any ill effects from an increase of $30,000,000 in brokerage loans announced after yesterday's close.

"Buy one hundred at the market" was a tame order today. Sales at the opening, among the largest in history, showed on the ticker in lots ranging from 1,000 to 35,000 shares.

Sales in the first half hour were at the rate of 12,000,000 for a five hour day. By 2 p.m. the 4,000,000 share mark had been reached and the market was on its way toward the 6,000,000 level in the last hour. Tickers were swamped, running more than a half hour late much of the day.

John J. Rascob, former chairman of the finance committee of General Motors and now chairman of the Democratic national committee, was reported a heavy buy-

$2,000,000 GROCERY CONCERN ORGANIZED

WATSONVILLE, March 1.—(UP)—A $2,000,000 wholesale [illegible] firm, dominating the trade [illegible] San Francisco and Los A[illegible] was in existence here today, developed in seven years from a "shoestring."

Announcement was made by Jean Julliard, president, and Walter E. Cockroft, vice president, of the Julliard-Cockroft corporation of the merger and purchase by the $1,250,000 concern of the $500,000 E. H. Ranzel company of San Jose, and the purchase by the Julliard-Cockroft company, a subsidiary, of the $250,000 Keystone company, San Jose.

Branch distributing warehouses are maintained at San Jose, Monterey, San Luis Obispo, Santa Barbara and Ventura.

TRADE-MARK BILL BATTLE INDICATED

SACRAMENTO, March 1.—(UP)—California's long-expected "battle of the century" today threatened to break out on the floor of the state assembly.

The Bernard bill, proposing a state trade-mark for all California products, failed to receive a favorable vote in assembly committee on governmental efficiency and economy at a public hearing last night.

As a result, Bernard announced that he may carry the fight to the floor of the house. He will first attempt, however, to have the bill reconsidered when a full committee is present. Only nine of the 11 members were present at last night's hearing.

Simon J. Lubin, president of the Sacramento region citizens council, sponsors of the measure presented the argument in favor of it. He was assisted by [illegible] Hopkins, director of promotion the council.

321 Get Nomination Votes In Chamber Director Race

15 HIGHEST ARE SELECTED FOR FINAL ELECTION

Nominations for directors for the chamber of commerce numbered 321, a check of votes received on nominations revealed today, according to Secretary George Raymer. Each member was permitted to nominate.

The 15 men receiving the highest number of votes were selected and it is from this number that five members of the board will be chosen. Following is the list of nominees:

J. Frank Burke, Virgil Clem, Fred Crowell, B. V. Curry, Dr. Charles V. Doty, Clyde C. Downing, Bob Fernandez, Fred Forgy, Allison Honer, M. C. Maloney, A. B. Rousselle, C. E. Rutledge, Ridley Smith, W. H. Spurgeon and Ernest Winbigler.

Burke, Downing, Forgy and Spurgeon are members of the present board.

Members may cast ballots from 9 a. m., to 5 p. m., in the chamber of commerce office, on Tuesday, March 5.

NOT CANDIDATE

LOS ANGELES, March 1.—(UP)—Mayor George E. Cryer, for eight years head of the city administration of Los Angeles, will not be a candidate for re-election at the May primary, he announced today. Cryer's term expires in June.

ing she had been kidnaped, Judge Hardy acted as attorney for Mrs. McPherson and her mother in connection with the investigation.

"On Aug. 12, 1926, Judge Hardy received from Mesdames Kennedy and McPherson a check for $2,500.

"Conversations with Wallace Moore (Santa Barbara newspaperman) who partially identified a woman in an automobile with Kenneth G. Ormiston, Angelus Temple radio operator, as Mrs. McPherson were intended by Judge Hardy to intimidate Moore as a witness who might be called in the state's case pending against Mrs. McPherson."

The fifth article dealing with the Hickman trial, said:

"The judge had seats provided for the spectators to be numbered and tickets printed with corresponding numbers and dated for various days during which it was contemplated the Hickman case would be on trial. He caused and permitted these tickets to be distributed to his wife and his wife's friends to the end that no persons except those with tickets would be admitted to the courtroom during the trial, contrary to provisions of the United States and state constitutions."

C. C. LANGLEY COMPLETES 30 YEARS ON LOCAL P. O. STAFF

Seven In Office

"There were seven of us in the office, T. J. Alexander, the postmaster, and his son, James Alexander, as assistant post master; Miss Ida Cogswell and Ford Knowles, clerks, and three carriers, Charles F. Schmidt, Alvi R. Stedman and myself. Alexander, who today serves as assistant post master, as he did for his father, is my superior in service by two months, having entered on his duties on Jan. 1, 1899. That makes him the oldest employe in point of actual service, in ahe office.

Miss Cogswell, later Mrs. Ida Birt, and Charles Schmidt are both dead, the latter passing after only two or three years in the service. Stedman is now secretary of a water company in Fresno where for several years, he was connected with the raisin association. Knowles is living in Phoenix.

"Mail delivery was far different from what it is today," Langley continued. "I had the business district extending as far north as Washington avenue, west to Ross street, east to French street and with little need for services south of Fourth street. Duties were light in the other sections, for there were no business houses north of Fifth street although the territory included as far north as Washington avenue. The other two carriers used ponies and little carts for delivering their mail.

"For the first few days we had little organization. When the mail accumulated, we delivered it, with no set time. Our biggest mail came in at 11 a. m. by Southern Pacific with E. B. Norman as the railroad post office clerk. Norman has been out of the service for a number of years, and is living in Monrovia. He left Santa Ana daily at 7 a. m. with the out-going mail, returning at 11 to leave again at 2 p. m. and return at 6. When the 11 a. m. and 6 p. m. mails came in, the office was closed until it was sorted, while the eager townspeople gathered to wait for their letters.

On Fourth Street

"At that time the office was located on West Fourth street at somewhere near the point where the new Santa Ana Book store now stands. The present Spurgeon building was not erected of course, but it was on Spurgeon property. Later it moved to the rooms occupied by the New York store in more recent years and the arch above the entrance to this store, still bears the words 'Post Office.' In the 30 years of my service, the office has never been located elsewhere than in this one block, although back in the '80's, when the late C. E. French was past master, there were four years when it was located on East Fourth street near Main, in the French building."

Langley compared the seven men of the staff when he entered the office, with the present day staff under Terry E. Stephenson, post master, which includes James Alexander, assistant; L. F. Harvey, superintendent of the mails; himself as foreman of carriers; 17 clerks, 23 city carriers, five rural carriers, a special delivery clerk, nine substitutes always on call, and a janitor.

Other comparisons were even more illuminating in their indications of change. "I started in at $50 a month—$600 a year, and thought I was making pretty good money," he said. "But my grocery bill ran about $8 a month, two dollars and a half bought the best pair of shoes in town, and my full uniform of coat, vest, trousers and cap, cost $13. Today we pay $35 for the same uniform. My house rent was $8 a month, and I was offered the house and lot, the latter with a 50-foot frontage on Tenth street, and an adjoining property with the same frontage and a house exactly like the one I was living in, for $900. Property all along French street was selling for $8 a front foot. In 1902 when L. F. Harvey and I bought the properties where we now live at 806 and 802 Lacy streets, we got the two lots with their houses for $3300."

Four Postmasters

There have been but four men in the post mastership in the 30 years of Langley's service, T. J. Alexander, Lynn Shaw, Charles D. Overshiner, and the present incumbent, Terry E. Stephenson. Shaw served three terms, lacking just one month of having 13 years in office. Through the greater part of this time James Alexander has served as assistant post master except for an interval during Shaw's years in office, when Alvi R. Stedman and Elmer Crawford each served in that capacity at different times. Crawford is now living in Laguna Beach, after having resigned as an executive with the First National bank.

Earlier history of the post office and its heads, is interwoven with the history of the growth of Santa Ana. Following C. E. French, one of the earlier of the post masters, was Walter Tedford, now vice president of the Farmers and Merchants bank. John T. Nourse who has retired and is living in the Bay district, was his successor, to give place himself to Henry Peabody and then Alexander.

Nourse was one of the prominent men of the community in his day. Of his family, one son is Judge Nourse of the appellate court, another, "Jim" Nourse, is editor of the San Francisco Examiner. Bayard Nourse is in the insurance business in the same city, and Roy Nourse, former principal of Lowell high school in San Francisco, is now one of the city school supervisors. The only daughter, Mrs. Sadie Nourse Welborn, it will be rtmembered, was in the missionary field in India, but died a few years ago shortly after a visit here in her old home.

er in Anaconda. That stock was taken in large blocks by sojourners in Florida.

Wires from every principal center in the country carried orders.

Toward the close further profittaking was in evidence, but it was easily absorbed and the list displayed the most buoyant tone since the federal reserce warning to curb speculation. In point of volume and price advance, today's market was one of the largest in stick exchange history.

As the market gained in breadth and strength, predictions were heard that this was the beginning of a Hoover boom which would extend far beyond the scope of the most active days of the Coolidge bull movement.

This was the much heralded "Hoover inaugural boom" market. The new president will take over the highest office in the land Monday. Tt that time, he is expected to deliver a "bullish" inauguration speech. Brokers today issued special letters on the expectation of this event, and they indicated the market would respond readily.

Aside from a rise in domestic copper to 19½ cents a pound the highest price since 1919 when it was 22½ cents a pound the overnight news was not of a caliber to induce such wild buying. Brokerage loans increased $30,000,000. a trible to be sure, but coming as it did when the federal reserve board was trying to curb speculation and reduce the loan figure an ordinary market would have declined.

SOVIET SIGNS FOR LONDON OIL SALE

MOSCOW, March 1.—(UP)—The government announced today that a three-year contract had been signed in London with the Anglo-American Oil company, under which the Soviet oil trust would sell about 1,000,000 tons of oil annually in the English market.

The contract also provides for the sale of considerable amounts of oil products to the English combine to which the Anglo-American company belongs and in which Sir Henri Deterding is a leading figure.

SOUTH IGNORED BY HOOVER IN NEXT CABINET

Labor, with which the brotherhoods are not affiliated, and even by some from the brotherhood ranks, it is learned, and Mr. Hoover decided to retain Secretary Davis until he can select a permanent labor department head.

As might be expected, he worked with an undercurrent of opposition stirring as soon as word leaked out certain men were being considered. Information that William D. Mitchell, solicitor general, had been offered the attorney generalship immediatelty stirred up the memory of some to recall that Mitchell is generally regarded as a Democrat. The selection of Walter F. Brown, of Toledo, Ohio, and James W. Good, former Iowa congressman, brought talk these were "political" selections.

Mr. Hoover is sensitive, and these days, with such worries have tried him.

The information from close associates that the secretary of agriculture and the secretary of commerce in the new cabinet will be "surprises" spread confusion among the ranks of the speculators here, and these ranks are well-filled.

WILL SUPPORT MAJORITY PLAN UP TO MILLION

sons utilized the entrance channel in getting in and out of the harbor on pleasure and fishing craft.

Pointing out that harbor bonds of $500,000, voted by the county originally, had been reduced to an outstanding obligation of $340,000 now, with a principal and interest payment of approximately $37,000 for this year, Wallace said that the $500,000 invested in the harbor by the county was costing the county nothing, for advances in the assessed value of property in the district had increased to the point where the tax rate on the increase was more than offsetting the bond charges.

He quoted assessed valuations of districts in the county for1918-19 and 1927-28 and gave percentage figures that revealed that in the 10-year period assessed values in the harbor district had increased 500 per cent. He recited percentage increases in other districts, as follows:

Villa Park, 250; Orangethorpe, 20; Placentia, 35; Garden Grove, 280; Olive, 235; Orange, 123.

He pointed out that the harbor district in 1918-19 paid $21,190 in taxes and $133,819 in 1927-28.

J .A. Armitage, of Sunset Beach, resented intimations tha tif flood control was not made operative beach people would be drinking salt water in time and virtually made the only threat of the evening.

Appeals For Fair Deal

Appealing for what he termed a fair deal with reference to the harbor measure, and pointing out that he had for years been giving his time and influence to projects of county-wide interest, Armitage declared that if indorsement were not given the harbor bill with the majority vote regulation, he "was through." He said that the cry had been made that a harbor at Newport could not be made a successful project because of its proximity to San Pedro, and pointed out that Long Beach, adjoining the San Pedro harbor, now is engaged in building a port.

O. T. Stephens, of La Habra, declared that Newport should have the right to call a bond election before flood control bonds are voted if it wanted to and it was on his motion thta the reservation in the Johnson resolution was stricken out.

Ralph McFadden, of Placentia, declared that he was in favor of harbor bonds but that he was opposed to the straight majority provision. He added the suggestion that $1,000,000 be added to whatever amount may be asked for the flood control program and he sum given over o harbor improvement.

In response to a query, Willard Smith, chairman of the board of supervisors, said it was possible that a flood control bond election might be called in July or August, depending on when the final report of consulting engineers is submitted to the board. It was indicated that the report might be made by he middle of March.

Following this statement, it was pointed out by Wallace that it would be possible to get to a vote on harbor bonds by that time and he declared that it might be two years before any attempt would be made to have the supervisors call such an election. He adde dthat "it might take a much longer time to convince the supervisors that a harbor bond election should be called."

15 HIGHEST ARE SELECTED FOR FINAL ELECTION

Nominations for directors for the chamber of commerce numbered 321, a check of votes received on nominations revealed today, according to Secretary George Raymer. Each member was permitted to nominate.

The 15 men receiving the highest number of votes were selected and it is from this number that five members of the board will be chosen. Following is the list of nominees:

J. Frank Burke, Virgil Clem, Fred Crowell, B. V. Curry, Dr. Charles V. Doty, Clyde C. Downing, Bob Fernandez, Fred Forgy, Allison Honer, M. C. Maloney, A. B. Rousselle, C. E. Rutledge, Ridley Smith, W. H. Spurgeon and Ernest Winbigler.

Burke, Downing, Forgy and Spurgeon are members of the present board.

Members may cast ballots from 9 a. m., to 5 p. m. in the chamber of commerce office on Tuesday, March 5.

NOT CANDIDATE

LOS ANGELES, March 1.—(UP)—Mayor George E. Cryer, for eight years head of the city administration of Los Angeles, will not be a candidate for re-election at the May primary, he announced today. Cryer's term expires in June.

ing she had been kidnaped, Judge Hardy acted as attorney for Mrs. McPherson and her mother in connection with the investigation.

"On Aug. 12, 1926, Judge Hardy received from Mesdames Kennedy and McPherson a check for $2,500.

"Conversations with Wallace Moore (Santa Barbara newspaperman) who partially identified a woman in an automobile with Kenneth G. Ormiston, Angelus Temple radio operator, as Mrs. McPherson were intended by Judge Hardy to intimidate Moore as a witness who might be called in the state's case pending against Mrs. McPherson."

The fifth article dealing with the Hickman trial, said:

"The judge had seats provided for the spectators to be numbered and tickets printed with corresponding numbers and dated for various days during which it was contemplated the Hickman case would be on trial. He caused and permitted these tickets to be distributed to his wife and his wife's friends to the end that no persons except those with tickets would be admitted to the courtroom during the trial, contrary to provisions of the United States and state constitutions."

C. C. LANGLEY COMPLETES 30 YEARS ON LOCAL P. O. STAFF

Seven In Office

"There were seven of us in the office, T. J. Alexander, the postmaster, and his son, James Alexander, as assistant post master; Miss Ida Cogswell and Ford Knowles, clerks, and three carriers, Charles F. Schmidt, Alvi R. Stedman and myself. Alexander, who today serves as assistant post master, as he did for his father, is my superior in service by two months, having entered on his duties on Jan. 1, 1899. That makes him the oldest employe in point of actual service, in ahe office.

Miss Cogswell, later Mrs. Ida Birt, and Charles Schmidt are both dead, the latter passing after only two or three years in the service. Stedman is now secretary of a water company in Fresno where for several years, he was connected with the raisin association. Knowles is living in Phoenix.

"Mail delivery was far different from what it is today," Langley continued. "I had the business district extending as far north as Washington avenue, west to Ross street, east to French street and with little need for services south of Fourth street. Duties were light in the other sections, for there were no business houses north of Fifth street although the territory included as far north as Washington avenue. The other two carriers used ponies and little carts for delivering their mail.

"For the first few days we had little organization. When the mail accumulated, we delivered it, with no set time. Our biggest mail came in at 11 a. m. by Southern Pacific with E. B. Norman as the railroad post office clerk. Norman has been out of the service for a number of years, and is living in Monrovia. He left Santa Ana daily at 7 a. m. with the out-going mail, returning at 11 to leave again at 2 p. m. and return at 6. When the 11 a. m. and 6 p. m. mails came in, the office was closed until it was sorted, while the eager townspeople gathered to wait for their letters.

On Fourth Street

"At that time the office was located on West Fourth street at somewhere near the point where the new Santa Ana Book store now stands. The present Spurgeon building was not erected of course, but it was on Spurgeon property. Later it moved to the rooms occupied by the New York store in more recent years and the arch above the entrance to this store, still bears the words 'Post Office.' In the 30 years of my service, the office has never been located elsewhere than in this one block, although back in the '80's, when the late C. E. French was past master, there were four years when it was located on East Fourth street near Main, in the French building."

Langley compared the seven men of the staff when he entered the office, with the present day staff under Terry E. Stephenson, post master, which includes James Alexander, assistant; L. F. Harvey, superintendent of the mails; himself as foreman of carriers; 17 clerks, 23 city carriers, five rural carriers, a special delivery clerk, nine substitutes always on call, and a janitor.

Other comparisons were even more illuminating in their indications of change. "I started in at $50 a month—$600 a year, and thought I was making pretty good money," he said. "But my grocery bill ran about $8 a month, two dollars and a half bought the best pair of shoes in town, and my full uniform of coat, vest, trousers and cap, cost $13. Today we pay $35 for the same uniform. My house rent was $8 a month, and I was offered the house and lot, the latter with a 50-foot frontage on Tenth street, and an adjoining property with the same frontage and a house exactly like the one I was living in, for $900. Property all along French street was selling for $8 a front foot. In 1902 when L. F. Harvey and I bought the properties where we now live at 806 and 802 Lacy streets, we got the two lots with their houses for $3300."

Four Postmasters

There have been but four men in the post mastership in the 30 years of Langley's service, T. J. Alexander, Lynn Shaw, Charles D. Overshiner, and the present incumbent, Terry E. Stephenson. Shaw served three terms, lacking just one month of having 13 years in office. Through the greater part of this time James Alexander has served as assistant post master except for an interval during Shaw's years in office, when Alvi R. Stedman and Elmer Crawford each served in that capacity at different times. Crawford is now living in Laguna Beach, after having resigned as an executive with the First National bank.

Earlier history of the post office and its heads, is interwoven with the history of the growth of Santa Ana. Following C. E. French, one of the earlier of the post masters, was Walter Tedford, now vice president of the Farmers and Merchants bank. John T. Nourse who has retired and is living in the Bay district, was his successor, to give place himself to Henry Peabody and then Alexander.

Nourse was one of the prominent men of the community in his day. Of his family, one son is Judge Nourse of the appellate court, another, "Jim" Nourse, is editor of the San Francisco Examiner. Bayard Nourse is in the insurance business in the same city, and Roy Nourse, former principal of Lowell high school in San Francisco, is now one of the city school supervisors. The only daughter, Mrs. Sadie Nourse Welborn, it will be rtmembered, was in the missionary field in India, but died a few years ago shortly after a visit here in her old home.

STOCK MARKET RUNS RAMPANT IN NEW YORK

er in Anaconda. That stock was taken in large blocks by sojourners in Florida.

Wires from every principal center in the country carried orders.

Toward the close further profittaking was in evidence, but it was easily absorbed and the list displayed the most buoyant tone since the federal reserce warning to curb speculation. In point of volume and price advance, today's market was one of the largest in stick exchange history.

As the market gained in breadth and strength, predictions were heard that this was the beginning of a Hoover boom which would extend far beyond the scope of the most active days of the Coolidge bull movement.

This was the much heralded "Hoover inaugural boom" market. The new president will take over the highest office in the land Monday. Tt that time, he is expected to deliver a "bullish" inauguration speech. Brokers today issued special letters on the expectation of this event, and they indicated the market would respond readily.

Aside from a rise in domestic copper to 19½ cents a pound the highest price since 1919 when it was 22½ cents a pound the overnight news was not of a caliber to induce such wild buying. Brokerage loans increased $30,000,000. a trible to be sure, but coming as it did when the federal reserve board was trying to curb speculation and reduce the loan figure an ordinary market would have declined.

SOVIET SIGNS FOR LONDON OIL SALE

MOSCOW, March 1.—(UP)—The government announced today that a three-year contract had been signed in London with the Anglo-American Oil company, under which the Soviet oil trust would sell about 1,000,000 tons of oil annually in the English market.

The contract also provides for the sale of considerable amounts of oil products to the English combine to which the Anglo-American company belongs and in which Sir Henri Deterding is a leading figure.

SOUTH IGNORED BY HOOVER IN NEXT CABINET

Labor, with which the brotherhoods are not affiliated, and even by some from the brotherhood ranks, it is learned, and Mr. Hoover decided to retain Secretary Davis until he can select a permanent labor department head.

As might be expected, he worked with an undercurrent of opposition stirring as soon as word leaked out certain men were being considered. Information that William D. Mitchell, solicitor general, had been offered the attorney generalship immediatelty stirred up the memory of some to recall that Mitchell is generally regarded as a Democrat. The selection of Walter F. Brown, of Toledo, Ohio, and James W. Good, former Iowa congressman, brought talk these were "political" selections.

Mr. Hoover is sensitive, and these days, with such worries have tried him.

The information from close associates that the secretary of agriculture and the secretary of commerce in the new cabinet will be "surprises" spread confusion among the ranks of the speculators here, and these ranks are well-filled.

sons utilized the entrance channel in getting in and out of the harbor on pleasure and fishing craft.

Pointing out that harbor bonds of $500,000, voted by the county originally, had been reduced to an outstanding obligation of $340,000 now, with a principal and interest payment of approximately $37,000 for this year, Wallace said that the $500,000 invested in the harbor by the county was costing the county nothing, for advances in the assessed value of property in the district had increased to the point where the tax rate on the increase was more than offsetting the bond charges.

He quoted assessed valuations of districts in the county for1918-19 and 1927-28 and gave percentage figures that revealed that in the 10-year period assessed values in the harbor district had increased 500 per cent. He recited percentage increases in other districts, as follows:

Villa Park, 250; Orangethorpe, 20; Placentia, 35; Garden Grove, 280; Olive, 235; Orange, 123.

He pointed out that the harbor district in 1918-19 paid $21,190 in taxes and $133,819 in 1927-28.

J .A. Armitage, of Sunset Beach, resented intimations tha tif flood control was not made operative beach people would be drinking salt water in time and virtually made the only threat of the evening.

Appeals For Fair Deal

Appealing for what he termed a fair deal with reference to the harbor measure, and pointing out that he had for years been giving his time and influence to projects of county-wide interest, Armitage declared that if indorsement were not given the harbor bill with the majority vote regulation, he "was through." He said that the cry had been made that a harbor at Newport could not be made a successful project because of its proximity to San Pedro, and pointed out that Long Beach, adjoining the San Pedro harbor, now is engaged in building a port.

O. T. Stephens, of La Habra, declared that Newport should have the right to call a bond election before flood control bonds are voted if it wanted to and it was on his motion thta the reservation in the Johnson resolution was stricken out.

Ralph McFadden, of Placentia, declared that he was in favor of harbor bonds but that he was opposed to the straight majority provision. He added the suggestion that $1,000,000 be added to whatever amount may be asked for the flood control program and he sum given over o harbor improvement.

In response to a query, Willard Smith, chairman of the board of supervisors, said it was possible that a flood control bond election might be called in July or August, depending on when the final report of consulting engineers is submitted to the board. It was indicated that the report might be made by he middle of March.

Following this statement, it was pointed out by Wallace that it would be possible to get to a vote on harbor bonds by that time and he declared that it might be two years before any attempt would be made to have the supervisors call such an election. He adde dthat "it might take a much longer time to convince the supervisors that a harbor bond election should be called."

A WORD OF COMFORT

There is great comfort in unburdening your heart to an understanding person, and it is your rightful privilege to thus lean upon the love of a close friend.

But it is bad for you to so perpetually crave sympathy that you retail your sorrow to every patient passerby.

Does this sound harsh and unfeeling? Remember that there are pitfalls in every experience. If you are to become brave and strong you must gird up your loins and face your duties and try to spread sunshine, not shadows.

God knows your heart aches and He grieves with you, but He counts upon your being courageous for the sake of the one you love best.

INFORMATION IS SUBMITTED ON TWO LOCATIONS

Following presentation of plans for promoting a site in Brea as a dirigible base, by Walker Davis, the Associated Chamber of Commerce meeting in Costa Mesa, last night, voted indorsement of two sites in Orange county, the other being the tract of approximately 1000 acres on the Irvine ranch, submitted about a year ago.

Davis revealed that the Brea Chamber of Commerce had forwarded to Congressman Phil Swing a comprehensive report covering data of every available character essential to successful operation of an airship base at that point. The report reveals that Brea is 19 miles from Los Angeles, 98 miles from San Diego, 2? miles from San Pedro and 13 miles from the ocean.

The data included the information that the Union and other oil companies in that district have pledged themselves to supply 100 or more men to assist in anchoring a dirigible in cases of emergency. Necessary acreage also is available, the location being east of Brea.

Pointing out that Santa Ana more than a year ago submitted a definite site offer to the government, George Raymer, secretary of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, said that Los Angeles and San Pedro also were offering sites and that Oakland and San Francisco were in the fight.

WOMAN SEEKS PROBATION ON 'DOPE' CHARGE

Mrs. Anna Stambaugh, 111 French street, pleaded guilty today to a charge of forging the name of a Santa Ana doctor to prescriptions in order to secure morphine. She was arraigned on an information filed by Deputy District Attorney S. B. Kaufman in Superior Judge E. J. Marks' court.

Mrs. Stambaugh applied for probation and the court set 9:30 a. m., March 8, as the date for her hearing. She was arrested on February 11 by Robert Sandon, investigator for the district attorney's office, and R. H. Dundas, narcotic agent with the state board of pharmacy. Subsequently she was released on her own recognizance.

According to the arresting officers, Mrs. Stambaugh had been forging the name of Dr. W. E. Poole, 311 West Eighth street, to the prescriptions, which she had cashed in the Wingood drug store here.

Deaths

A WORD OF COMFORT

There is great comfort in unburdening your heart to an understanding person, and it is your rightful privilege to thus lean upon the love of a close friend.

But it is bad for you to so perpetually crave sympathy that you retail your sorrow to every patient passerby.

Does this sound harsh and untouching? Remember that there are pitfalls in every experience. If you are to become brave and strong you must gird up your loins and face your duties and try to spread sunshine, not shadows.

God knows your heart aches and He grieves with you, but He counts upon your being courageous for the sake of the one you love best.

TAYLOR — Armanda Terry Hallett Taylor, passed away February 28 at the age of 73 years. Announcement of services will be made later by the Winbigler Mission Funeral home. She is survived by her husband, William W. Taylor, and one daughter, Mrs. T. L. Elson, of Los Angeles.

GUTIERREZ—Rosie Gutierrez, age 4 years, passed away March 1, 1929. Announcement of services will be made later by the Winbigler Mission Funeral home.

SABILLA—In Santa Ana, March 1, 1929, Pablo Sabilla, age 38 years. Funeral services will be held Saturday, March 2, 1929, at 9 a. m., from Smith and Tuthill's chapel.

LUMLEY—At 1450 Maple avenue, February 28, 1929, Floyd E. Lumley, age 2 years, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Lumley. Funeral services will be held Saturday, March 2, at 2 p. m., from Smith and Tuthill's chapel. Interment Fairhaven cemetery. Rev. W. H. McPeak officiating.

INFORMATION IS SUBMITTED ON TWO LOCATIONS

Following presentation of plans for promoting a site in Brea as a dirigible base, by Walker Davis, the Associated Chamber of Commerce meeting in Costa Mesa, last night, voted indorsement of two sites in Orange county, the other being the tract of approximately 1000 acres on the Irvine ranch, submitted about a year ago.

Davis revealed that the Brea Chamber of Commerce had forwarded to Congressman Phil Swing a comprehensive report covering data of every available character essential to successful operation of an airship base at that point. The report reveals that Brea is 19 miles from Los Angeles, 98 miles from San Diego, 2[illegible] miles from San Pedro and 13 miles from the ocean.

The data included the information that the Union and other oil companies in that district have pledged themselves to supply 100 or more men to assist in anchoring a dirigible in cases of emergency. Necessary acreage also is available, the location being east of Brea.

Pointing out that Santa Ana more than a year ago submitted a definite site offer to the government, George Raymer, secretary of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, said that Los Angeles and San Pedro also were offering sites and that Oakland and San Francisco were in the fight.

WOMAN SEEKS PROBATION ON 'DOPE' CHARGE

Mrs. Anna Stambaugh, 111 French street, pleaded guilty today to a charge of forging the name of a Santa Ana doctor to prescriptions in order to secure morphine. She was arraigned on an information filed by Deputy District Attorney S. B. Kaufman in Superior Judge E. J. Marks' court.

Mrs. Stambaugh applied for probation and the court set 9:30 a. m., March 8, as the date for her hearing. She was arrested on February 11 by Robert Sandon, investigator for the district attorney's office, and R. H. Dundas, narcotic agent with the state board of pharmacy. Subsequently she was released on her own recognizance.

According to the arresting officers, Mrs. Stambaugh had been forging the name of Dr. W. E. Poole, 311 West Eighth street, to the prescriptions, which she had cashed in the Wingood drug store here.

WOMAN FOUND GUILTY BY JURY IN LIQUOR CASE

For the first time in the history of Santa Ana justice court, women served yesterday on a jury which after a verdict of guilty against Rosa Precidio, San Juan Capistrano woman, charged with possession of intoxicating liquor.

The woman was arrested several weeks ago in San Juan Capistrano by Joe Clever, state traffic officer, who is asserted to have found 20 pints of whiskey on her property.

The case was brought to Santa Ana for trial because Justice John Landell, of the Mission city, said that he had formed an opinion.

There were six women on the jury yesterday. The case went to the jury shortly after noon and a verdict was not reached until 7:15 p. m. The Precidio woman is scheduled to be sentenced by Justice Morrison at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning.

BURNS PROVE FATAL TO AGED S. A. RESIDENT

Mrs. Amanda Terry Hallett Taylor, 73, of 620 South Flower street, died in the Santa Ana Valley hospital at 11:40 last night of third degree burns received at 2 o'clock yesterday morning in her home when a candle she was holding ignited her night clothes.

She was badly burned about the face and hands.

Mrs. Taylor had arisen from bed to aid her invalid husband. She lighted a candle and was waiting on him when the candle set fire to her clothes. She and her husband beat out the flames and called a physician.

The body was removed to the Winbigler Mission Funeral home. Announcement regarding the services will be made tomorrow.

Besides her husband, Mrs. Taylor is survived by one daughter, Mrs. T. L. Elson, of Los Angeles. The family is well known in Santa Ana. The daughter, formerly Miss Hallie Taylor, was a teacher in the public schools here for several years.

PRISONER TAKEN TO PSYCHOPATHIC WARD

Arrested on the street yesterday afternoon on a charge of begging by Police Sgt. F. H. Barnard, John MacCallum, Pomona man, was taken to the county hospital from the jail last night when he is said to have become violently insane. MacCallum was butting his head against the iron bars of his cell when jailers decided to remove him to the psychopathic ward, they said.

GRANDMOTHER GIVEN CHILD OF DIVORCED PAIR

A spirited battle over the custody of Lila Lee Wiese, 3½-year-old daughter of Earl H. Wiese and Allie Lee Wiese, of Huntington Beach, had ended today. Superior Judge H. G. Ames, before whom the struggle for possession of the little girl was staged, awarded her to Mrs. Louise Wiese, of San Pedro, mother of the girl's father.

Wiese and his wife, from whom he was granted an interlocutory decree of divorce last October, were not regarded by the court as proper persons to care for the child. Neither was Mrs. E. R. Bradbury, mother-in-law of Wiese, who had brought the matter into court seeking custody of the infant. The original court order made no mention of the child's custody and the matter was reopened on Mrs. Bradbury's petition.

THREE YOUTHS ARRAIGNED ON RIOT CHARGES

Thre Long Beach youths, accused of "wrecking" the Sunset Barbecue stand, at Sunset Beach, in the early hours of yesterday morning, were arraigned in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court here yesterday afternoon on charges of participating in a riot.

The youths are Floyd Swoape, 19; Robert L. Swoape, 21, and Willie O'Brien, 19, all of whom are being held in the county jail. The complaint in the case lists the name of George Swoape, but he has not been arrested.

Officers were in a quandary yesterday as to what charge to bring against the youths in connection with the alleged breaking of several windows and doors in the cafe and fighting with the waiter and a customer. They contemplated charges of disorderly conduct, breach of the peace, fighting and drunkenness and finally settled on the charge of participating in a riot

The preliminary examination was set for 9 a. m., March 6, and bail of $500 was demanded in each case. The charge carries with it a penalty, if the youths are found guilty, of a year in jail or a fine of $2000 or both, Justice Morrison said.

ACCIDENT VERDICT RENDERED BY JURY

The accident which caused the death of Ralph Clark, 29, near Fullerton yesterday morning, was declared accidental by a coroner's jury last yesterday in Fullerton.

Funeral services have been arranged for Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock, with interment in Loma Vista cemetery. The body is at the McAulay and Suters parlors.

Clark, who lived near Fullerton, is survived by his widow, parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Clark, of Atwood; two brothers, Donald, of Escondido, and Earl, of Atwood, and a sister, Mrs. Wayne Conrad, of Fullerton.

The first telephone exchange in the state of Minnesota was established at St. Paul on February 14, 1879—just 50 years ago.

51 PRESENT AT 4-H CLUB MEET IN CAPISTRANO

Fifty-one 4-H agricultural club members and leaders gathered in the San Juan Capistrano Social hall last night for the regular monthly session of the council as guests of the San Juan Capistrano 4-H club. The main talk of the evening was given by Don Schurr, of Garden Grove, who addressed the gathering on the field of 4-H club activity.

The conclave was chiefly a get-acquainted affair, in which the recently organized San Juan Capistrano club established personal relations with the rest of the county clubs. Following the business session a series of games and contests was held. Arrangements were made for a club tour of Orange county and perhaps surrounding territory in the near future. The next council session will be on the last Friday in March, in the office of the farm advisor here.

Activities of 4-H club members will be stimulated here on Saturday, when boys who are conducting bee keeping projects will be guests of the bee keepers' department of the Orange County Farm bureau at their annual spring meeting. Next Tuesday, at 7 p. m., boys who are raising pigs as club projects will meet in the farm advisor's offices here for instruction and consultation on their projects.

Mrs. Bryant Will Play Hostess To Lemon Men's Club

Mrs. Susanna Bixby Bryant, whose magnificent estate overlooks the Santa Ana canyon above Olive, will be hostess to the Lemon Men's Club of Southern California on March 7. Members of the club will be luncheon guests and will be shown the botanical gardens, in which Mrs. Bryant plans to raise every native plant species in California. The Lemon Men's club is composed of 300 members, representing leaders in the Southern California citrus industry. The organization was established for promotion of knowledge and information in scientific citrus culture.

Police News

Joseph Frammosa, 45, and John Frammosa, 16, were arrested as vagrants here last night by Officer James Murray when he found them asleep in a box car. They were lodged in the county jail. Both are from Los Angeles.

Charged with overtime parking, J. W. Johnson and L. S. Leeson were fined $2 each in police court yesterday and Boyd Perelson, charged with parking his car between 2 and 5 a. m., on a city street, was fined $2.

Paul L. Sibrian, 110 North Garnsey street, charged with reckless driving, was fined $25 and given 10 days in the county jail and his operator's license was suspended for a period of 30 days in police court yesterday. Judge Talbott later suspended the jail sentence.

Kenneth Cairns, 17, of 310 Eighth street, Huntington Beach, was arrested there yesterday for probation officers here and is being held in the county jail. No charge has been placed against him.

Bud Finser, 23, Los Angeles salesman, was lodged in the county jail yesterday on a drunk charge. George Bartley, Orange deputy sheriff, made the arrest.

HIGH SCHOOL AND JAYSEE NOTES

All Santa Ana high school students who are taking a course in English were surprised yesterday with an hour's test in punctuation, grammar, sentence structure and capitalization. The test is sent out each year from the department of psychology of the Ohio State university to all high schools of the United States in order to ascertain the principal weakneses in English of high school students.

H Dean Campbell, of the School of Business Administration, branch of the University of Southern California, this afternoon spoke to the commercial teachers of the junior college and high school here on what the college is doing along the lines of commercial training.

All teachers and parents are invited to attend a lecture by Dr. Nadina Ravinoky, at 10 o'clock Saturday morning in courtroom 3, Hall of Records. The lecture is given under the auspices of the Orange County Tuberculosis association and the Orange County Health department, with the cooperation of the Santa Ana city schools.

Betty Maloney and Jerry Tannenbaum, seniors in the Santa Ana high school, were chosen as consels for the high school Latin club, succeeding Eugenia Gilbert and Harvey Anderson, who held the positions during the last semester, according to reports released today by Miss Josephine Arnoldy, club adviser. Maybell Ball was unanimously selected for the office of secretary, while Thomas Clark received the position of treasurer of the organization. Eugenia Gilbert was chosen cantator, or song leaders. Last semester's aediels were Halstead McCormac, Lillian Hurwitz, Marion Cruickshank and Betty Maloney.

Tryouts for the Santa Ana high school's third league debate of the year, to be held with the Woodrow Wilson high school, of Long Beach, will be held in the high school auditorium Monday afternoon, according to Jerry Tannenbaum, commissioner of forensics. The question for debate is, "Resolved: that the Mexican Immigration Problem Be Placed on the Same Basis as That of Northern Europe." C. C. Stewart, debating coach, will be in charge of the tryouts.

WOMAN FOUND GUILTY BY JURY IN LIQUOR CASE

For the first time in the history of Santa Ana justice court, women served yesterday on a jury which after a verdict of guilty against Rosa Precidio, San Juan Capistrano woman, charged with possession of intoxicating liquor.

The woman was arrested several weeks ago in San Juan Capistrano by Joe Clever, state traffic officer, who is asserted to have found 20 pints of whiskey on her property.

The case was brought to Santa Ana for trial because Justice John Landell, of the Mission city, said that he had formed an opinion.

There were six women on the jury yesterday. The case went to the jury shortly after noon and a verdict was not reached until 7:15 p. m. The Precidio woman is scheduled to be sentenced by Justice Morrison at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning.

BURNS PROVE FATAL TO AGED S. A. RESIDENT

Mrs. Amanda Terry Hallett Taylor, 73, of 620 South Flower street, died in the Santa Ana Valley hospital at 11:40 last night of third degree burns received at 2 o'clock yesterday morning in her home when a candle she was holding ignited her night clothes.

She was badly burned about the face and hands.

Mrs. Taylor had arisen from bed to aid her invalid husband. She lighted a candle and was waiting on him when the candle set fire to her clothes. She and her husband beat out the flames and called a physician.

The body was removed to the Winbigler Mission Funeral home. Announcement regarding the services will be made tomorrow.

Besides her husband, Mrs. Taylor is survived by one daughter, Mrs. T. L. Elson, of Los Angeles. The family is well known in Santa Ana. The daughter, formerly Miss Hallie Taylor, was a teacher in the public schools here for several years.

PRISONER TAKEN TO PSYCHOPATHIC WARD

Arrested on the street yesterday afternoon on a charge of begging by Police Sgt. F. H. Barnard, John MacCallum, Pomona man, was taken to the county hospital from the jail last night when he is said to have become violently insane. MacCallum was butting his head against the iron bars of his cell when jailers decided to remove him to the psychopathic ward, they said.

GRANDMOTHER GIVEN CHILD OF DIVORCED PAIR

A spirited battle over the custody of Lila Lee Wiese, 3½-year-old daughter of Earl H. Wiese and Allie Lee Wiese, of Huntington Beach, had ended today. Superior Judge H. G. Ames, before whom the struggle for possession of the little girl was staged, awarded her to Mrs. Louise Wiese, of San Pedro, mother of the girl's father.

Wiese and his wife, from whom he was granted an interlocutory decree of divorce last October, were not regarded by the court as proper persons to care for the child. Neither was Mrs. E. R. Bradbury, mother-in-law of Wiese, who had brought the matter into court seeking custody of the infant. The original court order made no mention of the child's custody and the matter was reopened on Mrs. Bradbury's petition.

THREE YOUTHS ARRAIGNED ON RIOT CHARGES

Thre Long Beach youths, accused of "wrecking" the Sunset Barbecue stand, at Sunset Beach, in the early hours of yesterday morning, were arraigned in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court here yesterday afternoon on charges of participating in a riot.

The youths are Floyd Swoape, 19; Robert L. Swoape, 21, and Willie O'Brien, 19, all of whom are being held in the county jail. The complaint in the case lists the name of George Swoape, but he has not been arrested.

Officers were in a quandary yesterday as to what charge to bring against the youths in connection with the alleged breaking of several windows and doors in the cafe and fighting with the waiter and a customer. They contemplated charges of disorderly conduct, breach of the peace, fighting and drunkenness and finally settled on the charge of participating in a riot

The preliminary examination was set for 9 a. m., March 6, and bail of $500 was demanded in each case. The charge carries with it a penalty, if the youths are found guilty, of a year in jail or a fine of $2000 or both, Justice Morrison said.

ACCIDENT VERDICT RENDERED BY JURY

The accident which caused the death of Ralph Clark, 29, near Fullerton yesterday morning, was declared accidental by a coroner's jury last yesterday in Fullerton.

Funeral services have been arranged for Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock, with interment in Loma Vista cemetery. The body is at the McAulay and Suters parlors.

Clark, who lived near Fullerton, is survived by his widow, parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Clark, of Atwood; two brothers, Donald, of Escondido, and Earl, of Atwood, and a sister, Mrs. Wayne Conrad, of Fullerton.

The first telephone exchange in the state of Minnesota was established at St. Paul on February 14, 1879—just 50 years ago.

51 PRESENT AT 4-H CLUB MEET IN CAPISTRANO

Fifty-one 4-H agricultural club members and leaders gathered in the San Juan Capistrano Social hall last night for the regular monthly session of the council as guests of the San Juan Capistrano 4-H club. The main talk of the evening was given by Don Schurr, of Garden Grove, who addressed the gathering on the field of 4-H club activity.

The conclave was chiefly a get-acquainted affair, in which the recently organized San Juan Capistrano club established personal relations with the rest of the county clubs. Following the business session a series of games and contests was held. Arrangements were made for a club tour of Orange county and perhaps surrounding territory in the near future. The next council session will be on the last Friday in March, in the office of the farm advisor here.

Activities of 4-H club members will be stimulated here on Saturday, when boys who are conducting bee keeping projects will be guests of the bee keepers' department of the Orange County Farm bureau at their annual spring meeting. Next Tuesday, at 7 p. m., boys who are raising pigs as club projects will meet in the farm advisor's offices here for instruction and consultation on their projects.

Mrs. Bryant Will Play Hostess To Lemon Men's Club

Mrs. Susanna Bixby Bryant, whose magnificent estate overlooks the Santa Ana canyon above Olive, will be hostess to the Lemon Men's Club of Southern California on March 7. Members of the club will be luncheon guests and will be shown the botanical gardens, in which Mrs. Bryant plans to raise every native plant species in California. The Lemon Men's club is composed of 300 members, representing leaders in the Southern California citrus industry. The organization was established for promotion of knowledge and information in scientific citrus culture.

MANY a man owes his daily fitness, his success, to the wife who sees that "he takes good care of himself." She watches that he gets enough sleep, takes enough time to eat. She acts as family physician with every meal she serves. And often as not, Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is her trusted ally.

For this healthful cereal has been adopted by countless women as the surest, easiest way to insure plenty of daily roughage, lacking in so many foods.

They know how important roughage is. In safeguarding their families from constipation they are responsible for their own happier homes.

Constipation is the bane of thousands. It attacks health. Ruins youth. Saps energy. Too often it brings serious disease. And yet it is easy to prevent. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is guaranteed.

Why ALL-BRAN is so effective

Bulk or roughage relieves constipation naturally. ALL-BRAN furnishes bulk in generous quantity because it is 100% bran. This bulk absorbs moisture and distributes it through the digestive system. Gently distending the intestines—exercising them—sweeping out wastes and poisons. In a part-bran product the amount of bulk is seldom sufficient to completely perform this work. That is why doctors recommend ALL-BRAN. Because they know that it is 100% bran and 100% effective.

Different from unnatural pills

ALL-BRAN works as nature works. How much better than habit-forming drugs whose dose must be constantly increased — and sometimes injure the system.

ALL-BRAN is an inviting cereal milk or cream. Delicious with ey added. Sprinkle it into soups in cooking—recipes on package. other cereals. Eat two tablesaily—chronic cases, with every u will serve it in some form regu- will surely protect your family constipation.

N is sold by all grocers. Served afeterias. On diners. Made by Battle Creek.

Guaranteed!
Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is sold with this definite guarantee: Eat it according to directions. If it does not relieve constipation safely, we will refund the purchase price.

BOYS WILL RESIST DOG LICENSE BILL

MERCED, Calif., March 1.—(UP)—And now the children have become legislative lobbyists.

The Merced Boys' Dog club has announced it will start immediately to organize 50,000 boys of the state to fight the California senate bill No. 25, providing for licensing and regulation of dogs.

"The bill means the death of every pet dog we have," said Eddie Acker, 10. "Why a boy could be fined $50 if his dog went into a neighbor's yard."

The boys are organizing with system, according to Keith Shaffer, one of the leaders. The state will be organized by counties. A delegate will be sent to plead with the governor on behalf of the canine pets, and President-elect Hoover and Will Rogers, both fond of dogs, will be invited to join the organization as honorary members.

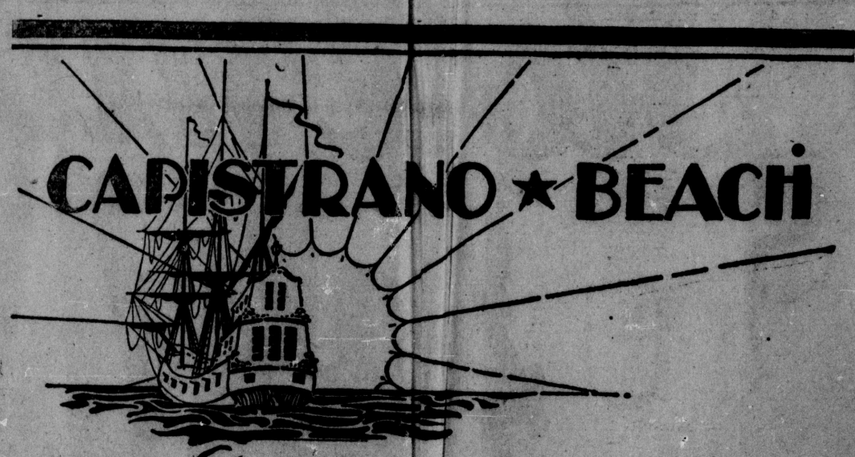
CAPISTRANO ★ BEACH



OUTSTANDING INVESTMENT OPPORTUNITY

YOUR first question about a proposed investment should be: "Who is back of it?" Your next question: "What is the history of similar investments throughout the country?"

Apply this test to Capistrano Beach—the next great coastal city. This property—a gently sloping plateau overlooking three miles of the finest beach on the Pacific Coast—is owned outright by the Petroleum Securities Company, of which E. L. Doheny is president. It is therefore fortified by tremendous financial strength and unquestioned integrity.

The second answer is found in the coast line of every continent. Desirable property on the Atlantic Coast of America is at a premium. On the Pacific Coast today there is little desirable frontage available at prices within the ordinary purse.

Investigate Capistrano Beach now. Study the facts. Look at the coast line. Then you'll understand why far-sighted investors are picking Capistrano Beach as the site of the next great coastal city.

Painting By Yens Chosen For Tour Throughout State

LAGUNA BEACH, March 1.—A painting by Karl Yens, local artist, entitled "Josee," has been included as one of the 36 selected from among 193 to be taken on an art tour. The tour is the exhibition of paintings by California artists under the auspices of the Western Association of Museum Directors. Mr. Yens has been invited to exhibit at the Oakland Art gallery and has sent his most recent painting, "Georgie, the Music Master of the Future," and "Forces of Nature."

EL TORO

EL TORO, Mar. 1. — Beverly Bennett was the honoree at a delightful surprise party last Saturday given by her mother, Mrs. Harvey Bennett. Beverly was 12 years old so her mother asked a guest for each year. Games were played during the afternoon until the girls were called to the house. Mrs. T. F. McDonnell and Mrs. Roy Silkwood assisted Mrs. Bennett in serving the delicious menu. Those present were Catherine and Cary Gray, Grace Trapp, Ida and Grace Swartz, Grace and Dale Trapp, Helen Bennett, Rose and Grace Etchebarria.

The George Osterman home has been the scene of several social affairs during the past week. Mrs. Osterman was hostess to membe of the El Toro club and wom of the community. Flowers we used throughout the home and t hostess was remembered by h neighbors with blossoms. Needl work occupied the afternoon unt the refreshment hour, when th hostess, assisted by Mrs. Hira Whisler and Mrs. John Osterman served cake, coffee and chocolat to her guests, who were Mrs. W V. Whisler, Mrs. A. Trapp, Mrs Ivy Thompson, Mrs. Levi Gockley. Mrs. John Osterman, Mrs. Harvey Bennett, Mrs. Bennie Osterman. Mrs. Hiram Whisler, Mrs. R. B Waterman, Mrs. Dale Trapp and Mrs. Walter Tait.

On Saturday evening Mr. and Mrs. Osterman entertained with a bridge party in honor of Mr and Mrs. Ernest Chapman, of Alhambra, who were spending the week end in Tustin. Washington's birthday was suggested in the tally cards and table appointments for the midnight supper. Mrs. Alberta Blake had awarded high score for the women and Joseph P. Smith held the honors among the men. Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Tilotson were consoled. An attractive guest prize was presented Mr. and Mrs. Chapman. A two-course supper was served to Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Chapman, of Alhambra; Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Prunty, of Tustin; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph P. Smith, Mrs. Alberta Blake, Miss Elizabeth Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Tillotson, of Santa Ana; Mr. and Mrs. Bennie Ostorman, of El Toro.

COURAGE? THIS DON WILLIAMS CAN TELL YOU!

By EDDIE WEST
(Sports Editor of The Register)

If "Dynamic Don" Williams brings into the business world one-half of the courage, intelligence and generalship he carried on the football field during his spectacular athletic career he need have no fear of meeting the test.

Don Williams was a real All-American football player, whose greatest triumphs were won despite trials and tribulations on which the average fan who watched his dashing figure down on the floor of the stadium knew little.

Dependent on his own resourcefulness for a livlihood, this gritty star got his education at Santa Ana high school and the University of Southern California in spite of obstacles which need not be repeated here, that would have disillusioned and discouraged one less determined.

Greatest of His Day

And the same quality, that in sporting circles is described most aptly by one short, ugly word—"guts"—made him one of the greatest football men of his day although his natural physical qualifications were limited.

The story dates back to an afternoon late in November of 1927.

The Trojans were playing Washington State college and were winning handily. The next Saturday they were to face Notre Dame in a great intersectional combat in Chicago before 120,000 persons. The great Williams was on the bench. They called him a "fragile" football player, one easily injured, and his coach was taking no chances on having him rendered unfit for the fracas with the Irish. He was going to send Williams in for a few plays just to get the "feel" of the thing and then take him right out.

Most Popular Trojan

Williams finally went on the field.

The stadium rocked with cheers. "Dynamic Don," Southern California's most popular athlete, was in the game!

The Trojans called a play. Williams took the ball around end. Five-ten-thirteen yards he went. Then he was hit simultaneously by two husky Cougars. Two others piled on. Then they all got up—except Don Williams.

That night they said the great Williams was "through" forever. Examining physicians said it would be dangerous for the black-haired quarterback ever to step on a football field again, that his injuries were extremely serious.

But Williams wasn't through.

He was in a hospital, his body racked by pain, on the day his team met Notre Dame. But when a year rolled by "Dynamic Don" was on the turf again. Doctors shuddered every time he was tackled viciously. But Williams wouldn't quit. They couldn't keep him down. They never can keep a GOOD man down.

Inspiration To Team

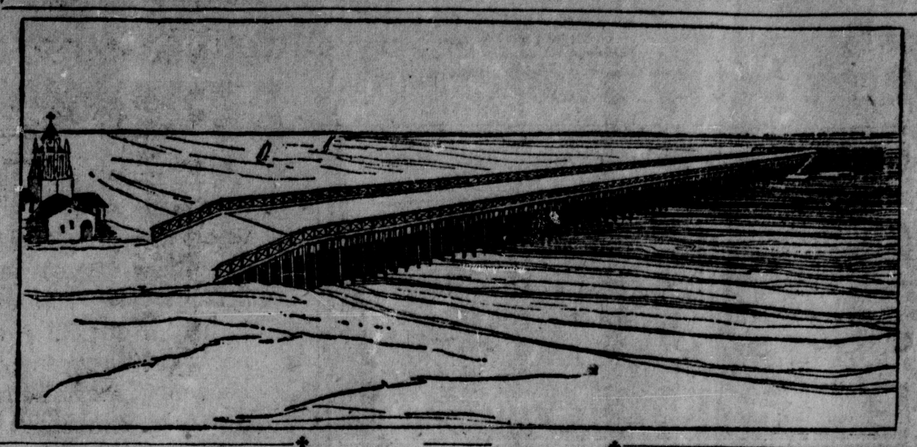
The rest is too recent in football history to necessitate print. Williams, the one they call fragile, played every big game for his team. Critics said it was his inspiration, his brains that brought the Pacific Coast conference championship to Southern California for the first time.

"Dynamic Don" grew up with Santa Ana. He lived here, went through school here, played football here with the Southern California prep champions of 1921. This is his home and he loves it.

Fame is fleeting. Time is harsh on campus idols. But Don Williams, the dynamic one, is not afraid. He was never afraid when he smashed an opposing line of 200-pound huskies with his 160 pounds they said were fragile." And he is not afraid now as he prepares to crash into the line of business.

CAPISTRANO BEACH PIER WILL COST $50,000

Architect's drawing of the new pier for Capistrano Beach. The contract has been awarded to the Merritt-Chapman-Scott company.



Steel, Wood Pier 1180 Feet Long, 20 Feet Wide Planned

Plans for a $50,000 pleasure and fishing pier for Capistrano Beach have been completed and construction was started this week, according to James E. Appleby, director of sales for Wailes-Smith company, managers and developers of the beach city.

The pier will be of wood and steel construction, with a wood deck 1180 feet long and 20 feet wide, reinforced by diagonal steel sway braces and a "T" head at the outer end of the pier 60 feet in length and 60 feet in width.

A substantial boat landing gangway and float capable of accommodating small yachts and speed boats will be installed.

The pier will be erected by Merritt - Chapman - Scott, waterfront engineers.

Recent dinner guests in the N. O. Meliott home were Mr. and Mrs. Ooto Russell, of Ohio, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Martin, of Edison, Ohio. Mrs. Martin is a cousin of Mrs. Ford Mellott.

Willard Mellott, Lewis Jamison and Lawrence Wright are building a house at Encinitas Heights, above La Habra.

Wednesday evening the following local people took a varied assortment of food to eat with the builders. Mrs. W. B. Mellott and son, Walter; Mr. and Mrs. Ford Mellott and daughters, Bernice and Marjorie; Mr. and Mrs. Martin, of Ohio; Glen Mellott, Mrs. Agnes Wright and daughter, Laura; Mr. and Mrs. N. O. Mellott, Ellis, Carl and Doris Mellott.

Miss Katie Bradley, a niece of Dr. M. B. Armstrong, and, well known here, passed away in St. Paul, Minn., Wednesday. Miss Bradley was called east about two weeks ago on account of the critical illness of her sister. Just a few days after arriving in St. Paul she slipped on the icy walks and broke her hip. She was taken to a hospital and seemed to be improving. Miss Bradley had been employed for several years by a Los Angeles newspaper.

MISSIONARIES SPEAK BEFORE DORCAS GROUP

PLACENTIA, March 1.—Thirty members of the Dorcas society of Calvary church attended the all day meeting at the church Thursday. At the business meeting it was decided to furnish dessert for the weekly dinner which the Fishermen's club will have preceding the regular meeting. The dinner is to be cooked and served by the boys. The committee to furnish dessert for the month of March is headed by Mrs. C. H. Copeland, chairman; Mrs. Luther Carriker and Mrs. Stalnaker, of Fullerton; Mrs. A. White, Mrs. Wayne Loomis, Mrs. W. S. Ingham, Mrs. Charles E. Fuller, Mrs. J. W. Burns and Mrs. W. B. Howard.

COURAGE? THIS DON WILLIAMS CAN TELL YOU!

By EDDIE WEST
(Sports Editor of The Register)

If "Dynamic Don" Williams brings into the business world one-half of the courage, intelligence and generalship he carried on the football field during his spectacular athletic career he need have no fear of meeting the test.

Don Williams was a real All-American football player, whose greatest triumphs were won despite trials and tribulations on which the average fan who watched his dashing figure down on the floor of the stadium knew little.

Dependent on his own resourcefulness for a livlihood, this gritty star got his education at Santa Ana high school and the University of Southern California in spite of obstacles which need not be repeated here, that would have disillusioned and discouraged one less determined.

Greatest of His Day

And the same quality, that in sporting circles is described most aptly by one short, ugly word—"guts"—made him one of the greatest football men of his day although his natural physical qualifications were limited.

The story dates back to an afternoon late in November of 1927.

The Trojans were playing Washington State college and were winning handily. The next Saturday they were to face Notre Dame in a great intersectional combat in Chicago before 120,000 persons. The great Williams was on the bench. They called him a "fragile" football player, one easily injured, and his coach was taking no chances on having him rendered unfit for the fracas with the Irish. He was going to send Williams in for a few plays just to get the "feel" of the thing and then take him right out.

Most Popular Trojan

Williams finally went on the field.

The stadium rocked with cheers. "Dynamic Don," Southern California's most popular athlete, was in the game!

The Trojans called a play. Williams took the ball around end. Five-ten-thirteen yards he went. Then he was hit simultaneously by two husky Cougars. Two others piled on. Then they all got up—except Don Williams.

That night they said the great Williams was "through" forever. Examining physicians said it would be dangerous for the black-haired quarterback ever to step on a football field again, that his injuries were extremely serious.

But Williams wasn't through.

He was in a hospital, his body racked by pain, on the day his team met Notre Dame. But when a year rolled by "Dynamic Don" was on the turf again. Doctors shuddered every time he was tackled viciously. But Williams wouldn't quit. They couldn't keep him down. They never can keep a GOOD man down.

Inspiration To Team

The rest is too recent in football history to necessitate print. Williams, the one they call fragile, played every big game for his team. Critics said it was his inspiration, his brains that brought the Pacific Coast conference championship to Southern California for the first time.

"Dynamic Don" grew up with Santa Ana. He lived here, went through school here, played football here with the Southern California prep champions of 1921. This is his home and he loves it.

Fame is fleeting. Time is harsh on campus idols. But Don Williams, the dynamic one, is not afraid. He was never afraid when he smashed an opposing line of 200-pound huskies with his 160 pounds they said were fragile." And he is not afraid now as he prepares to crash into the line of business.

WHAT WAY OUT? - By FANNIE HURST

Author of "Humoresque", "A President Is Born"

THE conditions that brought about the engagement of Mary Estes to Benjamin Parke were the normal, unexciting ones of a certain degree of propinquity, similarity of social standing and a general desirability smiled upon by families of both parties concerned.

In the thriving Middle West city where Mary Estes had been born and reared, Benjamin Parke was regarded as one of the most promising young business men of the community. When Mary Estes was still attending high school and taking the commercial course which was ultimately to prepare her for her work as secretary to the richest banker of the town, the Esteses were a highly respectable and conservative family in reduced finances, probably a shade or two higher in the social strata than the Parke family, although Benjamin's father was a dentist of solid standing and good practice.

THE two young people of these respective and respectable families, in spite of the disparity of ten years in their ages, were thrown socially together by way of church, entertainment and bridge party. Their ultimate engagement was as normal as sunrise. A little flurry of anticipatory gossip had, of course, preceded it; its announcement was a matter for local applause; its consummation looked forward to by a group of friends and relatives who moved interestedly around the nucleus of the happy pair.

It was fun to be engaged. It was great fun to be the center of interest, the center of pleasant attention and consideration of the group of people that made up Mary's world.

The slightly envious attention of her friends who were not yet engaged, the sisterly acceptance of her as one of themselves by the girls who were engaged. The tolerant interest in her by those of her friends who were newly married. And the affectionate, busied attention from the older women—matrons, spinsters and widows alike.

All of Mary's world paid her the charming tribute that is the lot of happy young love. And she found this tribute most flattering, most attractive.

Two months after the announcement of the engagement, Mary Estes resigned her pleasant and lucrative position as secretary to the richest man in town and began preparations for a June wedding. Benjamin Parke, by then sole proprietor of a small but flourishing furniture store on High Street, was known to be in the market for an attractive building-lot on Kay Street, one of the town's pretty bungalow districts. The friends of Mary began to plan linen showers and small festivities that had to do with the approaching marriage. Benjamin Parke took out a tidy life insurance policy and announced that he was building an ell to his furniture store.

IT was an alliance that promised well. Mary and Benjamin would be a good, substantial addition to the citizenry of the community; were the kind to foster stability, decency and right living.

There was nothing in particular about the engagement of this young pair to differentiate it from alliances that were constantly being made, and yet it is possible that Mary and Ben represented what in the eyes of the community might be regarded as the ideal marriage.

The ideal marriage that would lead to years of happiness, of struggle, of accomplishments. Mistakes, of course. But on the whole the usual happy and successful life in which hardships and pleasures are mingled.

That was what made the condition so harrowing, so terrible, so secretly frightening to Mary Estes when certain menacing facts began to take on a reality she had been struggling against ever since the first few weeks following her engagement.

Everything was right, everything was as it should be. A better, steadier, more considerate boy than Benjamin Parke could not be imagined. Her parents were happy, his parents were happy, and, with a bungalow on Kay Street, an old dream of hers was about to come true. As Mary confided to her best chum, Alice McMahon, a pretty doll with china-blue eyes, it was a story-book engagement in its total desirability from every angle.

The two young people of these respective and respectable families, in spite of the disparity of ten years in their ages, were thrown socially together by way of church, entertainment and bridge party. Their ultimate engagement was as normal as sunrise. A little flurry of anticipatory gossip had, of course, preceded it; its announcement was a matter for local applause; its consummation looked forward to by a group of friends and relatives who moved interestedly around the nucleus of the happy pair.

ALL except one—and that one angle Mary did not begin to admit, even to herself, until weeks after the announcement of her engagement.

Mary was not in love with Benjamin Parke. Strange, how clear the matter ultimately became to her. Not until after a long period of self-hypnosis, did Mary come to realize that, from the very beginning, she had thrown herself consciously into a state of mind about Ben. She had talked herself into a condition of seeming to be in love with him. The wish father to the thought, she had deliberately tried to force herself into a state of mind.

The engagement to Ben had been the result. It had seemed to her, during those months while the facts of her self-hypnosis still lasted, that she had accomplished right and righteousness. And then gradually, and a little horribly, it began to dawn upon her during those festive weeks of linen showers, bridge parties, evenings with Ben over blue prints of their new bungalow, that everything she was tasting was dead sea fruit.

In the dead of night, Mary would wake up with a sense of oppression in her breast, with a dread of tomorrow, with terror of what she was doing.

Mary did not love Ben. She liked him, she respected him. She even admired him. The thought of him as her husband filled her with dread.

SOMETIMES it seemed to Mary that to be free once more, to be free to come and go at her secretarial work, to be the girl once more unhampered and unimpeded by the dread of marriage, was the one state of being that mattered over and above anything that had ever happened. She regarded those of her girl friends who were still outside the pale of matrimony and still unhampered by ties of engagement with an envy that was as illogical as it was unlike her.

Mary had only one desire in life now—to be free. To be un-engaged. To see her life stretch before her once more filled with the old ideal of some day meeting the ultimate life companion.

To be un-engaged was out of the question. Ben took her so for granted. Her parents were in their seventh heaven of approval. His parents made no effort to conceal their pride. The community smiled. Mary was committed. Terror, rebellion, agony, panic rose within her, only to be hidden by the calm, demure exterior she showed to the world.

The day of her wedding approached and it seemed to Mary that with it there descended upon her a dread of living that must ultimately annihilate her. She knew that she must not go through with this dishonest thing of marrying Benjamin Parke.

And yet, what way out? What way out? The question beat about in Mary's tortured brain like a great, imprisoned moth. What way out?

She turned the question over and over in her hot, tired brain.

What could she do? How could she find a way out? What did other girls in the same predicament do? For surely other girls had made her mistake; thought they could marry a man and then, suddenly, or gradually, realized that lack of love would make marriage intolerable.

But there was nothing to do. She couldn't do the only thing possible; tell Benjamin that she didn't love him. It would seem such a simple thing, yet it was fraught with all sorts of impossible complications. It would mean bringing hurt unhappiness to her parents and his parents. She herself would feel that she had failed—to her family, to his family—to Benjamin and to her own word. There seemed, to Mary, something dishonorable in breaking her engagement.

So what way out was there for her?

The way out came in the form of a brief note delivered to her one morning two weeks before her wedding day. It read:

"Dear Mary:

Since there is no way of telling you, without hurting you, the cruel thing which I am about to say, I shall say it in the shortest way possible. Alice McMahon and I were married at ten o'clock this morning.

(Signed) Ben."

DR. OLMSTEAD ON RCA HOUR TONIGHT

Symphonic orchestral selections, vocal solos and an educational lecture are featured in the weekly RCA hour to be broadcast through NBC system stations tonight from 8 to 9 o'clock. KFI will release the program.

Introducing the "World of Music and Letters" division of the hour, the orchestra, under the baton of Max Dolin, will play Brahms' brilliant and exciting "Hungarian Dance No. 6." Margaret O'Dea, contralto, will be heard in the "Seguidilla" from Bizet's "Carmen" in this period.

In the "World of Knowledge" period Edward Randall, baritone, will sing Hawley's "Ah! 'Tis a Dream," while Miss O'Dea offers the lovely "Connais-tu le Pays?" from Thomas' opera "Mignon."

Following the custom of presenting a distinguished educator in a brief talk, this program will bring before the microphone Dr. J. M. D. Olmstead, professor of physiology at the University of California. He will speak on "How the Nervous System Functions."

Dragonette Will Head Philco Hour

Jessica Dragonette, soprano, and Colin O'More, tenor, will be heard in another Philco program of musical comedy and operetta song favorites in a nation-wide broadcast through NBC system stations tonight from 6:30 to 7 o'clock, Pacific standard time. The Philco orchestra will be conducted by Harold Sanford, while Henry M. Neely will assume the role of Philco's Old Stager.

CAFE ORCHESTRA IS ENGAGED BY KEJK

Introducing a distinct novelty in radio broadcasting, Beverly Hills station KEJK has just signed an agreement with the Russian Double Eagle cafe, Hollywood, whereby its five-piece Russian stringed ensemble will be on the air nightly between 11 and 12 o'clock.

A base viol, cello, two violins and a piano make up this aggregation and the music is of a distinct continental type, featuring seductive Russian and Hungarian ballads, while a soloist who sings nothing but the most plaintive Russian melodies in his native language is to be an additional feature.

The leading violinist has been in America but three weeks, coming to the Hollywood cafe direct from Paris, where for a number of years he has been in great demand in Parisian cafes.

JOLSON WILL HEAD VITAPHONE PROGRAM

Al Jolson has definitely given himself up to KFWB authorities and will be master of ceremonies on the first west-to-east Vitaphone Jubilee hour transcontinental program, originating in the Hollywood station's studios, March 4, at 6:30 p. m., Pacific standard time.

The batting order has lined up something like this:

Conrad Nagel, Colleen Moore, Little Davey Lee, Monte Blue, Alice White, Jack Mulhall, Dorothy Mackail, Earl Burtnett's Biltmore orchestra and the Biltmore trio.

Short Talk By a Thoughtful Mother

A California (Long Beach) Mother speaks: "Only a mother who has passed through anxious nights of fear of croup, hearing that hoarse, croupy cough constantly, can appreciate our feeling of gratitude toward Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. It stopped Junior's dreadful cough the first night he took it and it was a great relief to see him drop into a quiet sleep." Good also for whooping cough, measles cough and heavy, wheezy breathing. Sold and recommended everywhere. —Parsons Drug Co., corner 4th and Broadway; Hinsley's Pharmacy, corner Main St. and Washington avenue.—Adv.

Short Talk By a Thoughtful Mother

A California (Long Beach) Mother speaks: "Only a mother who has passed through anxious nights of fear of croup, hearing that hoarse, croupy cough constantly, can appreciate our feeling of gratitude toward Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. It stopped Junior's dreadful cough the first night he took it and it was a great relief to see him drop into a quiet sleep." Good also for whooping cough, measles cough and heavy, wheezy breathing. Sold and recommended everywhere. —Parsons Drug Co., corner 4th and Broadway; Hinsley's Pharmacy, corner Main St. and Washington avenue.—Adv.

WHO'LL GO HIGHER?

Records, it is said, are made to be broken. But one hesitates to think that those two pole vault records of Sabin Carr are to be broken soon. Yet—what about Fred Sturdy's 14-foot leap a few nights ago at New York?

It seemed, for a number of years, that 14 feet was an impossible height for the pole vaulter. The first record ever recorded in this track event was made by Pryor of Columbus, who thrilled spectators with a leap of 7 feet, 4 inches. But that was many years ago, and the record height ascended and eventually was made 14 feet by Carr.

Carr holds both indoor and outdoor records. His indoor record is 14 feet 1 inch, and his outdoor record is one inch shy of that. Lee Barnes of Southern California is said to have vaulted 14 1½ inches, but the feat never has been recognized officially.

Sturdy also competes for Yale. He is a senior, and was Carr's teammate last year. He came out with a leap of 13 feet 7 inches early this winter, and, at the time, caused the prediction to be made that he might smear Carr's best marks.

He did 14 feet the other night but failed to clear the bar when it was raised an inch and one-half higher. But the season is young—and those who believe Carr's marks are not to remain as the best always think Sturdy stands an excellent chance of breaking them this season.

His performances in the pole vault will be worth watching.

THE DOUGH ROLLS IN

Mr. Gus Sonnenberg, the rassling champion, is cashing in on his title, and, to be frank, at the rate of approximately $30,000 a month. It's a sum not to be sneered at by any group of talented people. In round numbers, it would amount to approximately $375,000 a year for rassling.

To do this, Mr. Sonnenberg has been going about from one town to another taking on fellows who, to judge from the results of the matches, have not been so terribly hard to handle. And each match nets the dough.

Gus earned $30,000 the first month after he had become champion. In that time, he Pullmaned from Boston down to Oklahoma, over to Kansas and St. Louis, back to Philadelphia and New York. And the trip was so profitable financially that he decided to take one to the Pacific coast.

And they say that Gus was selling a brand of low-priced automobiles just a year ago at about 30 berries a sale!

THEY ALL LIKE HIM

It is said of Wallace Wade, Alabama football coach, that he 'is a hard-boiled fellow, one who takes no foolishness from anyone concerned with his football team. He makes strict training rules and he has no bashful manner when he wants to say something to somebody.

"But I tell my boys at the start of the season that they don't have to play football unless they want to," he says. "None of 'em ever quit, so I assume they are all willing to stick to the rules I prescribe. And most of them do, not only in football season but the year around."

MYERS VS. ROBERTS

SAN FRANCISCO, March 1.—Pete Meyers, local battler, and Eddie ("K. O.") Roberts of Tacoma will match gloves in the 10-round main event at Dreamland auditorium tonight.

FREE THROW IN FINAL SECONDS WINS BY 21-20

After fighting tooth and nail for four hectic quarters, the Santa Ana high school Class B basketball team today reigned supreme over the Coast Preparatory league by virtue of the 21 to 20 victory it eked out over the stalwart Long Beach Jackrabbits in a playoff of a tie for first place in Andrews gymnasium last night.

Coach Bill Cook's sterling quintet will now play Woodrow Wilson high school of Long Beach, champion of the Bay league, in the one post-season contest that is allowed by the C. I. F. for league winners. Neither the date nor the place of the Wilson game had been arranged today.

With the score tied at 20-all, both teams were fighting for points before the final gun went off. Russell ("Red") Sullivan, veteran forward, turned the trick in the last minute of play when he converted his second shot after being fouled and put the Saints one point ahead.

Santa Ana and Long Beach were tied at the end of the regular season and a playoff was necessary, even though the locals beat the Jackrabbits in their first league game, 27 to 12. A large group of beach students accompanied the team and with the roaring mob of local townspeople, the local gym was packed to the shingles. It was probably the largest crowd that ever attended a basketball contest in this city.

Carrying the fight into alien territory from the outset, Santa Ana started off like it was going to make a runaway of the titular battle. Elwood ("Lucky") Lindley, center, shot a basket in the first minute and almost immediately sunk another through the mesh. Lindley was not stopped, making 10 points in the first 7 minutes, and when Sullivan put in a beautiful corner shot and Herren made good on a set-up, the Saints had piled up a 14 to 5 lead by the end of the first quarter.

But the scoring orgy terminated almost as quickly as it had begun. Outside of a basket by Herren early in the second period Santa Ana was held scoreless until the fourth quarter while Long Beach, quick to assume the offensive, slowly but surely overhauled the Cookites although the half ended with Santa Ana still out in front, 16 to 12.

Bill Cook

Santa Ana was unable to get going in the third quarter and the Jackrabbits, again breaking through the defense, made three baskets and took the lead, 18 to 16.

Lindley finally broke the spell and made a basket, tying the score at 18-all. Herren followed this with another and the Saint crowd went wild but this lead was short-lived, for Long Beach knotted the count again. Then, with only seconds to go, Sullivan broke the tie with a successful free throw and the game was over.

Lindley was high point man with 12. Herron got 6 and Sullivan 3. Captain Jimmy Hall and Joe McChesney were outstanding in breaking up passes. McChesney admirably filled the shoes of Bill Erbe, regular guard, who was on the bench with a bad leg. Hideo Higashi, taking Lindley's place when he was taken out, played a fast game. The lineup:

Santa Ana (21)		(20) Long Beach
Sullivan (3)	F	(4) Olsen
Herren (6)	F	(2) Eastabrook
Lindley (12)	C	(1) Diamond
Hall	G	Parkes

Substitutions

Santa Ana—Hideo Higashi for Lindley.

Long Beach—Eastabrook for Olsen; Daley (4) for Eastabrook; Park (2) for Diamond; Holbrook (5) for Parkes.

Score By Quarters

Santa Ana	14	2	0	5	—21
Long Beach	5	7	4	2	—20

EMANUEL, SERATTI MEET

HOLLYWOOD, March 1.—Armand Emanuel, heavyweight of San Francisco, who recently lost a decision to Tommy Loughran of Philadelphia, will meet Larry Serratti, husky Italian miner, in a 10-round main event bout here tonight.

'Bees' Prove Good Basket Contests Pay

Proving that good basketball will pay even in Santa Ana, which seldom has enjoyed a winning season, the largest crowd that ever attended a cage game in this city jammed Andrews gymnasium to capacity to see the Class B game between Santa Ana and Long Beach last nigha.

Gate receipts totaled approximately $74, the largest intake of the high school basketball season and considerably more than the Class A team was able to draw.

The most money ever paid to see a game here was $90, which was the "gate" at last year's varsity tilt between Santa Ana and Orange. Last season's championship Class B games between Santa Ana and Whittier and Santa Ana and Pasadena were worth $54 and $49, respectively.

HURLERS 'BEAR DOWN' IN TRIBE TRAINING CAMP

SEATTLE TRAINING CAMP, San Clemente, March 1.—It is time to lay all joking aside about this Les Phipps person who asked for a trial with the Indians yesterday.

Phipps, an outfielder belonging to Shreveport, showed Skipper Ernie Johnson so much stuff in yesterday's workout that the pilot simply had to ask for more. So Mr. Phipps will stick around until either Bill Klepper makes a deal for him or decides he won't do. If he falls down it probably will be because he is too old. He says he is 23, looks 26 and may be even 29. But he can mace the old apple and shag fly balls. Then, he is a southpaw batter, which would make his a balancing factor in the Tribe batting order.

Einar Star, the Canadian who was snow-bound and therefore late in reporting, took his first workout yesterday. He was too anxious to make up for lost time, and was "pressing" as the golf experts put it, but he will be given more time to show his wares.

Jim Edwards, the last veteran to join the nine, steamed in yesterday, looking ready to put on his unie and pitch 15 or 20 innings. The southerner is hard as a rock and burned like Mrs. O'Lear's stable, from a winter of outdoor labor.

"Fat" Hetherly, the young third baseman from Omaha, took a new lease on life and joined the regulars in batting practice. An extremely sore throwing arm has had him shelved almost since camp opened, but he pounded the afate savagely and fielded a few ground balls at third, although he made no effort to throw.

Some of the pitchers cut loose, too. Kyle Graham, who lost a lot of weight during the winter, pitched part of batting practice, and found that his hook was breaking nicely. "Hap" Collard worked for a while, as did Larry Canton, the young fellow who was pounded so badly by Hollywood last Sunday. Canton seems to have found himself, and gave a much better account of himself as Johnson ordered the chuckers to "throw everything."

Os Eckhardt, the husky Texan, gave a demonstration during batting practice of the toughness that made him a great fullback in the southern conference. He was hit smack on the back of the neck by a line drive that Freddy Muller pulled down the left field line. Os went down for a short count, but was up in time to take his turn at the plate a few minutes later.

BARBUTI SUSPENDED FROM A. A. U. TRACK

NEW YORK, March 1.—Ray Barbuti, who won the only flat race captured by the United States at the Amsterdam Olympic Games, has been suspended from Amateur competition until he proves or retracts statements attributed to him in yesterday's newspapers.

Leaving the A.A.U. offices Wednesday night after being cleared of charges growing out of his failure to appear in the New York A. C. games, Barbuti severely severely criticized the A. A. U. and its methods.

"I am tired of lining their pockets with money," Barbuti said. "They want us to run and they take all the money and what do we get out of it? If they'll support me like I want to live, I'll run for them the rest of my life, but I'm not going to run and let them take all the money."

'POISON BOYS' ARE 'HOLDOUT TWINS' NOW

Brother acts are not so novel in the big leagues these days, but it was up to the "Poison Boys," Paul and Lloyd Waner, to show a new wrinkle in this kind of combination.

The Waner brothers form the most valuable brother combination doing big time today. They are outfielders for the Pittsburgh Pirates and, despite the fact that they are young in years and ex-

CARMEN TUZZOLINO, OLYMPIC GAMES CHAMPION, HEADLINES 'BARGAIN RING BILL' TONIGHT

Johnny Woods, instead of Tommy Manzo, will face Carmen Tuzzolino in the main event at the Orange County Athletic club here tonight, according to changes in the card ordered late today by the California state boxing commission. Woods is rated as a much stronger opponent for the Olympic champion than Manzo. Johnny Vallarde, San Bernardino main eventer, was assigned to meet John Gabuco. Frankie Boldt will be paired with Kid Cadinez and Fred Tegnovitz will go againt Aurelio Huerra. Woods, the new main eventer, is a protege of George Blake.

With an Olympic Games champion on top, a regular main eventer in the hole and a generous sprinkling of big town talent in the other preliminaries, the Orange County Athletic club will present its first "bargain bill" at its southside arena tonight, offering, at the usual rates, five six-round bouts or 30 rounds in all if all the boys are fortunate enough to go the limit.

O.C.A.C. HEADLINER

Carmen Tuzzolino, who won the amateur welterweight championship at the Olympic Games in Amsterdam last summer, is the main eventer at the Orange County Athletic club here tonight. Tuzzolino, shown below, goes against Tommy Manzo.

Promoter Henry T. Foust and his associates believe they have such a strong assembly of cauliflowers that they can risk putting Fred Tegnovitz (Frankie Burns), a boy who was good enough to decision Zenaydo Chavez, in the curtain-raiser.

The show will feature Carmen Tuzzolino and Tommy Manzo, welterweights. On the card also are Young Terry, the "Whittier Whirlwind;" Herman Bundren, Frankie Boldt, "Bud" Couglar, Johnny D'Zaro, Jess Gabino and George Savage.

Tuzzolino, returning from Amsterdam where he won the world's welterweight championship for amateurs, took up boxing as a profession and became an overnight sensation. In four bouts at Hollywood and Los Angeles he has elevated himself from the rank and file of the preliminary boys to a station where the promoters come to him instead of his begging at their offices. The O. C. A. C. got him for this shot only because it had Tuzzolino under a contract that was signed two months ago.

Manzo's record is not an overly impressive one. He has been "taken" by a number of eager welters since his graduation from Arizona to California fisticuffs and he is quite likely to "go for a ride" again tonight. Tuzzolino, "bearing down," is too good for Manzo's kind.

Couglar and Gabino, the latter a Filipino, are both regarded as among the most promising of the season's "baby stars." They are fast, clever little fellows and figure to hold up their end of the show satisfactorily.

The evening's "local color" will be provided by Young Terry, the old Whittier warhorse, and Herman Bundren, a rugged middleweight who has been knocking them all stiff at Hollywood and Pasadena. Terry is one of those fellows hard to hit, harder to hurt and harder yet to beat. His style doesn't always please the critics but he keeps right on his serene way beating a lot of the good ones. If Bundren stops hira, Bundren IS good.

Boldt and Savage clash in the second spot and Tegnovitz faces D'Zaro in the first bout, at 8:30 o'clock.

BEAR BOXERS WIN

PALO ALTO, March 1.—University of California boxers defeated Stanford mittmen, four bouts to three, in their annual meet here last night. Ed Dillon, Stanford, defeated the touted Ted Beckett, of California, in the heavy event.

S. A. On 1929 Schedule Of U. S. C. Frosh

Santa Ana junior college's football team will meet the University of Southern California freshmen eleven in the Los Angeles Coliseum on Saturday, September 28, 1929.

This will be the Trojan yearling's first game of the season. It probably will be the second for the Dons as Coach Bill Cook intends to arrange a non-conference scrimmage for the preceding Saturday.

The Santa Ana-U. S. C. freshmen game will be played as a curtain-raiser to the U. S. C. varsity-U. C. L. A. battle. Santa Ana played the Tro-Babes last fall and were badly beaten.

MIAMI TO HAVE BIG RING BOUT EVERY WINTER

By FRANK GETTY
(United Press Sports Editor)

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., March 1.—An entirely new field in boxing has been opened by the signing of a contract between Madison Square Garden and the city of Miami, calling for the promotion of an important heavyweight fight here each winter for the next five years.

Tex Rickard's maxim—that two big fistic spectacles a year are all the public will support—no longer will apply.

If the present heavyweight scramble produces a fighting champion, such as Jack Dempsey was in his prime, there is no reason why the title should not be defended winter and summer. In any event, at least 50 per cent has been added

'STUDENTS' OF BASEBALL WILL PLAY LEAGUERS

The first of Portland's 17 exhibition games at the Orange County Fair grounds will be played tomorrow afternoon. The National Baseball school, of Los Angeles, a creation of Johnny Bassler and Jess Orndorff, will be the opposition.

Regular and irregulars of Tom Turner's hired troupe have been in camp less than a week and are in none too good condition for this spot, or the one coming up Sunday with the Orange County Merchants, but they should have little trouble starting off their campaign here with a pair of victories.

Some of the pitchers and catchers have been working out long enough to get the kinks out of their arms and if Manager Bill Rodgers elects to use a few of his regular pitchers, which he is likely to do because there aren't many rookies eating off the Beavers anyway, they figure to breeze 'em down the alley too fast for the "students."

Fred Ortman, the seasoned young southpaw who has been in town more than a week and is beginning to round into shape, probably will do part of the slinging and "Ike" Powers, the right hander from the Athletics, is likely to get in for a few innings. Both these men have shown enough stuff to warrant their selection for the training camp opener.

Johnny Saunders is expected to start behind the log with Jim Keesey at first base, Gale Staley at second, George Wuestling at short and Jimmy Cronin at third. The outfielders are pretty sure to be Art Jahn, Charley Bates and Dennie Williams, the only experienced flychasers on the Portland payroll.

Rodgers expects to work at least three pitchers, all of them going three frames.

Every Portlander is in camp now

WHO'LL GO HIGHER?

Records, it is said, are made to be broken. But one hesitates to think that those two pole vault records of Sabin Carr are to be broken soon. Yet—what about Fred Sturdy's 14-foot leap a few nights ago at New York?

It seemed, for a number of years, that 14 feet was an impossible height for the pole vaulter. The first record ever recorded in this track event was made by Pryor of Columbus, who thrilled spectators with a leap of 7 feet, 4 inches. But that was many years ago, and the record height ascended and eventually was made 14 feet by Carr.

Carr holds both indoor and outdoor records. His indoor record is 14 feet 1 inch, and his outdoor record is one inch shy of that. Lee Barnes of Southern California is said to have vaulted 14 1½ inches, but the feat never has been recognized officially.

Sturdy also competes for Yale. He is a senior, and was Carr's teammate last year. He came out with a leap of 13 feet 7 inches early this winter, and, at the time, caused the prediction to be made that he might smear Carr's best marks.

He did 14 feet the other night but failed to clear the bar when it was raised an inch and one-half higher. But the season is young—and those who believe Carr's marks are not to remain as the best always think Sturdy stands an excellent chance of breaking them this season.

His performances in the pole vault will be worth watching.

THE DOUGH ROLLS IN

Mr. Gus Sonnenberg, the rassling champion, is cashing in on his title, and, to be frank, at the rate of approximately $30,000 a month. It's a sum not to be sneered at by any group of talented people. In round numbers, it would amount to approximately $375,000 a year for rassling.

To do this, Mr. Sonnenberg has been going about from one town to another taking on fellows who, to judge from the results of the matches, have not been so terribly hard to handle. And each match nets the dough.

Gus earned $30,000 the first month after he had become champion. In that time, he Pullmaned from Boston down to Oklahoma, over to Kansas and St. Louis, back to Philadelphia and New York. And the trip was so profitable financially that he decided to take one to the Pacific coast.

And they say that Gus was selling a brand of low-priced automobiles just a year ago at about 30 berries a sale!

THEY ALL LIKE HIM

It is said of Wallace Wade, Alabama football coach, that he is a hard-boiled fellow, one who takes no foolishness from anyone concerned with his football team. He makes strict training rules and he has no bashful manner when he wants to say something to somebody.

"But I tell my boys at the start of the season that they don't have to play football unless they want to," he says. "None of 'em ever quit, so I assume they are all willing to stick to the rules I prescribe. And most of them do, not only in football season but the year around."

MYERS VS. ROBERTS

SAN FRANCISCO, March 1.—Pete Meyers, local battler, and Eddie ("K. O.") Roberts of Tacoma will match gloves in the 10-round main event at Dreamland auditorium tonight.

FREE THROW IN FINAL SECONDS WINS BY 21-20

After fighting tooth and nail for four hectic quarters, the Santa Ana high school Class B basketball team today reigned supreme over the Coast Preparatory league by virtue of the 21 to 20 victory it eked out over the stalwart Long Beach Jackrabbits in a playoff of a tie for first place in Andrews gymnasium last night.

Coach Bill Cook's sterling quintet will now play Woodrow Wilson high school of Long Beach, champion of the Bay league, in the one post-season contest that is allowed by the C. I. F. for league winners. Neither the date nor the place of the Wilson game had been arranged today.

With the score tied at 20-all, both teams were fighting for points before the final gun went off. Russell ("Red") Sullivan, veteran forward, turned the trick in the last minute of play when he converted his second shot after being fouled and put the Saints one point ahead.

Santa Ana and Long Beach were tied at the end of the regular season and a playoff was necessary, even though the locals beat the Jackrabbits in their first league game, 27 to 12. A large group of beach students accompanied the team and with the roaring mob of local townspeople, the local gym was packed to the shingles. It was probably the largest crowd that ever attended a basketball contest in this city.

Carrying the fight into alien territory from the outset, Santa Ana started off like it was going to make a runaway of the titular battle. Elwood ("Lucky") Lindley, center, shot a basket in the first minute and almost immediately sunk another through the mesh. Lindley was not stopped, making 10 points in the first 7 minutes, and when Sullivan put in a beautiful corner shot and Herren made good on a set-up, the Saints had piled up a 14 to 5 lead by the end of the first quarter.

But the scoring orgy terminated almost as quickly as it had begun. Outside of a basket by Herren early in the second period Santa Ana was held scoreless until the fourth quarter while Long Beach, quick to assume the offensive slowly but surely overhauled the Cookites although the half ended with Santa Ana still out in front, 16 to 12.

Bill Cook

Santa Ana was unable to get going in the third quarter and the Jackrabbits, again breaking through the defense, made three baskets and took the lead, 18 to 16.

Lindley finally broke the spell and made a basket, tying the score at 18-all. Herren followed this with another and the Saint crowd went wild but this lead was short-lived, for Long Beach knotted the count again. Then, with only seconds to go, Sullivan broke the tie with a successful free throw and the game was over.

Lindley was high point man with 12. Herron got 6 and Sullivan 3. Captain Jimmy Hall and Joe McChesney were outstanding in breaking up passes. McChesney admirably filled the shoes of Bill Erbe, regular guard, who was on the bench with a bad leg. Hideo Higashi, taking Lindley's place when he was taken out, played a fast game. The lineup:

Santa Ana (21)		(20) Long Beach
Sullivan (3)	F	(4) Olsen
Herren (6)	F	(2) Eastabrook
Lindley (12)	C	(1) Diamond

Substitutions

Santa Ana—Hideo Higashi for Lindley.

Long Beach—Eastabrook for Olsen; Daley (4) for Eastabrook; Park (2) for Diamond; Holbrook (5) for Parkes.

Score By Quarters

Santa Ana	14	2	0	5	—21

EMANUEL, SERATTI MEET

HOLLYWOOD, March 1.—Armand Emanuel, heavyweight of San Francisco, who recently lost a decision to Tommy Loughran of Philadelphia, will meet Larry Serratti, husky Italian miner, in a 10-round main event bout here tonight.

'Bees' Prove Good Basket Contests Pay

Proving that good basketball will pay even in Santa Ana, which seldom has enjoyed a winning season, the largest crowd that ever attended a cage game in this city jammed Andrews gymnasium to capacity to see the Class B game between Santa Ana and Long Beach last nigha.

Gate receipts totaled approximately $74, the largest intake of the high school basketball season and considerably more than the Class A team was able to draw.

The most money ever paid to see a game here was $90, which was the "gate" at last year's varsity tilt between Santa Ana and Orange. Last season's championship Class B games between Santa Ana and Whittier and Santa Ana and Pasadena were worth $54 and $49, respectively.

HURLERS 'BEAR DOWN' IN TRIBE TRAINING CAMP

SEATTLE TRAINING CAMP, San Clemente, March 1.—It is time to lay all joking aside about this Les Phipps person who asked for a trial with the Indians yesterday.

Phipps, an outfielder belonging to Shreveport, showed Skipper Ernie Johnson so much stuff in yesterday's workout that the pilot simply had to ask for more. So Mr. Phipps will stick around until either Bill Klepper makes a deal for him or decides he won't do. If he falls down it probably will be because he is too old. He says he is 23, looks 26 and may be even 29. But he can mace the old apple and shag fly balls. Then, he is a southpaw batter, which would make his a balancing factor in the Tribe batting order.

Einar Star, the Canadian who was snow-bound and therefore late in reporting, took his first workout yesterday. He was too anxious to make up for lost time, and was "pressing" as the golf experts put it, but he will be given more time to show his wares.

Jim Edwards, the last veteran to join the nine, steamed in yesterday, looking ready to put on his unie and pitch 15 or 20 innings. The southerner is hard as a rock and burned like Mrs. O'Lear's stable, from a winter of outdoor labor.

"Fat" Hetherly, the young third baseman from Omaha, took a new lease on life and joined the regulars in batting practice. An extremely sore throwing arm has had him shelved almost since camp opened, but he pounded the afate savagely and fielded a few ground balls at third, although he made no effort to throw.

Some of the pitchers cut loose, too. Kyle Graham, who lost a lot of weight during the winter, pitched part of batting practice, and found that his hook was breaking nicely. "Hap" Collard worked for a while, as did Larry Canton, the young fellow who was pounded so badly by Hollywood last Sunday. Canton seems to have found himself, and gave a much better account of himself as Johnson ordered the chuckers to "throw everything."

Os Eckhardt, the husky Texan, gave a demonstration during batting practice of the toughness that made him a great fullback in the southern conference. He was hit smack on the back of the neck by a line drive that Freddy Muller pulled down the left field line. Os went down for a short count, but was up in time to take his turn at the plate a few minutes later.

BARBUTI SUSPENDED FROM A. A. U. TRACK

NEW YORK, March 1.—Ray Barbuti, who won the only flat race captured by the United States at the Amsterdam Olympic Games, has been suspended from Amateur competition until he proves or retracts statements attributed to him in yesterday's newspapers.

Leaving the A.A.U. offices Wednesday night after being cleared of charges growing out of his failure to appear in the New York A. C. games, Barbuti severely severely criticized the A. A. U. and its methods.

"I am tired of lining their pockets with money," Barbuti said. "They want us to run and they take all the money and what do we get out of it? If they'll support me like I want to live, I'll run for them the rest of my life, but I'm not going to run and let them take all the money."

'POISON BOYS' ARE 'HOLDOUT TWINS' NOW

Brother acts are not so novel in the big leagues these days, but it was up to the "Poison Boys," Paul and Lloyd Waner, to show a new wrinkle in this kind of combination.

The Waner brothers form the most valuable brother combination doing big time today. They are outfielders for the Pittsburgh Pirates and, despite the fact that they are young in years and ex-

CARMEN TUZZOLINO, OLYMPIC GAMES CHAMPION, HEADLINES 'BARGAIN RING BILL' TONIGHT

Johnny Woods, instead of Tommy Manzo, will face Carmen Tuzzolino in the main event at the Orange County Athletic club here tonight, according to changes in the card ordered late today by the California state boxing commission. Woods is rated as a much stronger opponent for the Olympic champion than Manzo. Johnny Vallarde, San Bernardino main eventer, was assigned to meet John Gabuco. Frankie Boldt will be paired with Kid Cadinez and Fred Tegnovitz will go againt Aurelio Huerra. Woods, the new main eventer, is a protege of George Blake.

With an Olympic Games champion on top, a regular main eventer in the hole and a generous sprinkling of big town talent in the other preliminaries, the Orange County Athletic club will present its first "bargain bill" at its southside arena tonight, offering, at the usual rates, five six-round bouts or 30 rounds in all if all the boys are fortunate enough to go the limit.

O.C.A.C. HEADLINER

Carmen Tuzzolino, who won the amateur welterweight championship at the Olympic Games in Amsterdam last summer, is the main eventer at the Orange County Athletic club here tonight. Tuzzolino, shown below, goes against Tommy Manzo.

Promoter Henry T. Foust and his associates believe they have such a strong assembly of cauliflowers that they can risk putting Fred Tegnovitz (Frankie Burns), a boy who was good enough to decision Zenaydo Chavez, in the curtain-raiser.

The show will feature Carmen Tuzzolino and Tommy Manzo, welterweights. On the card also are Young Terry, the "Whittier Whirlwind;" Herman Bundren, Frankie Boldt, "Bud" Couglar, Johnny D'Zaro, Jess Gabino and George Savage.

Tuzzolino, returning from Amsterdam where he won the world's welterweight championship for amateurs, took up boxing as a profession and became an overnight sensation. In four bouts at Hollywood and Los Angeles he has elevated himself from the rank and file of the preliminary boys to a station where the promoters come to him instead of his begging at their offices. The O. C. A. C. got him for this shot only because it had Tuzzolino under a contract that was signed two months ago.

Manzo's record is not an overly impressive one. He has been "taken" by a number of eager welters since his graduation from Arizona to California fisticuffs and he is quite likely to "go for a ride" again tonight. Tuzzolino, "bearing down," is too good for Manzo's kind.

Couglar and Gabino, the latter a Filipino, are both regarded as among the most promising of the season's "baby stars." They are fast, clever little fellows and figure to hold up their end of the show satisfactorily.

The evening's "local color" will be provided by Young Terry, the old Whittier warhorse, and Herman Bundren, a rugged middleweight who has been knocking them all stiff at Hollywood and Pasadena. Terry is one of those fellows hard to hit, harder to hurt and harder yet to beat. His style doesn't always please the critics but he keeps right on his serene way beating a lot of the good ones. If Bundren stops him, Bundren IS good.

Boldt and Savage clash in the second spot and Tegnovitz faces D'Zaro in the first bout, at 8:30 o'clock.

BEAR BOXERS WIN

PALO ALTO, March 1.—University of California boxers defeated Stanford mittmen, four bouts to three, in their annual meet here last night. Ed Dillon, Stanford, defeated the touted Ted Beckett, of California, in the heavy event.

S.A. On 1929 Schedule Of U.S.C. Frosh

Santa Ana junior college's football team will meet the University of Southern California freshmen eleven in the Los Angeles Coliseum on Saturday, September 28, 1929.

This will be the Trojan yearling's first game of the season. It probably will be the second for the Dons as Coach Bill Cook intends to arrange a non-conference scrimmage for the preceding Saturday.

The Santa Ana-U. S. C. freshmen game will be played as a curtain-raiser to the U. S. C. varsity-U. C. L. A. battle. Santa Ana played the Tro-Babes last fall and were badly beaten.

MIAMI TO HAVE BIG RING BOUT EVERY WINTER

By FRANK GETTY
(United Press Sports Editor)

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., March 1.—An entirely new field in boxing has been opened by the signing of a contract between Madison Square Garden and the city of Miami, calling for the promotion of an important heavyweight fight here each winter for the next five years.

Tex Rickard's maxim—that two big fistic spectacles a year are all the public will support—no longer will apply.

If the present heavyweight scramble produces a fighting champion, such as Jack Dempsey was in his prime, there is no reason why the title should not be defended winter and summer. In any event, at least 50 per cent has been added

'STUDENTS' OF BASEBALL WILL PLAY LEAGUERS

The first of Portland's 17 exhibition games at the Orange County Fair grounds will be played tomorrow afternoon. The National Baseball school, of Los Angeles, a creation of Johnny Bassler and Jess Orndorff, will be the opposition.

Regular and irregulars of Tom Turner's hired troupe have been in camp less than a week and are in none too good condition for this spot, or the one coming up Sunday with the Orange County Merchants, but they should have little trouble starting off their campaign here with a pair of victories.

Some of the pitchers and catchers have been working out long enough to get the kinks out of their arms and if Manager Bill Rodgers elects to use a few of his regular pitchers, which he is likely to do because there aren't many rookies eating off the Beavers anyway, they figure to breeze 'em down the alley too fast for the "students."

Fred Ortman, the seasoned young southpaw who has been in town more than a week and is beginning to round into shape, probably will do part of the slinging and "Ike" Powers, the right hander from the Athletics, is likely to get in for a few innings. Both these men have shown enough stuff to warrant their selection for the training camp opener.

Johnny Saunders is expected to start behind the log with Jim Kcesey at first base, Gale Staley at second, George Wuestling at short and Jimmy Cronin at third. The outfielders are pretty sure to be Art Jahn, Charley Bates and Dennie Williams, the only experienced flychasers on the Portland payroll.

Rodgers expects to work at least three pitchers, all of them going three frames.

Every Portlander is in camp now

LOW 8'S LOOM AS LATHROP WINNERS

The Low 8 section had such a lead in the annual Julia Lathrop junior high school interclass track meet today that it appeared virtually certain of victory as the teams went into the fourth and final afternoon of competition.

Miss Ruth Gordon's Low 8's have accumulated 48 1-3 points while Mrs. Donna Ward's H-8 section is second with 38, thanks to the 22 points contributed in the intermediate meet yesterday by Johnny Shinto. The Low 8's were expected to add to their lead in today's senior events.

Shinto won three first places, one second and one third. Crumley gave him hot competition in the dash. The results:

75-yard dash—Shinto first, Crumley second, Millard third, Cartwright fourth. Time, 9 2-5 sec.

High jump—Aguago first, Shinto second, Wilson third, Cartwright fourth. Height, 4 feet, 11 inches.

Broad jump—Shinto first, Crumley second, Proctor third, Aguayo fourth. Dist. 16 feet, 4 inches.

Shot put—Crumley first, Fenley second, Shinto third, Aguayo fourth. Dist. 34 feet.

Pole vault—Crumley first, Aguayo second, Shinto third, Fenley, Brown, Styring and Preston tied for fourth. Height, 8 feet, 8 inches.

75-yard low hurdles—Shinto first, Crumley second, Wilson third, Reed fourth. Time, 11 sec.

NETMEN BEGIN PLAY FOR REGISTER'S CUP

Pairings for the boys' non-letter-men tennis tournament have been announced at Santa Ana high school and 28 racquet wielders have begun their playoffs.

In the array of tennis players, good prospects for future net teams were discovered in the 13 sophomores and 10 juniors who signed up. The purpose of the tourney is to get out varsity material.

The winner of the meet will receive the beautiful Register perpetual cup. The winner of the winners and the winner of the losers will meet for the championship.

Parings follows:

Harold Berry vs. Merle Soden; Hideo Higashi vs. Bill Kistinger; Joe Streeper vs. Russell Sullivan; John Dunlap vs. H. C. Rutledge; Ed Miller vs. Algernon Howell; John Hadley vs. Kiyoshi Higashi; Walter Camp vs. Alfred Poulsen; Maxon Stull vs. Joe McKay; Ed Gaebe vs. Ed Bragg; Albert Copeland vs. Max Heine; Frank Mansur vs. Bill Wallingford; Walter Carrothers vs. Bruce Harding.

The following boys drew first round byes: Jack McFadden, Victor Brown, Russell Gerkin and Bill Otis.

MIAMI TO HAVE BIG BOUT EVERY WINTER

to the field of fight promotion.

The big arena across the bay in which Jack Sharkey defeated Young Stribling before 40,000 spectators Wednesday night is being taken down and brought to Miami, where it will be enlarged and reconstructed in preparation for next winter's heavyweight battle. W. F. Carey and his associates who built the arena are fortunate in being able to dispose of it for something other than kindling wood.

The arena will be placed on a 20-acre lot a few blocks from Biscayne bay. Its surroundings will lack something of the picturesqueness of Miami Beach, but will be better adapted to the handling of a large fight crowd.

It was not the Sharkey-Stribling fight itself which persuaded the directors of Madison Square Garden to enter into the five-year contract. It was the fun they had promoting the affair, if the truth were known.

The next heavyweight fight here, unless it involves the championship of the world, probably will not attract as many people as did the bout between Sharkey and Stribling. It is doubtful if Stribling will be one of the contenders next time, and equally doubtful if the South, disappointed in its young hero, would flock to the support of the Georgian as it did this week.

Then there is the question—what will Jack Dempsey be doing at this time in 1930? The ex-champion hardly will be fighting—although if he is that will solve all the problems of attendance and gate receipts.

If Jack accepts one of the many offers made him here since the fight the other night, he may be filling the role of promoter on behalf of others than the "600 millionaires." For Madison Square Garden to make the five-year enterprise successful, it will need a man like Dempsey, some one with the ex-champion's magnetism and popularity as a figurehead if not actually the director.

perience, they are among the best in the big top.

When it came time to sign their contracts this year, the Waners singly and collectively told Barney Dreyfuss that the amount offered wasn't enough. They wanted $35,000 between them and they intended holding out until they got it. If Dreyfuss saw fit to meet Paul's demands, Paul wouldn't sign until the boss dealt satisfactorily with Brother Lloyd. And the same held true with Brother Lloyd—Brother Paul had to be fixed up also before he would sign.

Paul batted .370 in 1928, running a close second to Rogers Hornsby for the league leadership. He led in runs scored, 141, and in two base hits, 51. The younger brother clubbed for a mark of .331, scored 121 runs and was a great little guy out in center field.

The Waner brothers know teamwork and, it seems a good bet that the boys will force more dough from the club coffers than they received last year.

BEARS, HUSKIES IN TITULAR CAGE GAME

SEATTLE, March 1.—Two undefeated basketball teams will meet here tonight to decide the championship of the Pacific Coast conference.

The Golden Bears from the University of California, who conquered all rivals in the Southern division of the conference, will meet the Huskies of the University of Washington, who made a similar record in winning the Northern division honors.

A second game will be played tomorrow night and if a third is necessary to determine the victor, it will be staged Monday.

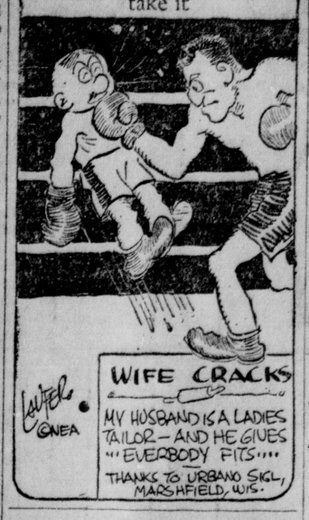
with the exception of Mack Hillis, the South Atlantic league third sacker. Hillis is on the way from Cambridge, Mass. He may arrive today.

President Turner will go to Paso Robles Tuesday to look over the Pittsburgh rookies. He expects to get a couple of players from the Bucs and want to scout them himself before transferring them to training camp here. The Pirates owe Portland some help in the Larry French deal.

STANFORD TO MEET DARTMOUTH IN 1930

PALO ALTO, March 1.—Forecasting termination of the home-and-home football agreement between Stanford university and West Point, another home-and-home game agreement between Dartmouth and Stanford was made public today.

The Dartmouth eleven will come here Nov. 29, 1930, and Stanford will journey East for a game Nov. 28, 1931.



SENIOR GIRLS CINCH SCHOOL HOCKEY FLAG

By trimming the strong juniors 2 to 0, the senior co-eds of Santa Ana high school captured the interclass championship yesterday.

The juniors were supposed to have had a big advantage because they beat the sophomores, 6 to 0, and the seniors barely won from the same team, 2 to 1. The going was hot at all times yesterday, but two scoring pokes by Marjory Walton and Wynette Allen gave the title to the upperclassmen.

The seniors have yet to play the sophs but can't loose the title, win or lose.

The lineup:

Seniors (2)	Pos.	(0) Juniors
Crane	RW	Hoffmaster
Hurd	RI	Reynolds
Tannenbaum	CF	Golden
Gregg	LI	Schilling
Allen (1)	LW	Riniker
Paterson	RH	Stark
Schade (c)	CH	Slabaugh
Swain	LH	Harbert
Martin	RB	Gillins
Early	LB	(c) Belger
Parsons	Goal	Hasenjaeger

Substitutions: Seniors—Walton (1) for Gregg; Ball for Barley. Juniors—Bailey for Reynolds; Birtcher for Riniker; Luck for Stark; Crowl for Slabaugh.

McLarnin, Glick Mix In New York

NEW YORK, March 1.—Jimmy McLarnin, baby-faced junior welter from Vancouver, B.C., fights Joe Glick, Brooklyn, at Madison Square Garden tonight.

McLarnin rules a favorite over the elusive Glick despite the fact that he found it very hard to bring himself below the 138 pound limit agreed upon. He was forced to take an extra wor[illegible] yesterday to lose two extra pounds but it is not thought that the effort cost him a great deal in strength.

Tonight's battle will be McLarnin's third with Glick. He won the decision in both previous bouts.

LEO CALLAND NAMED IDAHO GRID MENTOR

MOSCOW, Ida., March 1.—Leo B. Calland, former University of Southern California football star, has been appointed head football coach at University of Idaho, Dr. F. J. Kelly, president of the university, announced last night.

Calland has been for several years director of intramural athletics, varsity baseball, and freshman football coach at U. S. C. He will succeed Charles Erb, whose resignation becomes effective Sept. 1.

GARDEN GROVE

Mr. and Mrs. George Lewis were visitors in Los Angeles recently.

The Rev. and Mrs. J. M. Ocheltree and daughter, Helen, were dinner guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. O. O. Bragg Tuesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Holt, of Whittier, spent Sunday in the home of the former's brother, C. S. Holt.

Mrs. George Lewis and daughter, Mrs. Charles Hunt, of Anaheim, spent Thursday in Los Angeles.

The executive board of the Woman's Civic club met in the clubhouse Wednesday for the regular meeting.

A book review will be given in the home of Mrs. J. G. McCracken on Garden Grove boulevard near Fifth street Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. The following books will be reviewed: "The Case of St. Grischa," by Arnold Zweig; "Orlando," by Mrs. Virginia Woolf; "Commodore Vanderbilt," by A. D. H. Smith.

Mrs. Clarkson, of Santa Ana, will talk on "The Art of Story Telling" at the P.-T. A. meeting March 7 at 2:30 o'clock in the art room of the Washington school.

LOW 8'S LOOM AS LATHROP WINNERS

The Low 8 section had such a lead in the annual Julia Lathrop junior high school interclass track meet today that it appeared virtually certain of victory as the teams went into the fourth and final afternoon of competition.

Miss Ruth Gordon's Low 8's have accumulated 48 1-3 points while Mrs. Donna Ward's H-8 section is second with 38, thanks to the 22 points contributed in the intermediate meet yesterday by Johnny Shinto. The Low 8's were expected to add to their lead in today's senior events.

Shinto won three first places, one second and one third. Crumley gave him hot competition in the dash. The results:

75-yard dash—Shinto first, Crumley second, Millard third, Cartwright fourth. Time, 9 2-5 sec.

High jump—Aguago first, Shinto second, Wilson third, Cartwright fourth. Height, 4 feet, 11 inches.

Broad jump—Shinto first, Crumley second, Proctor third, Aguayo fourth. Dist. 16 feet, 4 inches.

Shot put—Crumley first, Fenley second, Shinto third, Aguayo fourth. Dist. 34 feet.

Pole vault—Crumley first, Aguayo second, Shinto third, Fenley, Brown, Styring and Preston tied for fourth. Height, 8 feet, 8 inches.

75-yard low hurdles—Shinto first, Crumley second, Wilson third, Reed fourth. Time, 11 sec.

NETMEN BEGIN PLAY FOR REGISTER'S CUP

Pairings for the boys' non-lettermen tennis tournament have been announced at Santa Ana high school and 28 racquet wielders have begun their playoffs.

In the array of tennis players, good prospects for future net teams were discovered in the 13 sophomores and 10 juniors who signed up. The purpose of the tourney is to get out varsity material.

The winner of the meet will receive the beautiful Register perpetual cup. The winner of the winners and the winner of the losers will meet for the championship.

Parings follows:

Harold Berry vs. Merle Soden; Hideo Higashi vs. Bill Kistinger; Joe Streeper vs. Russell Sullivan; John Dunlap vs. H. C. Rutledge; Ed Miller vs. Algernon Howell; John Hadley vs. Kiyoshi Higashi; Walter Camp vs. Alfred Poulsen; Maxon Stull vs. Joe McKay; Ed Gaebe vs. Ed Bragg; Albert Copeland vs. Max Heine; Frank Mansur vs. Bill Wallingford; Walter Carrothers vs. Bruce Harding.

The following boys drew first round byes: Jack McFadden, Victor Brown, Russell Gerkin and Bill Otis.

to the field of fight promotion.

The big arena across the bay in which Jack Sharkey defeated Young Stribling before 40,000 spectators Wednesday night is being taken down and brought to Miami, where it will be enlarged and reconstructed in preparation for next winter's heavyweight battle. W. F. Carey and his associates who built the arena are fortunate in being able to dispose of it for something other than kindling wood.

The arena will be placed on a 20-acre lot a few blocks from Biscayne bay. Its surroundings will lack something of the picturesqueness of Miami Beach, but will be better adapted to the handling of a large fight crowd.

It was not the Sharkey-Stribling fight itself which persuaded the directors of Madison Square Garden to enter into the five-year contract. It was the fun they had promoting the affair, if the truth were known.

The next heavyweight fight here, unless it involves the championship of the world, probably will not attract as many people as did the bout between Sharkey and Stribling. It is doubtful if Stribling will be one of the contenders next time, and equally doubtful if the South, disappointed in its young hero, would flock to the support of the Georgian as it did this week.

Then there is the question—what will Jack Dempsey be doing at this time in 1930? The ex-champion hardly will be fighting—although if he is that will solve all the problems of attendance and gate receipts.

If Jack accepts one of the many offers made him here since the fight the other night, he may be filling the role of promoter on behalf of others than the "600 millionaires." For Madison Square Garden to make the five-year enterprise successful, it will need a man like Dempsey, some one with the ex-champion's magnetism and popularity as a figurehead if not actually the director.

perience, they are among the best in the big top.

When it came time to sign their contracts this year, the Waners singly and collectively told Barney Dreyfuss that the amount offered wasn't enough. They wanted $35,000 between them and they intended holding out until they got it. If Dreyfuss saw fit to meet Paul's demands, Paul wouldn't sign until the boss dealt satisfactorily with Brother Lloyd. And the same held true with Brother Lloyd—Brother Paul had to be fixed up also before he would sign.

Paul batted .370 in 1928, running a close second to Rogers Hornsby for the league leadership. He led in runs scored, 141, and in two base hits, 51. The younger brother clubbed for a mark of .331, scored 121 runs and was a great little guy out in center field.

The Waner brothers know teamwork and, it seems a good bet that the boys will force more dough from the club coffers than they received last year.

BEARS, HUSKIES IN TITULAR CAGE GAME

SEATTLE, March 1.—Two undefeated basketball teams will meet here tonight to decide the championship of the Pacific Coast conference.

The Golden Bears from the University of California, who conquered all rivals in the Southern division of the conference, will meet the Huskies of the University of Washington, who made a similar record in winning the Northern division honors.

A second game will be played tomorrow night and if a third is necessary to determine the victor, it will be staged Monday.

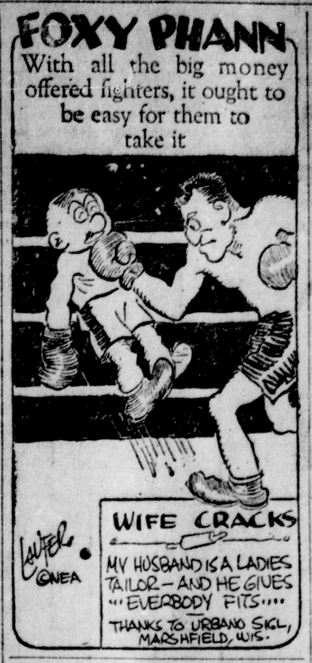
STANFORD TO MEET DARTMOUTH IN 1930

PALO ALTO, March 1.—Forecasting termination of the home-and-home football agreement between Stanford university and West Point, another home-and-home game agreement between Dartmouth and Stanford was made public today.

The Dartmouth eleven will come here Nov. 29, 1930, and Stanford will journey East for a game Nov. 28, 1931.



SENIOR GIRLS CINCH SCHOOL HOCKEY FLAG

By trimming the strong juniors 2 to 0, the senior co-eds of Santa Ana high school captured the interclass championship yesterday.

The juniors were supposed to have had a big advantage because they beat the sophomores, 6 to 0, and the seniors barely won from the same team, 2 to 1. The going was hot at all times yesterday, but two scoring pokes by Marjory Walton and Wynette Allen gave the title to the upperclassmen.

The seniors have yet to play the sophs but can't loose the title, win or lose.

The lineup:

Seniors (2)	Pos.	(0) Juniors
Crane	RW	Hoffmaster
Hurd	RI	Reynolds
Tannenbaum	CF	Golden
Gregg	LI	Schilling
Allen (1)	LW	Riniker
Paterson	RH	Stark
Schade (c)	CH	Slabaugh
Swain	LH	Harbert
Martin	RB	Gillins

Parsons	Goal	Hasenjaeger

Substitutions: Seniors—Walton (1) for Gregg; Ball for Barley. Juniors—Bailey for Reynolds; Birtcher for Riniker; Luck for Stark; Crowl for Slabaugh.

McLarnin, Glick Mix In New York

NEW YORK, March 1.—Jimmy McLarnin, baby-faced junior welter from Vancouver, B.C., fights Joe Glick, Brooklyn, at Madison Square Garden tonight.

McLarnin rules a favorite over the elusive Glick despite the fact that he found it very hard to bring himself below the 138 pound limit agreed upon. He was forced to take an extra workout yesterday to lose two extra pounds but it is not thought that the effort cost him a great deal in strength.

Tonight's battle will be McLarnin's third with Glick. He won the decision in both previous bouts.

LEO CALLAND NAMED IDAHO GRID MENTOR

MOSCOW, Ida., March 1.—Leo B. Calland, former University of Southern California football star, has been appointed head football coach at University of Idaho, Dr. F. J. Kelly, president of the university, announced last night.

Calland has been for several years director of intramural athletics, varsity baseball, and freshman football coach at U. S. C. He will succeed Charles Erb, whose resignation becomes effective Sept. 1.

DEATH PENALTY FOR KIDNAPERS GIVEN SUPPORT

SACRAMENTO, March 1.—(UP)—Death on the gallows for all kidnapers, and arrest as vagrants of all persons loitering about schools of playgrounds in California.

These measures represent the California state legislature's answer to the Hickman outrage, and the recent kidnaping of 4-year-old Doris Virginia Murphy in San Francisco.

Drastic measures to curb the increase of kidnaping in this state are imperative, it is declared by Assemblyman Emory J. Murphy of Los Angeles, author of the bill to invoke the death penalty on kidnapers. Assemblyman Frederick M. Roberts, also of Los Angeles, is sponsor of the bill aimed at vagrants in the vicinity of school grounds.

Kidnaping under the present California law, is punishable by not less than 10 years imprisonment. Assemblyman Murphy's bill would subject all persons who kidnap children for purposes of extortion, robbery, assault and battery, or any felony, to pay for their crime by death or imprisonment for life.

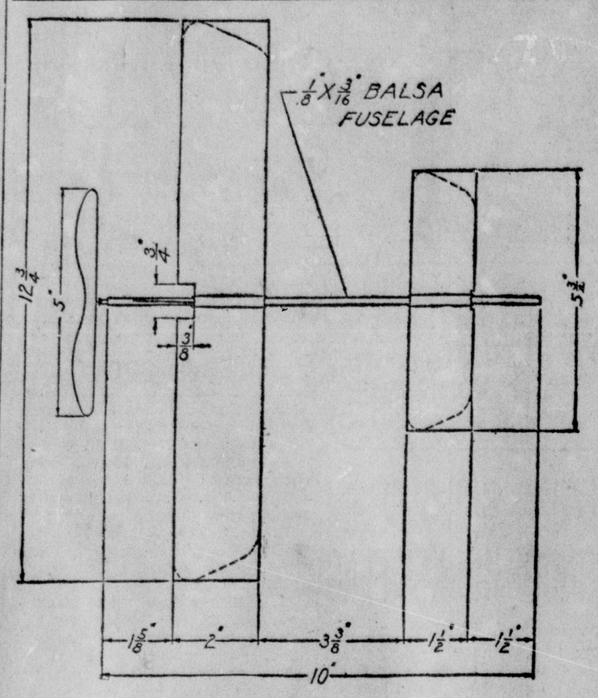
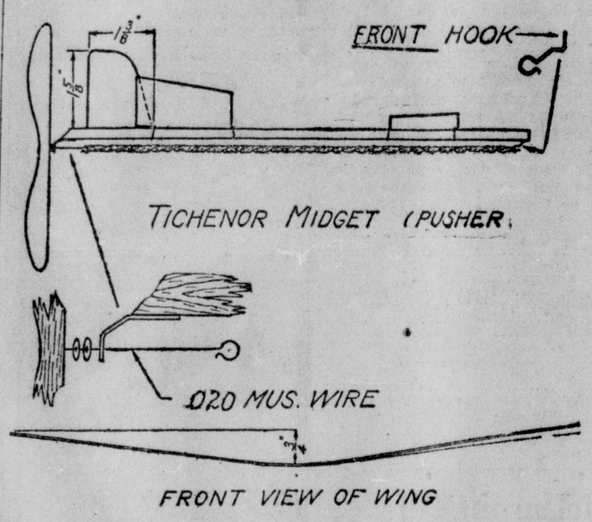
TICHENOR MODEL DETAILS

The diagram in the upper drawing shows detail of wing, elevator and motor stick of the Tichenor midget glider. Study them carefully before starting to work. The lower drawing shows a side view of the all-wood pusher, wtih more constructin details. The front view of the wing shows "washin" on the right side—the leading edge is bent upward.





Here Are Instructions For Building Model Pusher Type Airplane

Here is the second of The Register's articles on airplane model building. Mr. Hamburg, airplane model expert, is not only going to tell you how to build and fly the pusher—he's going to answer your questions on plane construction. When you're up against a knotty problem, write to him and he'll help you solve it. Send the question, with a two-cent stamp for answer, to him at League headquarters, American Boy building, Second and Lafayette boulevards, Detroit, Michigan.

BY MERRILL HAMBURG

Secretary, Airplane Model League of America

(Copyright, 1929, by The American Boy Magazine, Detroit)

When Wilbur and Orville Wright made their first successful airplane, more than twenty-five years ago, it was a "pusher"—the propellers were behind the wings. Today the Register is going to tell members of the Airplane Model League of America how to build a corking little model pusher—one that embodies many of the principles the Wrights so carefully worked into their machine.

Last week boys and girls of Santa Ana learned through this paper how to make an all-wood glider. The pusher is much like it in principle and construction—all major parts are of wood, and they are put together in much the same way. But it has a propeller and a rubber motor, and it soars for many seconds.

And the young aeronaut who successfully builds and flies it is doing the best job he can to prepare himself to construct the more complicated models the Register is going to describe later in the spring. More than that. He's getting himself ready for the official contests to be conducted locally by The Register and 20-20 club and nationally in Detroit in June by The American Boy magazine, co-sponsor with this paper of the A. M. L. A.

Get Busy Now!

The chances are that the builder who starts with this pusher will eventually win the trip to Detroit. So get busy now!

First, materials. The Tichenor Midget (the pusher is named after Frank A. Tichenor, a vice-president of the League and publisher of the Aero Digest) has balsa wing and elevator, motor stick, rudder (fin), and propeller. The motor is 1-8 inch flat rubber, 22 inches long. Metal parts are made of .020 music wire, with the exception of the thrust bearing, which is slightly heavier.

Perhaps you're already equipped with these materials, for they're all included in the special League all-wood kit, which lots of local League members obtained last week to build the glider. It contains everything from ready-made propeller to delicate wire parts. If you haven't the kit, you can get it by sending 65 cents in check or money order to the Supply Department, A. M. L. A., American Boy Building, Second and Lafayette Boulevards, Detroit, Michigan. Henry's Cycle shop, 427 West Fourth street, also will handle the kits.

You'll get with the kit the A. M. L. A. manual—an invaluable help to model builders. It tells how to bend balsa, how to carve a propeller, how to do all the things an expert model builder must know. It can be obtained separately for five cents, from League Headquarters.

Motor Stick First

Once you have the materials, you're ready to start. The motor stick should get your first attention—sand it and carve it down to the exact size shown in the diagram. It will be 1-8x3-16x10 inches when you've finished. Now cut the fin from a piece of flat balsa 1-32-inch thick. Note the dimensions carefully. Glue the fin onto the rear end of the motor stick—for greater strength some builders prefer to carve a tiny groove in the stick to receive the fin. Be sure that it is set at a slight angle, so that it will cause the plane to circle when you've finished it. The diagram gives you the angle and position of the fin.

Cement the front hook to the under side of the fuselage, and the thrust bearing to the rear end—again the drawing shows you how. Now take your propeller—already prepared and drilled if you're using the League kit, but a job you'll have to do according to the directions in the Manual if you're not—and insert the propeller shaft. Notice that, since the model is a pusher, the shaft goes through from the straight leading edge. Be very certain that the propeller shaft is straight; otherwise your prop will wabble and upset the balance of the plane. And make sure that the prop itself is sanded as fine as you can make it—light should show through it when you hold it before a window.

When the shaft is through the prop, bend the projecting end back upon itself in a U and push the U so that the short end locks itself in the prop. Ambroid the prop lightly all around its hub for strength. After it is dry, put the two small brass washers on the shaft, slip the shaft through the eye in the bearing, and you may hook the two-strand motor to the front hook and the shaft.

Wing, Elevator Simple

The wing and elevator, respectively 1-32-inch and 1-64-inch thick, are simple. Both are flat balsa, of the dimensions shown on the diagram, bent into a dihedral angle at the center. A jet of steam from the tea kettle in your kitchen will make the balsa pliable, if you hold it in the steam for some minutes; then you can bend it to the desired angle and allow it to dry and stiffen.

You must cut a notch 318 by 3-4 inch in the wing's trailing edge. This allows it to fit snug against the rudder.

If you are an expert builder, you'll give the wing "washin" and "washout." To give the right wing washin, as you look at the model from the front, bend the leading edge up; to give the left wing washout, bent its leading edge down. The moisture in your breath will soften the wood and make it bend to the position you want.

Fasten the wing and elevator to the motor stick with two rubber bands. And you're ready to take off!

First, glide the plane several times to find the right adjustment of the wing and elevator. When you get an easy, loafing glide, give the propeller 150 turns, counter-clockwise. Hold the fuselage in the right hand, the prop in the left; when you're ready, release the prop and give the plane a gentle push forward.

Then watch her fly!

Sometimes Erratic

The pusher type of plane is sometimes erratic, but there are a number of ways of overcoming balkiness. One is the use of washin and washout—these counteract the torque, or twist, the whirling propeller gives to the machine. Wing-setting is another.

You can have a whale of a lot of pleasure with the Tichenor Midget. You can fly it, if it's carefully made, for as long as 60 seconds; 30 seconds is a good flight, and will win an official honor certificate from league headquarters if you send in a record of the flight approved by an adult who saw it, together with 10 cents to cover issuing and mailing the certificate.

What's more, you can teach yourself th efundamentals of model building and of aviation by making it perform properly. And you'll be getting ready to get to work on the next plane in The Register's series—the High-climb R. O. G. This ship is a corker—a model with balsa frame but Japanese tissue covered wings. It zooms like an army pursuit ship—your club can have high-climbing contests with it as well as endurance trials. And it's small enough so that you won't need a big room to fly it in. An ordinary parlor will do.

So watch for next week's article.

DEATH PENALTY FOR KIDNAPERS GIVEN SUPPORT

SACRAMENTO, March 1.—(UP)—Death on the gallows for all kidnapers, and arrest as vagrants of all persons loitering about schools of playgrounds in California.

These measures represent the California state legislature's answer to the Hickman outrage, and the recent kidnaping of 4-year-old Doris Virginia Murphy in San Francisco.

Drastic measures to curb the increase of kidnaping in this state are imperative, it is declared by Assemblyman Emory J. Murphy of Los Angeles, author of the bill to invoke the death penalty on kidnapers. Assemblyman Frederick M. Roberts, also of Los Angeles, is sponsor of the bill aimed at vagrants in the vicinity of school grounds.

Kidnaping under the present California law, is punishable by not less than 10 years imprisonment. Assemblyman Murphy's bill would subject all persons who kidnap children for purposes of extortion, robbery, assault and battery, or any felony, to pay for their crime by death or imprisonment for life.

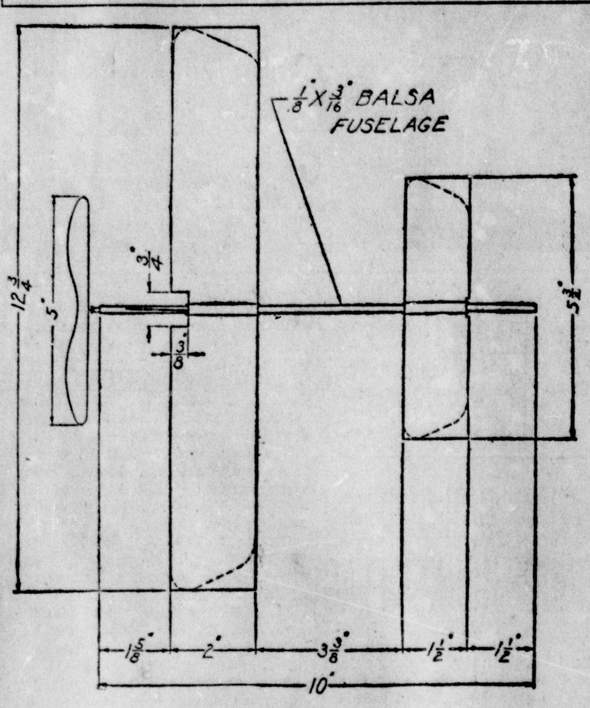
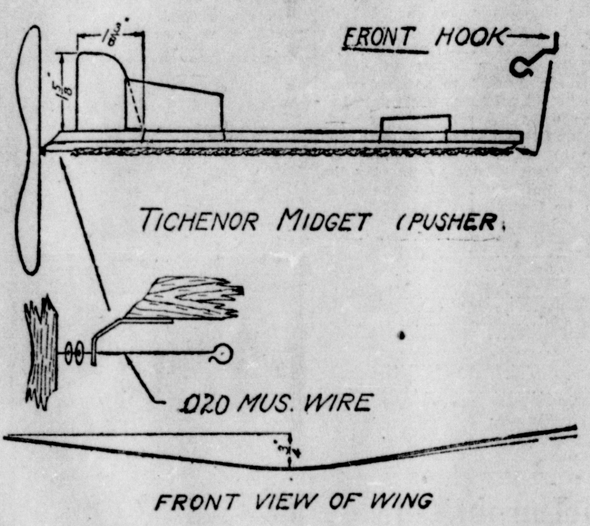
TICHENOR MODEL DETAILS

The diagram in the upper drawing shows detail of wing, elevator and motor stick of the Tichenor midget glider. Study them carefully before starting to work. The lower drawing shows a side view of the all-wood pusher, wtih more constructin details. The front view of the wing shows "washin" on the right side—the leading edge is bent upward.





Here Are Instructions For Building Model Pusher Type Airplane

Here is the second of The Register's articles on airplane model building. Mr. Hamburg, airplane model expert, is not only going to tell you how to build and fly the pusher—he's going to answer your questions on plane construction. When you're up against a knotty problem, write to him and he'll help you solve it. Send the question, with a two-cent stamp for answer, to him at League headquarters, American Boy building, Second and Lafayette boulevards, Detroit, Michigan.

BY MERRILL HAMBURG

Secretary, Airplane Model League of America

(Copyright, 1929, by The American Boy Magazine, Detroit)

When Wilbur and Orville Wright made their first successful airplane, more than twenty-five years ago, it was a "pusher"—the propellers were behind the wings. Today the Register is going to tell members of the Airplane Model League of America how to build a corking little model pusher—one that embodies many of the principles the Wrights so carefully worked into their machine.

Last week boys and girls of Santa Ana learned through this paper how to make an all-wood glider. The pusher is much like it in principle and construction—all major parts are of wood, and they are put together in much the same way. But it has a propeller and a rubber motor, and it soars for many seconds.

And the young aeronaut who successfully builds and flies it is doing the best job he can to prepare himself to construct the more complicated models the Register is going to describe later in the spring. More than that. He's getting himself ready for the official contests to be conducted locally by The Register and 20-20 club and nationally in Detroit in June by The American Boy magazine, co-sponsor with this paper of the A. M. L. A.

Get Busy Now!

The chances are that the builder who starts with this pusher will eventually win the trip to Detroit. So get busy now!

First, materials. The Tichenor Midget (the pusher is named after Frank A. Tichenor, a vice-president of the League and publisher of the Aero Digest) has balsa wing and elevator, motor stick, rudder (fin), and propeller. The motor is 1-8 inch flat rubber, 22 inches long. Metal parts are made of .020 music wire, with the exception of the thrust bearing, which is slightly heavier.

Perhaps you're already equipped with these materials, for they're all included in the special League all-wood kit, which lots of local League members obtained last week to build the glider. It contains everything from ready-made propeller to delicate wire parts. If you haven't the kit, you can get it by sending 65 cents in check or money order to the Supply Department, A. M. L. A., American Boy Building, Second and Lafayette Boulevards, Detroit, Michigan. Henry's Cycle shop, 427 West Fourth street, also will handle the kits.

You'll get with the kit the A. M. L. A. manual—an invaluable help to model builders. It tells how to bend balsa, how to carve a propeller, how to do all the things an expert model builder must know. It can be obtained separately for five cents, from League Headquarters.

Motor Stick First

Once you have the materials, you're ready to start. The motor stick should get your first attention—sand it and carve it down to the exact size shown in the diagram. It will be 1-8x3-16x10 inches when you've finished. Now cut the fin from a piece of flat balsa 1-32-inch thick. Note the dimensions carefully. Glue the fin onto the rear end of the motor stick—for greater strength some builders prefer to carve a tiny groove in the stick to receive the fin. Be sure that it is set at a slight angle, so that it will cause the plane to circle when you've finished it. The diagram gives you the angle and position of the fin.

Cement the front hook to the under side of the fuselage, and the thrust bearing to the rear end—again the drawing shows you how. Now take your propeller—already prepared and drilled if you're using the League kit, but a job you'll have to do according to the directions in the Manual if you're not—and insert the propeller shaft. Notice that, since the model is a pusher, the shaft goes through from the straight leading edge. Be very certain that the propeller shaft is straight; otherwise your prop will wabble and upset the balance of the plane. And make sure that the prop itself is sanded as fine as you can make it—light should show through it when you hold it before a window.

When the shaft is through the prop, bend the projecting end back upon itself in a U and push the U so that the short end locks itself in the prop. Ambroid the prop lightly all around its hub for strength. After it is dry, put the two small brass washers on the shaft, slip the shaft through the eye in the bearing, and you may hook the two-strand motor to the front hook and the shaft.

Wing, Elevator Simple

The wing and elevator, respectively 1-32-inch and 1-64-inch thick, are simple. Both are flat balsa, of the dimensions shown on the diagram, bent into a dihedral angle at the center. A jet of steam from the tea kettle in your kitchen will make the balsa pliable, if you hold it in the steam for some minutes; then you can bend it to the desired angle and allow it to dry and stiffen.

You must cut a notch 3/8 by 3-4 inch in the wing's trailing edge. This allows it to fit snug against the rudder.

If you are an expert builder, you'll give the wing "washin" and "washout." To give the right wing washin, as you look at the model from the front, bend the leading edge up; to give the left wing washout, bent its leading edge down. The moisture in your breath will soften the wood and make it bend to the position you want.

Fasten the wing and elevator to the motor stick with two rubber bands. And you're ready to take off!

First, glide the plane several times to find the right adjustment of the wing and elevator. When you get an easy, loafing glide, give the propeller 150 turns, counter-clockwise. Hold the fuselage in the right hand, the prop in the left; when you're ready, release the prop and give the plane a gentle push forward.

Then watch her fly!

Sometimes Erratic

The pusher type of plane is sometimes erratic, but there are a number of ways of overcoming balkiness. One is the use of washin and washout—these counteract the torque, or twist, the whirling propeller gives to the machine. Wing-setting is another.

You can have a whale of a lot of pleasure with the Tichenor Midget. You can fly it, if it's carefully made, for as long as 60 seconds; 30 seconds is a good flight, and will win an official honor certificate from league headquarters if you send in a record of the flight approved by an adult who saw it, together with 10 cents to cover issuing and mailing the certificate.

What's more, you can teach yourself th efundamentals of model building and of aviation by making it perform properly. And you'll be getting ready to get to work on the next plane in The Register's series—the High-climb R. O. G. This ship is a corker—a model with balsa frame but Japanese tissue covered wings. It zooms like an army pursuit ship—your club can have high-climbing contests with it as well as endurance trials. And it's small enough so that you won't need a big room to fly it in. An ordinary parlor will do.

So watch for next week's article.

Benefits Of Seal Beach-Long Beach Merger Outlined

ACTION ON BILL IS DEFERRED BY CHAMBER BODY

With assertion by W. D. Miller, Seal Beach banker, that failure of the legislature to adopt a bill providing for annexation by a municipality of incorporated and unincorporated territory lying in an adjoining county, would throttle development in Seal Beach, the Associated Chambers of Commerce, meeting in Costa Mesa, last night, deferred action on the report of the legislative committee recommending that the county board not indorse the bill.

Miller requested that opportunity be given residents of Seal Beach to meet with the committee and explain conditions that make adoption of the bill most imperative. The committee and Seal Beach residents will meet in the farm bureau office, in this city, at 3 p.m., March 15.

Miller asserted that water is being served Seal Beach by Long Beach and he announced that Long Beach now is developing plans for a major sewer system for the district immediately west of the county line. He pointed out that unless it is made possible for his home city to avail itself of the sewer facilities Long Beach has to offer, it would be necessary for Seal Beach to install a sewer system of its own.

Heavy Burden Seen

Miller asserted that the cost of a sewer system would not only entail an extremely heavy burden on the community, but force an outlet to the ocean with resultant pollution along the county shoreline in the vicinity of Seal Beach and Huntington Beach.

"Projects that will mean added wealth to Orange county are dependent upon success of the bill pending in the state legislature," Miller said. He added that there is no intention on the part of Seal Beach to withdraw from Orange county.

Only three of the recommendations of the legislative committee got by with approval of the chambers. The committee recommended approval of the bill 822, prohibiting the carrying of passengers to a gambling ship; bill 510, for taxing intangibles, and the Newport Beach and Placentia school bills, and the committee report was accepted as to these.

The address of welcome was made by Dr. J. W. Wherry, of Costa Mesa, who deferred to that section as the Geneva of Orange county. He pointed out that Costa Mesa seems to be the point to which the Associated Chambers go when settlement is to be made on important county projects in which serious differences in opinion prevail.

Winthrop Bowen, of Placentia, made the response.

Mrs. Florence Merrill, member of the Friday Afternoon club, of Costa Mesa, revealed plans the club has for beautifying the Southern Pacific right-of-way through the community and asked assistance from the county to the extent of putting certain plots in condition for planting. Her request was referred to the park committee.

Win Orange Show Prize

Reporting for the advertising committee, Dr. F. W. Slabaugh revealed that Orange county had won a cash prize of $400 for its exhibit at the National Orange show, in San Bernardino.

Tom Pickerill, of the planning committee, disclosed that plans are being made for a meeting of the committee in Santa Ana some time this month, at which George H. Diggs, director of regional planning in Los Angeles, will be the principal speaker.

H. E. Wahlberg, for the agricultural committee, commented on the report of 1928 returns from agriculture as compiled by County Horticultural Commissioner A. A. Brock and printed in The Register last night. He announced that attendance at the recent short course for citrus growers at Anaheim was the largest in the history of the courses in California.

J. A. Smiley, chairman of the good roads committee, said that progress is being made in the development of plans for a viaduct at Three Arches, on the Newport Beach boulevard.

H. A. Lake, for the educational committee, said that amendments had been prepared to the junior college bill, making it possible for creation of a union junior college district. Painting out that there are seven high school districts within the proposed junior college district for the south half of the county, Lake said that provision is made that not more than two members from any one district may serve on the board of trustees.

An excellent dinner was prepared and served by the members of the Costa Mesa Woman's club, the meeting being held in the Women's clubhouse.

The Bell Telephone Company of Canada, operating in the provinces of Ontario and Quebec, plans to spend the sum of $7,000,000 on extending long distance lines during 1929.

SHE'LL WED VILLAGE SMITHY

RELIGION'S AIM IS SUBJECT OF DR. R. C. BROOKS

The announcement that Dr. Raymond C. Brooks, of Pomona college, was to speak drew a large and appreciative audience to the First Congregational church last night. In the audience were former parishioners of the time when Dr. Brooks was a Congregational pastor.

Former students also availed themselves of the opportunity to again hear and meet a greatly respected teacher.

Dr. Brooks is at the head of the department of religion in Pomona college. He is to give a series of four Lenten addresses on four Thursday nights of Lent in the First Congregational church of this city. The address last night was the first of the series. The topic of the first address was "The Place of Religion in Our Modern World."

The speaker briefly outlined the world of today as he saw it—a world in which science and the scientific spirit have come to stay. "It is the business of religion," said Dr. Brooks, "to build great cathedral souls in the kind of a world in which we live.

"It is the further business of religion," he continued, "to make ethical transformations in this world in which we live." He indicated some of the transformations which he believed ought to be made. Ridding the world of war and Christianizing industrial relations he considered to be the two major transformations that were needed. He further said that it was the business of religion to "give a conception of personality which is definitely and permanently alive with spiritual values. Religion must restate personality in terms that can dominate the minds of men."

Dr. Brooks also thought it the business of religion to promote democracy. "The churches have not discovered the meaning of democracy so far as religion is concerned.

"Religion is rubbish," declared Dr. Brooks, "unless it can do these things."

EXPERIENCE OF U. S. MARINES IN CHINA RELATED

Interesting details of his experiences while in China with the marines were told members of the Lions club yesterday by Capt. Leland Swindler, who returned to California recently with Gen. Smedley Butler in advance of the return of other units of marines.

The captain related that units of his organization were sent to Tien Tsin to protect foreigners and that he was with the transport organization. He pointed out detailed arrangements for getting foreigners out of the city in case there was necessity and, in a sense, expressed regret that opportunity was not given for attempting execution of the program, which involved the assembling of transportation equipment owned by private individuals in the city. The speaker asserted that the purposes of the marine branch of Uncle Sam's fighting forces were greatly misunderstood by the general public and he pointed out that it was at once a fighting and educational branch.

"We fight where fighting is necessary and we instruct when situations offer opportunity for this work," said the captain, in pointing out that in China and in other countries the marines had been of service in directing and assisting in the building of highways and assisting in other pursuits of a peaceful nature."

Captain Swindler is an old college mate of President Walter S. Spicer, of the Lions club.

EL MODENA

EL MODENA, Mar. 1.—The El Modena Woman's Christian Temperance union held a called meeting in the home of Mrs. Clara Jones Monday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Hill and Mrs. Lois Wilson, of South Pasadena; Mr. and Mrs. Carl Warner and son, Ernest, of Santa Ana; Mrs. Henrietta Reep, of Alpaugh, and Miss May Wisner, of Orange, were Sunday dinner guests in the W. A. Settle home.

Miss Henrietta Settle returned Sunday from a few days visit in South Pasadena in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Hill.

Miss Catherine Wood spent the week end at home with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Wood. Miss Catherine is a student at U. S. C.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Hancock and guest, the Rev. William Cox, of Birmingham, England, and Mrs. T. S. Stallard, of Orange, attended the orange show last week.

Mrs. Hattie McPherson Sailor, of Santa Monica, is a guest this week in the home of R. W. Jones. Mrs. Sailor is a former resident of this locality.

Register Carriers Working Hard So They May Make Catalina Trip

More of the hustling young Register carriers are shown above. All of these chaps either have won or have but one or two subscriptions to secure before they will be ready to include themselves with that joyful group of boy guests of The Register on The Register's Catalina excursion, which will be held some time between April 1 and 15.

Through the effort of the Register carriers from January 1 to the present time, over 500 subscriptions have been secured. The Register has more subscribers today in the city of Santa Ana than it has had at any time since the beginning of this contest.

With but one month before that great Catalina trip, the boys' excitement and anxiety has mounted with the number of new subscribers. The majority of the boys have their quota entitling them to this prize. Many winners are busy deciding whether to take their brother, sister or friend with them, for they have more than enough subscriptions for themselves. Provision has been made for additional boy and girl guests of the carriers who secure five subscriptions over their quota.

Is your carrier among this group? If he is, see him and mention Catalina and watch him grin—he is more than grateful for your help.

The boys above and their routes are as follows:

First in top row, Marion Hixon, route 8; carries 500-900 N. Baker, 1000-1200 W. Eighth, 500 to end N. Shelton, 900-1100 W. Sixth, all of N. Towner.

BACKS RETURNS FROM COUNTY CLERKS' MEET

County Clerk J. M. Backs returned yesterday from Sacramento where he attended a two-day annual convention of county clerks, at which Gov. C. C. Young was a welcoming speaker on the first day.

The convention devoted a large part of its time to analysis of bills pertaining to the county clerks' offices, which have been placed before the legislature.

On Tuesday night they held their annual banquet, at which Frank Jordan, secretary of state, was the toastmaster. Jordan formerly was county clerk of Alameda county. The principal speaker was Senator Slater, the blind solon, whose abilities and achievements have commanded the respect of the whole legislature. Senator Fellon also talked.

In his opening address on Monday, Governor Young expressed his appreciation of the work being done by county clerks throughout the state. On the first day Senator Merriam, of Long Beach; H. D. Dunbar and Attorney Bennett, of the commission were speakers.

Benefits Of Seal Beach-Long Beach Merger Outlined

ACTION ON BILL IS DEFERRED BY CHAMBER BODY

With assertion by W. D. Miller, Seal Beach banker, that failure of the legislature to adopt a bill providing for annexation by a municipality of incorporated and unincorporated territory lying in an adjoining county, would throttle development in Seal Beach, the Associated Chambers of Commerce, meeting in Costa Mesa, last night, deferred action on the report of the legislative committee recommending that the county board not indorse the bill.

Miller requested that opportunity be given residents of Seal Beach to meet with the committee and explain conditions that make adoption of the bill most imperative. The committee and Seal Beach residents will meet in the farm bureau office, in this city, at 3 p.m., March 15.

Miller asserted that water is being served Seal Beach by Long Beach and he announced that Long Beach now is developing plans for a major sewer system for the district immediately west of the county line. He pointed out that unless it is made possible for his home city to avail itself of the sewer facilities Long Beach has to offer, it would be necessary for Seal Beach to install a sewer system of its own.

Heavy Burden Seen

Miller asserted that the cost of a sewer system would not only entail an extremely heavy burden on the community, but force an outlet to the ocean with resultant pollution along the county shoreline in the vicinity of Seal Beach and Huntington Beach.

"Projects that will mean added wealth to Orange county are dependent upon success of the bill pending in the state legislature," Miller said. He added that there is no intention on the part of Seal Beach to withdraw from Orange county.

Only three of the recommendations of the legislative committee got by with approval of the chambers. The committee recommended approval of the bill 822, prohibiting the carrying of passengers to a gambling ship; bill 510, for taxing intangibles, and the Newport Beach and Placentia school bills, and the committee report was accepted as to these.

The address of welcome was made by Dr. J. W. Wherry, of Costa Mesa, who deferred to that section as the Geneva of Orange county. He pointed out that Costa Mesa seems to be the point to which the Associated Chambers go when settlement is to be made on important county projects in which serious differences in opinion prevail.

Winthrop Bowen, of Placentia, made the response.

Mrs. Florence Merrill, member of the Friday Afternoon club, of Costa Mesa, revealed plans the club has for beautifying the Southern Pacific right-of-way through the community and asked assistance from the county to the extent of putting certain plots in condition for planting. Her request was referred to the park committee.

Win Orange Show Prize

Reporting for the advertising committee, Dr. F. W. Slabaugh revealed that Orange county had won a cash prize of $400 for its exhibit at the National Orange show, in San Bernardino.

Tom Pickerill, of the planning committee, disclosed that plans are being made for a meeting of the committee in Santa Ana some time this month, at which George H. Diggs, director of regional planning in Los Angeles, will be the principal speaker.

H. E. Wahlberg, for the agricultural committee, commented on the report of 1928 returns from agriculture as compiled by County Horticultural Commissioner A. A. Brock and printed in The Register last night. He announced that attendance at the recent short course for citrus growers at Anaheim was the largest in the history of the courses in California.

J. A. Smiley, chairman of the good roads committee, said that progress is being made in the development of plans for a viaduct at Three Arches, on the Newport Beach boulevard.

H. A. Lake, for the educational committee, said that amendments had been prepared to the junior college bill, making it possible for creation of a union junior college district. Painting out that there are seven high school districts within the proposed junior college district for the south half of the county, Lake said that provision is made that not more than two members from any one district may serve on the board of trustees.

An excellent dinner was prepared and served by the members of the Costa Mesa Woman's club, the meeting being held in the Women's clubhouse.

The Bell Telephone Company of Canada, operating in the provinces of Ontario and Quebec, plans to spend the sum of $7,000,000 on extending long distance lines during 1929.

SHE'LL WED VILLAGE SMITHY

RELIGION'S AIM IS SUBJECT OF DR. R. C. BROOKS

The announcement that Dr. Raymond C. Brooks, of Pomona college, was to speak drew a large and appreciative audience to the First Congregational church last night. In the audience were former parishioners of the time when Dr. Brooks was a Congregational pastor.

Former students also availed themselves of the opportunity to again hear and meet a greatly respected teacher.

Dr. Brooks is at the head of the department of religion in Pomona college. He is to give a series of four Lenten addresses on four Thursday nights of Lent in the First Congregational church of this city. The address last night was the first of the series. The topic of the first address was "The Place of Religion in Our Modern World."

The speaker briefly outlined the world of today as he saw it—a world in which science and the scientific spirit have come to stay. "It is the business of religion," said Dr. Brooks, "to build great cathedral souls in the kind of a world in which we live.

"It is the further business of religion," he continued, "to make ethical transformations in this world in which we live." He indicated some of the transformations which he believed ought to be made. Ridding the world of war and Christianizing industrial relations he considered to be the two major transformations that were needed. He further said that it was the business of religion to "give a conception of personality which is definitely and permanently alive with spiritual values. Religion must restate personality in terms that can dominate the minds of men."

Dr. Brooks also thought it the business of religion to promote democracy. "The churches have not discovered the meaning of democracy so far as religion is concerned.

"Religion is rubbish," declared Dr. Brooks, "unless it can do these things."

EXPERIENCE OF U. S. MARINES IN CHINA RELATED

Interesting details of his experiences while in China with the marines were told members of the Lions club yesterday by Capt. Leland Swindler, who returned to California recently with Gen. Smedley Butler in advance of the return of other units of marines.

The captain related that units of his organization were sent to Tien Tsin to protect foreigners and that he was with the transport organization. He pointed out detailed arrangements for getting foreigners out of the city in case there was necessity and, in a sense, expressed regret that opportunity was not given for attempting execution of the program, which involved the assembling of transportation equipment owned by private individuals in the city. The speaker asserted that the purposes of the marine branch of Uncle Sam's fighting forces were greatly misunderstood by the general public and he pointed out that it was at once a fighting and educational branch.

"We fight where fighting is necessary and we instruct when situations offer opportunity for this work," said the captain, in pointing out that in China and in other countries the marines had been of service in directing and assisting in the building of highways and assisting in other pursuits of a peaceful nature."

Captain Swindler is an old college mate of President Walter S. Spicer, of the Lions club.

EL MODENA

EL MODENA, Mar. 1.—The El Modena Woman's Christian Temperance union held a called meeting in the home of Mrs. Clara Jones Monday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Hill and Mrs. Lois Wilson, of South Pasadena; Mr. and Mrs. Carl Warner and son, Ernest, of Santa Ana; Mrs. Henrietta Reep, of Alpaugh, and Miss May Wisner, of Orange, were Sunday dinner guests in the W. A. Settle home.

Miss Henrietta Settle returned Sunday from a few days visit in South Pasadena in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Hill.

Miss Catherine Wood spent the week end at home with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Wood. Miss Catherine is a student at U. S. C.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Hancock and guest, the Rev. William Cox, of Birmingham, England, and Mrs. T. S. Stallard, of Orange, attended the orange show last week.

Register Carriers Working Hard So They May Make Catalina Trip

More of the hustling young Register carriers are shown above. All of these chaps either have won or have but one or two subscriptions to secure before they will be ready to include themselves with that joyful group of boy guests of The Register on The Register's Catalina excursion, which will be held some time between April 1 and 15.

Through the effort of the Register carriers from January 1 to the present time, over 500 subscriptions have been secured. The Register has more subscribers today in the city of Santa Ana than it has had at any time since the beginning of this contest.

With but one month before that great Catalina trip, the boys' excitement and anxiety has mounted with the number of new subscribers. The majority of the boys have their quota entitling them to this prize. Many winners are busy deciding whether to take their brother, sister or friend with them, for they have more than enough subscriptions for themselves. Provision has been made for additional boy and girl guests of the carriers who secure five subscriptions over their quota.

Is your carrier among this group? If he is, see him and mention Catalina and watch him grin—he is more than grateful for your help.

The boys above and their routes are as follows:

First in top row, Marion Hixon, route 8; carries 500-900 N. Baker, 1000-1200 W. Eighth, 500 to end N. Shelton, 900-1100 W. Sixth, all of N. Towner.

BACKS RETURNS FROM COUNTY CLERKS' MEET

County Clerk J. M. Backs returned yesterday from Sacramento where he attended a two-day annual convention of county clerks, at which Gov. C. C. Young was a welcoming speaker on the first day.

The convention devoted a large part of its time to analysis of bills pertaining to the county clerks' offices, which have been placed before the legislature.

On Tuesday night they held their annual banquet, at which Frank Jordan, secretary of state, was the toastmaster. Jordan formerly was county clerk of Alameda county. The principal speaker was Senator Slater, the blind solon, whose abilities and achievements have commanded the respect of the whole legislature. Senator Fellon also talked.

In his opening address on Monday, Governor Young expressed his appreciation of the work being done by county clerks throughout the state. On the first day Senator Merriam, of Long Beach; H. D. Dunbar and Attorney Bennett, of the commission were speakers.

Mary Wallace Weir to Be Speaker at County Board Meeting

Orange county clubwomen who will be present at the board meeting of the Federated Women's clubs of this county Tuesday will have the privilege of hearing Mary Wallace Weir of Los Angeles, who is celebrated for her work in the Near East.

Mrs. Weir spent a number of years following the World war in Palestine, when she worked with the refugee children and was instrumental in founding a number of schools there. Her subject will be "Education for Internationalism."

The board meeting will be held in the Ebell club and will start at 9:30 o'clock when Mrs. Alfred Halleck of Orange, parliamentarian, will conduct a round table discussion on "Parliamentary Procedure."

At 10 o'clock the business meeting will be held, with Mrs. Albert Lauer, of Fullerton, president, in the chair. At this time annual reports will be given by the county chairmen.

At noon luncheon will be served by the board of directors of the Ebell club and by members of the leaders' section. Mrs. Harry E. DeNyse, of Riverside, district president, and Mrs. Elmo Hough, of Corona, president of the Riverside county federation, will be guests of honor at the affair. Reservations for the luncheon are to be made through Mrs. Charles Carothers, of Wellington avenue, this city.

The luncheon program is to be arranged by the toastmistresses' section of the Orange Woman's club, under the direction of Mrs. Earl Crawford.

Following Mrs. Weir's address in the afternoon, an informal discussion of educational measures before the state legislature will be held.

Spring-time Luncheon Compliments Leader In White Shrine

One of the week's pleasantest events was a luncheon given Wednesday by Mrs. Mary P. Matthews of 1605 East Fourth street, for which Mrs. Ethel B. Price, supreme high priestess of the White Shrine, offered incentive.

Mrs. Price, whose home is in Terra Haute, Ind., is making a series of official visits throughout the west, and has been spending some time on the Pacific slope. In complimenting her at the luncheon, Mrs. Matthews, worthy high priestess of Santa Ana White Shrine, not only called together her own officers to greet their national head, but included the worthy high priestesses of other chapters in the Southland.

In planning the decorative scheme for her tables, the hostess took great golden daffodils as her motif, and made the tables a picture of glowing sunlight. A delectable five-course luncheon was served. Covers were placed for Mrs. Matthews, her honor guest, Mrs. Price, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Eagler of Culver City; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Cowan and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Perry of Glendale, Mrs Sarah De Normandie of Los Angeles, Mrs. Teeny Ross Little of Pasadena, and the officers of the Santa Ana Shrine, Mr. and Mrs. William Dean, Miss Henrietta Bohling, Mrs. Neal Beisel, Mrs. Eva Jane Parker, Mrs. Elizabeth Lewis, Mrs. J. H. Nicholson, Miss Pearl Nicholson and Mrs. Guy Gardner.

In the afternoon, hostess and guests left by automobile for San Diego, where Mrs. Price was to make her official visit to the Shrine of that city. This was her final appearance officially on the Pacific slope, as she was to leave for Kansas City, Mo., to arrange for the national convention of the White Shrine, which will open there on Tuesday, May 7. Mrs. Matthews, whose plans for a summer of southern and eastern automobile travel have been made for some time, will join Mrs. Price in Kansas City and remain for the entire week of convention sessions, noting all interesting developments of the work to report to the local organization upon her return in the early autumn.

Grandma Club Organized In Santa Ana Plans Many Affairs

A most exclusive club has recently been organized in Santa Ana, a club that only a privileged few can join For to be a member one must first become a grandmother.

This group of women meets every two weeks and gay indeed are the parties that have been held, and plans for future affairs include so many joyous occasions that the club is sure to be swamped with applications for membership.

Among the recent happy affairs was last night's pot luck supper that was held in honor of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Harding of West Myrtle street who will move to Corona Tuesday to make their home.

Following the serving of the delicious supper, the evening passed merrily in playing bunko.

Those who enjoyed the party were Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Mitchell, Mr and Mrs. H. E. Goslee, Mr. and Mrs. N. Elledge, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Schick, Mrs. E. D. Rucker, Mr. and Mrs. W. Patmor, Mrs. L Zimmerman, Mrs. Phielkeld and Mr. and Mrs. Harding.

S. A. Junior College Presents Program

The Santa Ana junior college figured in the second of a series of exchange assembly programs with other junior colleges of Southern California when a group from the local college presented an assembly program of dramatic and musical talent before the Compton junior college.

A play entitled "The Same Old Thing" was presented by the drama class under the direction of Ernest Crozier Phillips. Included in the cast were Clara Kate Owens, who played the role of a temperamental actress, Ray Lindman, Florence Brownridge, and Keith Trickey. Louis Romoff, popular violinist of the junior college appeared in violin selections, and Edwin Gerhardt and Keith Trickey presented a ventriloquist act.

Mrs. E. I. Goff Is Charming Hostess

Mrs. E. I. Goff was a charming hostess recently at a bridge luncheon with which she entertained a group of friends at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Paul Swartz of 725 Kilson drive.

The luncheon table was gay with its yellow appointments and the basket of gay golden daffodils that formed the center piece.

When bridge scores were added at the end of the afternoon's play, attractive gifts were awarded Mrs. John Hill, Mrs. James Ryan and Mrs. Florence Hawkinson.

Direct telephone service from London to Vienna, recently established via the underground cables laid by the Austrian government from Vienna to the Austrian frontier, has improved the service so that calls can now be put through within three or four minutes.

New telephone wire, in the United States, is being added at the rate of about 10 miles a minute.

Charming Easterner Complimented By Orange Woman

Mrs. George Perkins of Newark, N. Y., who is spending the winter in Santa Ana was complimented yesterday at a delightful bridge luncheon given for her at the Santa Ana country club by Mrs. John Adams of Batavia street, Orange.

Mrs. Adams greeted her guests in the entrance hall and escorted them to the solarium where five tables, were arranged in attractive fashion. A graceful basket filled with gay spring flowers in tints of yellow and pink centered each table and the pretty place cards and nut cups were in harmonizing tones.

A happy afternoon at cards was followed by the adding of scores when it was found that Mrs. Harry Upham of Covina was high and Mrs. Jack Fletcher of Orange was low. Each was presented with an attractive prize while a pretty guest gift was received by Mrs. Perkins.

A pretty feature of the affair followed when those holding low scores at each table were awarded the lovely baskets of flowers that centered the tables during the luncheon hour.

Guests of Mrs. Adams included Mrs. Harry Upham of Covina, Mrs. F. L. Chapline, Mrs. A. R. Smith, Mrs. H. S. Huff, Mrs. O. H. Egge, and Mrs. George Smith, of Santa Ana, Mrs. J. G. Thomas, Mrs. J. R. Porter, Mrs. W. C. Pixley, Mrs. W. S. Gregg, Mrs. Clyde Watson, Mrs. G. S. Harper, Mrs. K. E. Watson, Mrs. J. F. Cramer, Mrs. L. P. Chuning, Mrs. Jack Fletcher, and Mrs. J. E. Parker of Orange, and Mrs. Perkins of Newark.

College Students Plan For Treasure Hunt

That the spirit of the freshman class of the junior college is undaunted, is to be proved tonight, when the long anticipated treasure hunt in which the sophomore students are to be the guests of the freshman class is held in Orange County park.

Arriving at 8 o'clock, the students are to launch into a journey over the entire park with the hopes of finding the two treasures, which members of the class promise will be substantial awards.

Later in the evening, dancing will attract the students to the pavilion and refreshments will be served.

Working on the affair are Delmar Brown, Fred Humiston, Ed Adams, Florence Brownridge, Clara Kate Owens, Dorothy Diehl and Marcia Huber.

CHURCH SOCIETIES

Aid Society

The Southside section of the Aid society of the First Methodist church met yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Laura Leonard, 511 South Birch street. Mrs. L. Dora Danerest assisted with hostess duties.

Baskets of sweetpeas and tall calla lillies were used in decoration and thirty-one members were present to enjoy the entertaining program which had been prepared by Mrs. J. C. Gardner.

Mrs. Gardner gave "The Perfect Tribute" by Raymond Shipman Andrews. Mrs. J. A. Gardner and Mrs. B. A. Owen sang three duet numbers entitled "Sweet and Low," "An April Day," and "In the Evening."

Devotionals were led by Mrs. Danerest who gave a characterization, "The Singing Pilgrim," by Henry Ward Beecher, after the members had repeated the twenty-third Psalm. Roll call was responded to by scripture verses.

Ladies Aid

The North section of the Ladies Aid of the First Methodist church greeted new members yesterday at the home of Mrs. W. D. Baker, 618 French street. Mrs. G. E. Bruns and Miss Blanch Collings were hostesses.

Mrs. Harry Hayes, accompanied by Miss Carrie Seaton at the piano, sang several pleasing solos, and Miss Geneva Hartung delighted guests with readings.

Questionnaire games were enjoyed and Mrs. Beatrice Hossler was given honors for holding lowest score.

The home was decorated with jonquils from the home gardens of Miss Collings. Hostesses served coffee and cakes at the close of the afternoon. Sixty guests were present.

Enjoyable Affair

The south-west section of the First Presbyterian Aid society held a very enjoyable meeting at the home of Mrs. George Walker, 721 South Flower street, Thursday afternoon.

The home was adorned with many beautiful flowers, many of them from the garden of Mrs. J. C. Winans. These were afterward taken to sick members.

Mrs. Morrison, leader, called a business session, after which the committee announced the program for the afternoon.

Ten pupils of the Mexican school accompanied by their teacher, Mrs. Luella Greene, a member of the section, gave a pleasing entertainment.

Ansuela Rodriguez and John Espinoza gave a Colonial greeting and this was followed by the "Minuet," danced by five girls and five boys in Colonial costume.

Later, the hostess committee, Mesdames Elizabeth Decker, Clara Chapman, R. H. Ewert, Luella Greene, Lena Hewitt, Ella Palmer, T. W. Rogers, E. T. Williams and Miss May Fox, served delicious refreshments appropriate to the Colonial season.

Profusion of Spring Blossoms Used For Dinner Party

Many were the exclamations of delight heard as guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Van Dien of 517 Cypress avenue were escorted into the dining room at the Santa Ana Country club last night for the dinner party and bridge at which the Van Diens were hosts.

For daffodils, jonquils, fressias, sweet peas, ranunculuses, anemone and every other kind of spring flower that is blooming now had been used in fashioning the gay bouquets that centered the tables for the dinner. And at the hosts' table was a bowl of tulips that added a final note to the attractive picture.

Several merry games of bridge occupied the hours following the dinner and when scores were added at a late hour it was found that Dr. and Mrs. W. A. Flood were high, Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Winckler second, Mrs. M. D. Borgemeyer and Mrs. Frieda McFadden third, and Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Farnsworth, fourth. As Mrs. Borgemeyer and Mrs. McFadden represented separate households it was necessary for them to cut for third prize which was awarded to Mrs. McFadden.

Miss Ann Wiggin Talks At Y. W. C. A. Meeting At Junior College

Taking as her theme the modern manifestations of the United States' war policy of foreign work for the sake of saving humanity, Miss Ann Wiggin, member of the national student staff of the Y. W. C. A. and an authority on foreign students, revealed the challenge with which foreign countries are now facing the United States, when she spoke Thursday night before the Y. W. C. A. organization of Santa Ana, Fullerton and Compton junior colleges in the Y. hut on the local college campus.

Miss Wiggin, forceful yet pleasing in her manner of presentation, was particularly interesting with her fund of knowledge and intimate contact with students of all countries of the world.

That the United States, failing to live up to her asserted interest in humanity and leaving the nations of Europe at the close of the World war with only demands for payments of debts had, following the war, become degraded before the ideals of European students was brought out by Miss Wiggin through her effective recounting of experience in Hungary. Races of all nations are today looking to the United States, possessor of one-third of the nation's wealth, one-half of the colleges and universities and one-half of the students of the world, for not only financial aid but a moral and spiritual understanding. She brought out that the greatest work toward an international understanding is accomplished through such activity as the aid which students of a supposedly enemy nation as that of England gave to German and Russian students in their poverty following the World war.

Approximately 80 women students were present in the Y. hut to hear Miss Wiggin, Compton and Fullerton being the guests of the Santa Ana Y. W. C. A. Preceding the evening's address a supper was served by the local organization and the entire group joined in songs of the Y. W.

Other guests prominent in the field of the Y. W. C. A. were Mrs. Helen Mangold, chairman of the financial committee of the Asilomar division, Mrs. Dorothy Heney Jones, and Miss Dorothy Cartwright, Girls Reserve secretary of the Santa Ana. Besides the advisor, Mrs. John Tessmann, Santa Ana guests included D. K. Hammond, president of the college, Miss Lillian Dickson of the college faculty, and Mrs. Clifford Chaffee of the Congregational church.

Guest Group Enjoys Spring Motif of Dinner-Bridge

Milady Spring herself, was of chief importance among the guests greeted last night by Mrs. N. E. Mayhill, whose hospitable plans took the form of a dinner party and evening of bridge. For the atmosphere of the charming home at 1114 South Broadway, expressed the season, and every decorative detail seemed to join in a veritable birdsong of "Spring is here."

Bowls and low baskets overflowed with bright-tinted sweet peas and waxen freesias, but it was the long dinner table itself that gave the most joy to the guests. In the center of the snowy damask were the smooth waters of a little lake, simulated by a grass-edged mirror. Around it bloomed delicate mauve tulips, violets in deep purple, pink rosebuds and yellow daffodils, all nodding at their lovely sister blossoms on individual nut cups. Circling the flower-bordered lake were flickering candles in the pastel tints of blue, orchid, yellow, green and pink, while each place card was a dainty "Mary, Mary, quite contrary," whose garden grew such lovely blossoms.

Mrs. Mayhill had the assistance of her daughter, Mrs. Alma Wilson, in serving the delectable dinner menu, whose courses were enlivened by an amusing flower guessing game. Bridge was played in the latter part of the evening, Miss Helen Gallagher and Mrs. Eleanor Elliott making high scores, and each receiving a charming imported china plate, wrapped in pastel-tinted papers.

Several of Mrs. Mayhill's guests were members of an informal bridge club to which she belongs, while all have been closely associated with her in Business and Professional Women's club activities. The list included Mrs. Laura Murray, Dr. Hester Olewiler, Miss Louise Kaiser, Miss Myrtle Meyer, Miss Helen Gallagher, Miss Mayme Brightwell, Miss Alice Wasser, Miss Lorraine French, Mrs. Eleanor Elliott, Miss Lee Patton, and Miss Justine Whitney. Miss Whitney has just returned from a northern California convention of county recorders, and had her usual fund of amusing anecdotes of her trip, with which the guests were entertained.

Educational Meeting of Co-operative Society Held Last Night

The annual educational meeting of the Rankin Co-operative society was held last evening when Miss Esther Coffman, general chairman of the affair, with the assistance of able committees, prepared an entertaining program for the occasion.

"America" was sung by the group to open the meeting and was followed by a greeting from J. H. Rankin. Lloyd Roach, accompanied by Sunny Sunquist, sang two solos, "Trees" and "Sonny Boy." Mrs. B. E. Switzler delighted with readings.

Duet numbers, "Where is The Song of Songs for Me?" and "How About Me?" were offered by Miss Peggy and Miss Dorothy Frick. They were accompanied by Miss Lenora Peters. Miss Gerturde and Miss Henrietta Scheffer, accompanied by Miss Dorothy McCune, also gave pleasing song selections.

Sketches were given by Helen Hull, Sidney Smith and Harry Hill; Mrs. Brucke and Mrs. Nichols; Mr. and Mrs. Roger Wood; and Mrs. Lore Brown, Mrs. Marie Shoebridge and Miss Lillian Arnold.

Tables for refreshments which were served after the program, were beautifully decorated with green and yellow crepe paper and quantities of spring flowers.

Committees preparing the arrangements for the meeting included Mrs. Ella Faupel, Mrs. Clara Talifaro, Mrs. Mary Thompson, Mrs. Edith Bricken and Mrs. Oniska Orndorff, refreshments; Miss Frances Childs, Miss Marie Nelson, Miss Alberta Blake, Miss Adella Gerbi, and Mrs. Donna Hill, table decorations; Mrs. Hoffman, Mrs. Megredy, Mac Barker, Miss Jane White and Mrs. Amo Hay, second floor arrangements; Miss Janet Hammerstead and Miss Evelyn Gredler, ushers; and John Lutz, house committee.

United Brethren Church Setting For Pretty Wedding Service

Impressive in its very simplicity was the wedding of Miss Manerva Carpenter, daughter of W. A. Carpenter of 1074 West Second street, and Byrl Holland of Ventura that took place last night in the United Brethren church with the Rev. Logan Harter of Los Angeles, formerly of this city, officiating.

The bride, who was gowned in blue crepe de chine, with accessories in harmonizing colors, and who carried a pretty bouquet of lilies of the valley, rose buds, and maiden hair fern, entered the church as the strains of the wedding march were sounded by Miss Lillian Fitzpatrick who presided at the organ.

She was attended by Miss Veta Vance who wore a flowered crepe de chine ensemble and who carried sweet peas in pastel tints.

Mr. Holland and his best man, Francis Edmunds of this city awaited the bride at the altar that was banked with fern and graceful palm branches.

Immediately following the service, Mr. Holland and his bride left for Ventura from where they will go to San Francisco for their honeymoon. On their return they will make their home in Ventura where Mr. Holland is connected with Swift's packing company.

The bride is one of the most popular girls in this city where she has attended grammar school, junior high school, and the high school, graduating in 1928. Since her graduation she has been employed at the Willitt's Supply company of Santa Ana. Her husband is a former resident of Orange where he attended the Orange Union high school.

"I am going through the Change of Life. At times I would cry for hours. I got tired of going to the doctor so I tried Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Before I had taken the first bottle I began to get better. I have taken eight bottles now. I feel that it has saved my life, also doctor's bills. I work for a family of six, washing, cooking and do all my own work. People say I look like 25."—Mrs. Cora Calahan.

Mary Wallace Weir to Be Speaker at County Board Meeting

Orange county clubwomen who will be present at the board meeting of the Federated Women's clubs of this county Tuesday will have the privilege of hearing Mary Wallace Weir of Los Angeles, who is celebrated for her work in the Near East.

Mrs. Weir spent a number of years following the World war in Palestine, when she worked with the refugee children and was instrumental in founding a number of schools there. Her subject will be "Education for Internationalism."

The board meeting will be held in the Ebell club and will start at 9:30 o'clock when Mrs. Alfred Halleck of Orange, parliamentarian, will conduct a round table discussion on "Parliamentary Procedure."

At 10 o'clock the business meeting will be held, with Mrs. Albert Lauer, of Fullerton, president, in the chair. At this time annual reports will be given by the county chairmen.

At noon luncheon will be served by the board of directors of the Ebell club and by members of the leaders' section. Mrs. Harry E. DeNyse, of Riverside, district president, and Mrs. Elmo Hough, of Corona, president of the Riverside county federation, will be guests of honor at the affair. Reservations for the luncheon are to be made through Mrs. Charles Carothers, of Wellington avenue, this city.

The luncheon program is to be arranged by the toastmistresses' section of the Orange Woman's club, under the direction of Mrs. Earl Crawford.

Following Mrs. Weir's address in the afternoon, an informal discussion of educational measures before the state legislature will be held.

Spring-time Luncheon Compliments Leader In White Shrine

One of the week's pleasantest events was a luncheon given Wednesday by Mrs. Mary P. Matthews of 1605 East Fourth street, for which Mrs. Ethel B. Price, supreme high priestess of the White Shrine, offered incentive.

Mrs. Price, whose home is in Terra Haute, Ind., is making a series of official visits throughout the west, and has been spending some time on the Pacific slope. In complimenting her at the luncheon, Mrs. Matthews, worthy high priestess of Santa Ana White Shrine, not only called together her own officers to greet their national head, but included the worthy high priestesses of other chapters in the Southland.

In planning the decorative scheme for her tables, the hostess took great golden daffodils as her motif, and made the tables a picture of glowing sunlight. A delectable five-course luncheon was served. Covers were placed for Mrs. Matthews, her honor guest, Mrs. Price, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Eagler of Culver City; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Cowan and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Perry of Glendale, Mrs Sarah De Normandie of Los Angeles, Mrs. Teeny Ross Little of Pasadena, and the officers of the Santa Ana Shrine, Mr. and Mrs. William Dean, Miss Henrietta Bohling, Mrs. Neal Beisel, Mrs. Eva Jane Parker, Mrs. Elizabeth Lewis, Mrs. J. H. Nicholson, Miss Pearl Nicholson and Mrs. Guy Gardner.

In the afternoon, hostess and guests left by automobile for San Diego, where Mrs. Price was to make her official visit to the Shrine of that city. This was her final appearance officially on the Pacific slope, as she was to leave for Kansas City, Mo., to arrange for the national convention of the White Shrine, which will open there on Tuesday, May 7. Mrs. Matthews, whose plans for a summer of southern and eastern automobile travel have been made for some time, will join Mrs. Price in Kansas City and remain for the entire week of convention sessions, noting all interesting developments of the work to report to the local organization upon her return in the early autumn.

Grandma Club Organized In Santa Ana Plans Many Affairs

A most exclusive club has recently been organized in Santa Ana, a club that only a privileged few can join For to be a member one must first become a grandmother.

This group of women meets every two weeks and gay indeed are the parties that have been held, and plans for future affairs include so many joyous occasions that the club is sure to be swamped with applications for membership.

Among the recent happy affairs was last night's pot luck supper that was held in honor of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Harding of West Myrtle street who will move to Corona Tuesday to make their home.

Following the serving of the delicious supper, the evening passed merrily in playing bunko.

Those who enjoyed the party were Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Mitchell, Mr and Mrs. H. E. Goslee, Mr. and Mrs. N. Elledge, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Schick, Mrs. E. D. Rucker, Mr. and Mrs. W. Patmor, Mrs. L Zimmerman, Mrs. Phielkeld and Mr. and Mrs. Harding.

S. A. Junior College Presents Program

The Santa Ana junior college figured in the second of a series of exchange assembly programs with other junior colleges of Southern California when a group from the local college presented an assembly program of dramatic and musical talent before the Compton junior college.

A play entitled "The Same Old Thing" was presented by the drama class under the direction of Ernest Crozier Phillips. Included in the cast were Clara Kate Owens, who played the role of a temperamental actress, Ray Lindman, Florence Brownridge, and Keith Trickey. Louis Romoff, popular violinist of the junior college appeared in violin selections, and Edwin Gerhardt and Keith Trickey presented a ventriloquist act.

Mrs. E. I. Goff Is Charming Hostess

Mrs. E. I. Goff was a charming hostess recently at a bridge luncheon with which she entertained a group of friends at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Paul Swartz of 725 Kilson drive.

The luncheon table was gay with its yellow appointments and the basket of gay golden daffodils that formed the center piece.

When bridge scores were added at the end of the afternoon's play, attractive gifts were awarded Mrs. John Hill, Mrs. James Ryan and Mrs. Florence Hawkinson.

Direct telephone service from London to Vienna, recently established via the underground cables laid by the Austrian government from Vienna to the Austrian frontier, has improved the service so that calls can now be put through within three or four minutes.

New telephone wire, in the United States, is being added at the rate of about 10 miles a minute.

Charming Easterner Complimented By Orange Woman

Mrs. George Perkins of Newark, N. Y., who is spending the winter in Santa Ana was complimented yesterday at a delightful bridge luncheon given for her at the Santa Ana country club by Mrs. John Adams of Batavia street, Orange.

Mrs. Adams greeted her guests in the entrance hall and escorted them to the solarium where five tables, were arranged in attractive fashion. A graceful basket filled with gay spring flowers in tints of yellow and pink centered each table and the pretty place cards and nut cups were in harmonizing tones.

A happy afternoon at cards was followed by the adding of scores when it was found that Mrs. Harry Upham of Covina was high and Mrs. Jack Fletcher of Orange was low. Each was presented with an attractive prize while a pretty guest gift was received by Mrs. Perkins.

A pretty feature of the affair followed when those holding low scores at each table were awarded the lovely baskets of flowers that centered the tables during the luncheon hour.

Guests of Mrs. Adams included Mrs. Harry Upham of Covina, Mrs. F. L. Chapline, Mrs. A. R. Smith, Mrs. H. S. Huff, Mrs. O. H. Egge, and Mrs. George Smith, of Santa Ana, Mrs. J. G. Thomas, Mrs. J. R. Porter, Mrs. W. C. Pixley, Mrs. W. S. Gregg, Mrs. Clyde Watson, Mrs. G. S. Harper, Mrs. K. E. Watson, Mrs. J. F. Cramer, Mrs. L. P. Chuning, Mrs. Jack Fletcher, and Mrs. J. E. Parker of Orange, and Mrs. Perkins of Newark.

College Students Plan For Treasure Hunt

That the spirit of the freshman class of the junior college is undaunted, is to be proved tonight, when the long anticipated treasure hunt in which the sophomore students are to be the guests of the freshman class is held in Orange County park.

Arriving at 8 o'clock, the students are to launch into a journey over the entire park with the hopes of finding the two treasures, which members of the class promise will be substantial awards.

Later in the evening, dancing will attract the students to the pavilion and refreshments will be served.

Working on the affair are Delmar Brown, Fred Humiston, Ed Adams, Florence Brownridge, Clara Kate Owens, Dorothy Diehl and Marcia Huber.

CHURCH SOCIETIES

Aid Society

The Southside section of the Aid society of the First Methodist church met yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Laura Leonard, 511 South Birch street. Mrs. L. Dora Danerest assisted with hostess duties.

Baskets of sweetpeas and tall calla lillies were used in decoration and thirty-one members were present to enjoy the entertaining program which had been prepared by Mrs. J. C. Gardner.

Mrs. Gardner gave "The Perfect Tribute" by Raymond Shipman Andrews. Mrs. J. A. Gardner and Mrs. B. A. Owen sang three duet numbers entitled "Sweet and Low," "An April Day," and "In the Evening."

Devotionals were led by Mrs. Danerest who gave a characterization, "The Singing Pilgrim," by Henry Ward Beecher, after the members had repeated the twenty-third Psalm. Roll call was responded to by scripture verses.

Ladies Aid

The North section of the Ladies Aid of the First Methodist church greeted new members yesterday at the home of Mrs. W. D. Baker, 618 French street. Mrs. G. E. Bruns and Miss Blanch Collings were hostesses.

Mrs. Harry Hayes, accompanied by Miss Carrie Seaton at the piano, sang several pleasing solos, and Miss Geneva Hartung delighted guests with readings.

Questionnaire games were enjoyed and Mrs. Beatrice Hossler was given honors for holding lowest score.

The home was decorated with jonquils from the home gardens of Miss Collings. Hostesses served coffee and cakes at the close of the afternoon. Sixty guests were present.

Enjoyable Affair

The south-west section of the First Presbyterian Aid society held a very enjoyable meeting at the home of Mrs. George Walker, 721 South Flower street, Thursday afternoon.

The home was adorned with many beautiful flowers, many of them from the garden of Mrs. J. C. Winans. These were afterward taken to sick members.

Mrs. Morrison, leader, called a business session, after which the committee announced the program for the afternoon.

Ten pupils of the Mexican school accompanied by their teacher, Mrs. Luella Greene, a member of the section, gave a pleasing entertainment.

Ansuela Rodriguez and John Espinoza gave a Colonial greeting and this was followed by the "Minuet," danced by five girls and five boys in Colonial costume.

Later, the hostess committee, Mesdames Elizabeth Decker, Clara Chapman, R. H. Ewert, Luella Greene, Lena Hewitt, Ella Palmer, T. W. Rogers, E. T. Williams and Miss May Fox, served delicious refreshments appropriate to the Colonial season.

Profusion of Spring Blossoms Used For Dinner Party

Many were the exclamations of delight heard as guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Van Dien of 517 Cypress avenue were escorted into the dining room at the Santa Ana Country club last night for the dinner party and bridge at which the Van Diens were hosts.

For daffodils, jonquils, fressias, sweet peas, ranunculuses, anemone and every other kind of spring flower that is blooming now had been used in fashioning the gay bouquets that centered the tables for the dinner. And at the hosts' table was a bowl of tulips that added a final note to the attractive picture.

Several merry games of bridge occupied the hours following the dinner and when scores were added at a late hour it was found that Dr. and Mrs. W. A. Flood were high, Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Winckler second, Mrs. M. D. Borgemeyer and Mrs. Frieda McFadden third, and Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Farnsworth, fourth. As Mrs. Borgemeyer and Mrs. McFadden represented separate households it was necessary for them to cut for third prize which was awarded to Mrs. McFadden.

Miss Ann Wiggin Talks At Y. W. C. A. Meeting At Junior College

Taking as her theme the modern manifestations of the United States' war policy of foreign work for the sake of saving humanity, Miss Ann Wiggin, member of the national student staff of the Y. W. C. A. and an authority on foreign students, revealed the challenge with which foreign countries are now facing the United States, when she spoke Thursday night before the Y. W. C. A. organization of Santa Ana, Fullerton and Compton junior colleges in the Y. hut on the local college campus.

Miss Wiggin, forceful yet pleasing in her manner of presentation, was particularly interesting with her fund of knowledge and intimate contact with students of all countries of the world.

That the United States, failing to live up to her asserted interest in humanity and leaving the nations of Europe at the close of the World war with only demands for payments of debts had, following the war, become degraded before the ideals of European students was brought out by Miss Wiggin through her effective recounting of experience in Hungary. Races of all nations are today looking to the United States, possessor of one-third of the nation's wealth, one-half of the colleges and universities and one-half of the students of the world, for not only financial aid but a moral and spiritual understanding. She brought out that the greatest work toward an international understanding is accomplished through such activity as the aid which students of a supposedly enemy nation as that of England gave to German and Russian students in their poverty following the World war.

Approximately 80 women students were present in the Y. hut to hear Miss Wiggin, Compton and Fullerton being the guests of the Santa Ana Y. W. C. A. Preceding the evening's address a supper was served by the local organization and the entire group joined in songs of the Y. W.

Other guests prominent in the field of the Y. W. C. A. were Mrs. Helen Mangold, chairman of the financial committee of the Asilomar division, Mrs. Dorothy Heney Jones, and Miss Dorothy Cartwright, Girls Reserve secretary of the Santa Ana. Besides the advisor, Mrs. John Tessmann, Santa Ana guests included D. K. Hammond, president of the college, Miss Lillian Dickson of the college faculty, and Mrs. Clifford Chaffee of the Congregational church.

Guest Group Enjoys Spring Motif of Dinner-Bridge

Milady Spring herself, was of chief importance among the guests greeted last night by Mrs. N. E. Mayhill, whose hospitable plans took the form of a dinner party and evening of bridge. For the atmosphere of the charming home at 1114 South Broadway, expressed the season, and every decorative detail seemed to join in a veritable bird-song of "Spring is here."

Bowls and low baskets overflowed with bright-tinted sweet peas and waxen freesias, but it was the long dinner table itself that gave the most joy to the guests. In the center of the snowy damask were the smooth waters of a little lake, simulated by a grass-edged mirror. Around it bloomed delicate mauve tulips, violets in deep purple, pink rosebuds and yellow daffodils, all nodding at their lovely sister blossoms on individual nut cups. Circling the flower-bordered lake were flickering candles in the pastel tints of blue, orchid, yellow, green and pink, while each place card was a dainty "Mary, Mary, quite contrary," whose garden grew such lovely blossoms.

Mrs. Mayhill had the assistance of her daughter, Mrs. Alma Wilson, in serving the delectable dinner menu, whose courses were enlivened by an amusing flower guessing game. Bridge was played in the latter part of the evening, Miss Helen Gallagher and Mrs. Eleanor Elliott making high scores, and each receiving a charming imported china plate, wrapped in pastel-tinted papers.

Several of Mrs. Mayhill's guests were members of an informal bridge club to which she belongs, while all have been closely associated with her in Business and Professional Women's club activities. The list included Mrs. Laura Murray, Dr. Hester Olewiler, Miss Louise Kaiser, Miss Myrtle Meyer, Miss Helen Gallagher, Miss Mayme Brightwell, Miss Alice Wasser, Miss Lorraine French, Mrs. Eleanor Elliott, Miss Lee Patton, and Miss Justine Whitney. Miss Whitney has just returned from a northern California convention of county recorders, and had her usual fund of amusing anecdotes of her trip, with which the guests were entertained.

Educational Meeting of Co-operative Society Held Last Night

The annual educational meeting of the Rankin Co-operative society was held last evening when Miss Esther Coffman, general chairman of the affair, with the assistance of able committees, prepared an entertaining program for the occasion.

"America" was sung by the group to open the meeting and was followed by a greeting from J. H. Rankin. Lloyd Roach, accompanied by Sunny Sunquist, sang two solos, "Trees" and "Sonny Boy." Mrs. B. E. Switzler delighted with readings.

Duet numbers, "Where is The Song of Songs for Me?" and "How About Me?" were offered by Miss Peggy and Miss Dorothy Frick. They were accompanied by Miss Lenora Peters. Miss Gerturde and Miss Henrietta Scheffer, accompanied by Miss Dorothy McCune, also gave pleasing song selections.

Sketches were given by Helen Hull, Sidney Smith and Harry Hill; Mrs. Brucke and Mrs. Nichols; Mr. and Mrs. Roger Wood; and Mrs. Lore Brown, Mrs. Marie Shoebridge and Miss Lillian Arnold.

Tables for refreshments which were served after the program, were beautifully decorated with green and yellow crepe paper and quantities of spring flowers.

Committees preparing the arrangements for the meeting included Mrs. Ella Faupel, Mrs. Clara Talifaro, Mrs. Mary Thompson, Mrs. Edith Bricken and Mrs. Oniska Orndorff, refreshments; Miss Frances Childs, Miss Marie Nelson, Miss Alberta Blake, Miss Adella Gerbi, and Mrs. Donna Hill, table decorations; Mrs. Hoffman, Mrs. Megredy, Mac Barker, Miss Jane White and Mrs. Amo Hay, second floor arrangements; Miss Janet Hammerstead and Miss Evelyn Gredler, ushers; and John Lutz, house committee.

United Brethren Church Setting For Pretty Wedding Service

Impressive in its very simplicity was the wedding of Miss Manerva Carpenter, daughter of W. A. Carpenter of 1074 West Second street, and Byrl Holland of Ventura that took place last night in the United Brethren church with the Rev. Logan Harter of Los Angeles, formerly of this city, officiating.

The bride, who was gowned in blue crepe de chine, with accessories in harmonizing colors, and who carried a pretty bouquet of lilies of the valley, rose buds, and maiden hair fern, entered the church as the strains of the wedding march were sounded by Miss Lillian Fitzpatrick who presided at the organ.

She was attended by Miss Veta Vance who wore a flowered crepe de chine ensemble and who carried sweet peas in pastel tints.

Mr. Holland and his best man, Francis Edmunds of this city awaited the bride at the altar that was banked with fern and graceful palm branches.

Immediately following the service, Mr. Holland and his bride left for Ventura from where they will go to San Francisco for their honeymoon. On their return they will make their home in Ventura where Mr. Holland is connected with Swift's packing company.

The bride is one of the most popular girls in this city where she has attended grammar school, junior high school, and the high school, graduating in 1928. Since her graduation she has been employed at the Willitt's Supply company of Santa Ana. Her husband is a former resident of Orange where he attended the Orange Union high school.

HELPED AT CHANGE OF LIFE

MRS. CORA CALAHAN
216 E. Ashton Ave., Grand Island, Nebr.
"I am going through the Change of Life. At times I would cry for hours. I got tired of going to the doctor so I tried Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Before I had taken the first bottle I began to get better. I have taken eight bottles now. I feel that it has saved my life, also doctor's bills. I work for a family of six, washing, cooking and do all my own work. People say I look like 25."—Mrs. Cora Calahan.

MRS. F. C. HELMING

"Lydia E. Pinkham did for me what doctors failed to do. When the Change of Life began I was very poorly. Now at 55 I do all my own work, attend two dances a week and it is hard to make people believe I am over 40. I never see a woman in ill health but I advocate your medicine because I know its value. Every woman should take it, not just for a month or two but until they have passed the critical period."—Mrs. F. C. Helming.

The WOMAN'S DAY

By ALLENE SUMNER

The mummy of King Solomon's favorite wife has been found, they say. Moti Haris, who died in the thirty-sixth year of Solomon's reign, is said to have been discovered in all her regal trappings in a tomb more magnificent than that of King Tut. The body wrapped in richest cloth of gold, studded with jewels, with a crown on her head, and priceless jewels on her fingers is said to be accompanied by a parchment scroll in King Solomon's own handwriting in which he relates his wife's many virtues and tells the story of how she sacrificed her life for his, drinking poisoned wine meant for him.

OTHER "BELOVED WIVES"

Scattered over the countryside in a multitude of grass-grown, stone crumbled cemeteries are an infinite host of the graves of wives lauded in death by their husbands. Epitaphs which read "My Beloved Wife" are as numerous as the myrtle vines which make glossy the graves. And small town gossip knows that the bigger the stone and the more deeply carved the eulogy of appreciation and affection, the more remorse goes into it.

It would be interesting to know just how King Solomon regarded his Moti Haris in life, even if he did give her a swell funeral.

PRESIDENT LITTLE

I may be unfair to argue that a dissenter who can't agree with the mass of people and who sticks to his guns of opinion no matter how the battle of opposition rages about him is almost invariably right and very much worth while.

But nevertheless I do wonder thus in the matter of the resignation of Dr. Clarence Little from the University of Michigan. Dr. Little preferred to lose his job rather than agree with his lips to principles which his mind and heart could not accept. He dared speak his mind on birth control, the only "mind" on the subject which a scientist such as he could have. His opinion was not popular with certain organized groups. They protested to the board of regents.

He resigned rather than do "lip service."

ITS LOSS

I think the university has lost a real president just as Amherst lost one when it failed to back what it labeled "radical" Dr. Meiklejohn whose educational experiment at the University of Wisconsin now has the eyes of the educational world upon it.

Just why the great clamoring public should know whether nine-year-old Dorothy Ruth is an own or an adopted daughter of Babe Ruth and his late wife isn't very obvious, and there seems no other reason than the public's insistence on knowing, for any investigation on the subject.

If the Ruths wished to adopt a child or have it on a loan and make themselves and the child believe that it was their own, that attitude is understandable and legitimate. To insist on knowing just who little Dorothy is, if her real or foster parents prefer not to tell, is as snoopy as many other phases of this tragedy which were nobody's business.

REAL ROMANCE

We have declined our "one man for one woman in all the world" theory in exchange for the idea that propinquity engenders romance, that, given most any man and most any girl in the same environment, they can fall in love.

But here's a little story in the day's news that rather looks as if the mills of the gods had something to do about the matter after all. Miss Goldye Fortang of Brooklyn was rescued from drowning some five years ago by one Frederick Weisler. She did not get his name at the time, however, but two years later found an automobile license plate and informed the registered owner where it might be found. When he called for the plate he was found to be the rescuer. They were married a few days ago.

OPEN-FACED SANDWICHES

March, the month which outmoods April's showers and smiles, brings with it those uncomfortable colds commonly known as the sniffles.

If the cold is caught at the start it can be greatly helped by the use of powdered boric acid: Wrap a piece of absorbent cotton around a toothpick and thoroughly dust the interior of the nostrils and the inflamed skin at the edge of the nostrils several times a day.

This prevents to a great extent the disagreeable blistering, and helps to free the nasal tract from further infection. When the nasal passages close up much comfort is derived from the use of eucalyptus inhalations.

Put a few drops of the oil in a kettle of boiling water, envelope head and kettle in a tent made with a bath towel and breathe the fumes for 10 minutes or longer.

TODAY'S RECIPE

Toasted Sardine Sandwich
1 can sardines
Olive oil or mayonnaise
Salt and paprika
Cheese
4 fiinger rolls

Strip the sardines from the backbone, add the oil from the can and mash fine, adding further olive oil or mayonnaise to make very moist. Gently beat the mixture over hot water, seasoning it with salt and paprika. Split the rolls and remove the soft part, fill the crusts with the hot fish and sprinkle plenty of grated tangy cheese over each roll. Put into a hot oven long enough to melt the cheese, then serve immediately.

* * *

But we must have a mate for the delicious sardine sandwich, and it too must have a wide-open honest countenance. I want you to try this.

CHEESE FILLING

1 cup grated cheese
1 cup milk
1 egg, well beaten
1 scant tablespoon flour
1 tablespoon butter
Salt and pepper to taste
Paprika and cayenne

Blend flour and butter, add the milk and cook to a smooth sauce. Lower the heat, add the cheese and stir until melted smoothly into the cream sauce. Taste and season, add the beaten egg, stir for a minute briskly, then serve on square of buttered toast.

The recipe for the sardine sandwich provides for 8 medium-sized portions with a caloric value of 165 each. The Cheese and Toast sandwich, serving 8 small portions, has a caloric value of 200 for each of the eight. . . . The richness of food used for sandwhich puts them definitely into the energy-food class.

♣ 6 5 3

West— Leads ♣ 7 | East—

South (Declarer)—
♠ A Q 3
♡ K J 4 3
◇ A K J
♣ A J 8

The Bidding: South obtains contact for one no-trump.

Deciding the Play: West leads 7 of clubs; 3 of clubs is played from dummy and East follows with queen of clubs. Declarer takes with ace of clubs. What procedure should declarer adopt to make game?

The Error: Declarer leads Jack of hearts and East wins this trick with queen of hearts, leads clubs and prevents game.

The Correct Method: Every effort must be made to prevent East from obtaining the lead to play clubs through declarer. Every finesse should be taken by dummy toward the declarer's hand so that if the finesse fails West will be in the lead. Upon winning the first trick with ace of clubs, declarer plays jack of hearts and overtakes it with ace of hearts whether West covers with hearts or not. Declarer then plays 10 of hearts and finesses. Played in this manner two club tricks must be made and game is assured. After winning the jack of clubs. declarer throws the lead to West with 8 of clubs to make him lead up to declarer.

The Principle: When necessary, prevent opponent from leading through you by finessing towards opponent's strong hand.

TALKIE PROGRAM AT WALKER CONTINUES

Continuing an interesting program of talking pictures, the West Coast-Walker management today offers "The Ghost Talks," a Fox Movietone all-talking farce comedy, which is the first of its type so far produced. Directed by Lew Seiler, aided by a staff of technical men and writers, including the authors of the sparkling dialogue, the picture is held by those who have seen it, to be absolutely unique among productions in which the action is aided by spoken lines from beginning to end.

Charles Eaton in Fox Movietone Production "The Ghost Talks"

"The Ghost Talks" derives this uniqueness it is said, partly from the fact that it represents the greatest elasticity in technique that the talkies have demonstrated so far. Speedy in its action, with one laugh-provoking situation racing on the heels of another, the picture proves that every subtlety which can be captured by the camera for a silent drama can be caught also for a spoken one.

Vaudeville numbers and news reel and short comedy add to the interest of thep rogram.

SCREEN AND STAGE GIVE GOOD PROGRAM

When you start in to analyze the reason why "Geraldine" now on the screen at the Yost Broadway theater, is such satisfactory entertainment, you discover that it lies in the fact that it is all given so smoothly and the work of Marian Nixon and Eddie Quillan is so spontaneously sincere, that you forget you are watching an amusing little story on the "Ugly Duckling" theme, and settle back for an hour of real enjoyment.

There are qualities in "Geraldine" that cause one's thoughts to drift back a few years to the always beloved Wallie Reid and his "Charm School." Not the work of Quillan of course, for his acting is as distinctive in itself as was Reid's, but the general plot will seem more or less familiar. But always entertaining.

On the stage, the palm goes to the Martinez Family and their joyous jazz and calmer classics. The Martinez Saxophone sextette has gained an international reputation. The Pantages Harmony Four, who combine close harmony with all sorts of "monkeyshines," are entertaining, and Allen and Louise, just returned from New York and a successful appearance in a revue there, offer "A Stop Ahead" which is much in advance of the van-guard.

The Murdock Brothers' comedy pantomime and Bert and Stella Sloan in original dances and some breath-taking wire walking, complete the vaudeville entertainment, while news and comedy reels add to the full bill.

WEST END

"The Chaser," Harry Langdon's latest comedy success, will close its run tonight at the West End theater, where it has been greeted with storms of laughter since its opening Langdon is at his funniest as the harassed and utterly helpless husband—funnier than he ever was as a bachelor even. For the usual pathos and drama of a Langdon film, have been minimized, and every laugh-provoking situation has been stressed.

Gladys McConnell and Bud Jamison head a strong supporting cast, which includes more than a score of the prettiest bathing girls that Hollywood could muster. Merchants' gift night will add interest to tonight's bill.

Tomorrow will bring that remarkable dog, "Peter the Great" and an exceptionally well-balanced cast of human players, in "Wild Justice," a dramatic story in which Peter does some amazing feats. Direction of the picture was entrusted to Chester M. Franklin, a great lover of dogs and a student of their characteristics and moods.

Diet the menace of Hollywood

Stars wrecked seeking slimness

PHOTOPLAY MAGAZINE recently revealed that many motion-picture stars ruin their health seeking slimness. The motion-picture camera adds from 5 to 20 pounds to the appearance of a star's figure, so that many of these celebrities become victims of dieting.

One famous star died of tuberculosis brought on by weight reduction. Another ruined her career and was made an invalid by starvation. Still another resorted to quick reducing medicines and is today virtually an invalid. Another star is mentioned who collapsed on a set after trying to lose 10 pounds.

One of the alarming dieting extremes indulged in by the stars, according to Photoplay, is eating no food at all for breakfast, and seriously limiting nourishing foods for both luncheon and dinner.

No person can be healthy without eating enough nourishing food daily and regularly. The tragic experience of motion-picture stars should be a warning to all women and girls to eat enough.

Modern health authorities insist on a variety of foods, including milk, vegetables, fruits and meats. It is a dieting error to suggest eliminating sugar from the diet, for sweetness is the perfect flavor that makes all of the healthful foods so delicious. Serve applesauce, grapefruit, dried and canned fruits and cereals for breakfast sweetened for enjoyment. Learn the value of sweetening in the cooking of all vegetables for delicious flavors. Sweetening improves the taste and flavor of fruits and cereals. Sugar and flavoring make delicious milk-shakes and egg-nogs.

See that every member of your family eats enough. The best cooks are generous with sugar. The Sugar Institute.

HOW THE WOMEN DO PAINT

The WOMAN'S DAY

by ALLENE SUMNER

The mummy of King Solomon's favorite wife has been found, they say. Moti Haris, who died in the thirty-sixth year of Solomon's reign, is said to have been discovered in all her regal trappings in a tomb more magnificent than that of King Tut. The body wrapped in richest cloth of gold, studded with jewels, with a crown on her head, and priceless jewels on her fingers is said to be accompanied by a parchment scroll in King Solomon's own handwriting in which he relates his wife's many virtues and tells the story of how she sacrificed her life for his, drinking poisoned wine meant for him.

OTHER "BELOVED WIVES"

Scattered over the countryside in a multitude of grass-grown, stone crumbled cemeteries are an infinite host of the graves of wives lauded in death by their husbands. Epitaphs which read "My Beloved Wife" are as numerous as the myrtle vines which make glossy the graves. And small town gossip knows that the bigger the stone and the more deeply carved the eulogy of appreciation and affection, the more remorse goes into it.

It would be interesting to know just how King Solomon regarded his Moti Haris in life, even if he did give her a swell funeral.

PRESIDENT LITTLE

I may be unfair to argue that a dissenter who can't agree with the mass of people and who sticks to his guns of opinion no matter how the battle of opposition rages about him is almost invariably right and very much worth while.

But nevertheless I do wonder thus in the matter of the resignation of Dr. Clarence Little from the University of Michigan. Dr. Little preferred to lose his job rather than agree with his lips to principles which his mind and heart could not accept. He dared speak his mind on birth control, the only "mind" on the subject which a scientist such as he could have. His opinion was not popular with certain organized groups. They protested to the board of regents.

He resigned rather than do "lip service."

ITS LOSS

I think the university has lost a real president just as Amherst lost one when it failed to back what it labeled "radical" Dr. Meiklejohn whose educational experiment at the University of Wisconsin now has the eyes of the educational world upon it.

Just why the great clamoring public should know whether nine-year-old Dorothy Ruth is an own or an adopted daughter of Babe Ruth and his late wife isn't very obvious, and there seems no other reason than the public's insistence on knowing, for any investigation on the subject.

If the Ruths wished to adopt a child or have it on a loan and make themselves and the child believe that it was their own, that attitude is understandable and legitimate. To insist on knowing just who little Dorothy is, if her real or foster parents prefer not to tell, is as snoopy as many other phases of this tragedy which were nobody's business.

REAL ROMANCE

We have declined our "one man for one woman in all the world" theory in exchange for the idea that propinquity engenders romance, that, given most any man and most any girl in the same environment, they can fall in love.

But here's a little story in the day's news that rather looks as if the mills of the gods had something to do about the matter after all. Miss Goldye Fortang of Brooklyn was rescued from drowning some five years ago by one Frederick Weisler. She did not get his name at the time, however, but two years later found an automobile license plate and informed the registered owner where it might be found. When he called for the plate he was found to be the rescuer. They were married a few days ago.

OPEN-FACED SANDWICHES

March, the month which outmoods April's showers and smiles, brings with it those uncomfortable colds commonly known as the sniffles.

If the cold is caught at the start it can be greatly helped by the use of powdered boric acid: Wrap a piece of absorbent cotton around a toothpick and thoroughly dust the interior of the nostrils and the inflamed skin at the edge of the nostrils several times a day.

This prevents to a great extent the disagreeable blistering, and helps to free the nasal tract from further infection. When the nasal passages close up much comfort is derived from the use of eucalyptus inhalations.

Put a few drops of the oil in a kettle of boiling water, envelope head and kettle in a tent made with a bath towel and breathe the fumes for 10 minutes or longer.

TODAY'S RECIPE

Toasted Sardine Sandwich
1 can sardines
Olive oil or mayonnaise
Salt and paprika
Cheese
4 finger rolls

Strip the sardines from the backbone, add the oil from the can and mash fine, adding further olive oil or mayonnaise to make very moist. Gently beat the mixture over hot water, seasoning it with salt and paprika. Split the rolls and remove the soft part, fill the crusts with the hot fish and sprinkle plenty of grated tangy cheese over each roll. Put into a hot oven long enough to melt the cheese, then serve immediately.

But we must have a mate for the delicious sardine sandwich, and it too must have a wide-open honest countenance. I want you to try this.

CHEESE FILLING

1 cup grated cheese
1 cup milk
1 egg, well beaten
1 scant tablespoon flour
1 tablespoon butter
Salt and pepper to taste
Paprika and cayenne

Blend flour and butter, add the milk and cook to a smooth sauce. Lower the heat, add the cheese and stir until melted smoothly into the cream sauce. Taste and season, add the beaten egg, stir for a minute briskly, then serve on square of buttered toast.

The recipe for the sardine sandwich provides for 8 medium-sized portions with a caloric value of 165 each. The Cheese and Toast sandwich, serving 8 small portions, has a caloric value of 200 for each of the eight. . . . The richness of food used for sandwhich puts them definitely into the energy-food class.

West— Leads ♣ 7 — East—

South (Declarer)—
♠ A Q 3
♡ K J 4 3
◇ A K J
♣ A J 8

The Bidding: South obtains contact for one no-trump.

Deciding the Play: West leads 7 of clubs; 3 of clubs is played from dummy and East follows with queen of clubs. Declarer takes with ace of clubs. What procedure should declarer adopt to make game?

The Error: Declarer leads Jack of hearts and East wins this trick with queen of hearts, leads clubs and prevents game.

The Correct Method: Every effort must be made to prevent East from obtaining the lead to play clubs through declarer. Every finesse should be taken by dummy toward the declarer's hand so that if the finesse fails West will be in the lead. Upon winning the first trick with ace of clubs, declarer plays jack of hearts and overtakes it with ace of hearts whether West covers with hearts or not. Declarer then plays 10 of hearts and finesses. Played in this manner two club tricks must be made and game is assured. After winning the jack of clubs, declarer throws the lead to West with 8 of clubs to make him lead up to declarer.

The Principle: When necessary, prevent opponent from leading through you by finessing towards opponent's strong hand.

TALKIE PROGRAM AT WALKER CONTINUES

Continuing an interesting program of talking pictures, the West Coast-Walker management today offers "The Ghost Talks," a Fox Movietone all-talking farce comedy, which is the first of its type so far produced. Directed by Lew Seiler, aided by a staff of technical men and writers, including the authors of the sparkling dialogue, the picture is held by those who have seen it, to be absolutely unique among productions in which the action is aided by spoken lines from beginning to end.

Charles Eaton in Fox Movietone Production "The Ghost Talks"

"The Ghost Talks" derives this uniqueness it is said, partly from the fact that it represents the greatest elasticity in technique that the talkies have demonstrated so far. Speedy in its action, with one laugh-provoking situation racing on the heels of another, the picture proves that every subtlety which can be captured by the camera for a silent drama can be caught also for a spoken one.

Vaudeville numbers and news reel and short comedy add to the interest of thep rogram.

SCREEN AND STAGE GIVE GOOD PROGRAM

When you start in to analyze the reason why "Geraldine" now on the screen at the Yost Broadway theater, is such satisfactory entertainment, you discover that it lies in the fact that it is all given so smoothly and the work of Marian Nixon and Eddie Quillan is so spontaneously sincere, that you forget you are watching an amusing little story on the "Ugly Duckling" theme, and settle back for an hour of real enjoyment.

There are qualities in "Geraldine" that cause one's thoughts to drift back a few years to the always beloved Wallie Reid and his "Charm School." Not the work of Quillan of course, for his acting is as distinctive in itself as was Reid's, but the general plot will seem more or less familiar. But always entertaining.

On the stage, the palm goes to the Martinez Family and their joyous jazz and calmer classics. The Martinez Saxophone sextette has gained an international reputation. The Pantages Harmony Four, who combine close harmony with all sorts of "monkeyshines," are entertaining, and Allen and Louise, just returned from New York and a successful appearance in a revue there, offer "A Stop Ahead" which is much in advance of the van-guard.

The Murdock Brothers' comedy pantomime and Bert and Stella Sloan in original dances and some breath-taking wire walking, complete the vaudeville entertainment, while news and comedy reels add to the full bill.

WEST END

"The Chaser," Harry Langdon's latest comedy success, will close its run tonight at the West End theater, where it has been greeted with storms of laughter since its opening Langdon is at his funniest as the harassed and utterly helpless husband—funnier than he ever was as a bachelor even. For the usual pathos and drama of a Langdon film, have been minimized, and every laugh-provoking situation has been stressed.

Gladys McConnell and Bud Jamison head a strong supporting cast, which includes more than a score of the prettiest bathing girls that Hollywood could muster. Merchants' gift night will add interest to tonight's bill.

Tomorrow will bring that remarkable dog, "Peter the Great" and an exceptionally well-balanced cast of human players, in "Wild Justice," a dramatic story in which Peter does some amazing feats. Direction of the picture was entrusted to Chester M. Franklin, a great lover of dogs and a student of their characteristics and moods.

Diet the menace of Hollywood

Stars wrecked seeking slimness

PHOTOPLAY MAGAZINE recently revealed that many motion-picture stars ruin their health seeking slimness. The motion-picture camera adds from 5 to 20 pounds to the appearance of a star's figure, so that many of these celebrities become victims of dieting.

One famous star died of tuberculosis brought on by weight reduction. Another ruined her career and was made an invalid by starvation. Still another resorted to quick reducing medicines and is today virtually an invalid. Another star is mentioned who collapsed on a set after trying to lose 10 pounds.

One of the alarming dieting extremes indulged in by the stars, according to Photoplay, is eating no food at all for breakfast, and seriously limiting nourishing foods for both luncheon and dinner.

No person can be healthy without eating enough nourishing food daily and regularly. The tragic experience of motion-picture stars should be a warning to all women and girls to eat enough.

Modern health authorities insist on a variety of foods, including milk, vegetables, fruits and meats. It is a dieting error to suggest eliminating sugar from the diet, for sweetness is the perfect flavor that makes all of the healthful foods so delicious. Serve applesauce, grapefruit, dried and canned fruits and cereals for breakfast sweetened for enjoyment. Learn the value of sweetening in the cooking of all vegetables for delicious flavors. Sweetening improves the taste and flavor of fruits and cereals. Sugar and flavoring make delicious milk-shakes and egg-nogs.

See that every member of your family eats enough. The best cooks are generous with sugar. The Sugar Institute.

Anaheim Council Accepts Bid On Pipe For Water System

ENGINEERS TO PRESENT DATA BEFORE BOARD

ANAHEIM, March 1.—Preparing for the reconstruction of the Anaheim water system, the city council last night accepted a bid of the American Cast Iron Pipe company, of Los Angeles, for a quantity of pipe.

While the exact amount of the first purchase has not been determined, it will approximate $15,000, it was reported at the meeting.

Water engineers are now making a survey of the Anaheim water system and a report is expected in the near future, the council was told.

The American Cast Iron Pipe company's bid guaranteed delivery on pipe in 45 days.

Other bidders were the National Cast Iron Pipe foundry, Pacific States Pipe foundry, National Cast Iron Pipe company and the United States Cast Iron Pipe and Foundry company, all of Los Angeles.

Representatives of the United States and the National companies asked for a re-consideration of their bids. Foster Manock, of the former company, asked that a formal record be made on the minutes that he had entered a formal protest against the acceptance of the bid of the American company. He stated that the bid placed by his company was the lowest to be entered.

Mayor L. E. Miller and Councilman Grafton explained that the bid had been awarded pursuant with advice from the firm of consulting engineers making a survey of the water works system of the city. It was explained that the bids called for 100 foot pressure pipe while the bids submitted by the objecting representatives called for pipe of 150-pound pressure, a pressure which engineers agreed was not needed for the Anaheim system. Other factors had been also taken into consideration, it was said.

A resolution was read moving for the adoption of the amendment of ordinance No. 507, an ordinance regulating and fixing the rates of taxation of business houses.

A petition was presented by Mr. Truxaw asking for the re-zoning of the corner of South and Los Angeles streets from a strictly residential district to a business district. The matter was referred to the planning commission.

O. A. Steuernagel, president of the Anaheim Service Station association, appeared before the council asking an investigation of gasoline tank owners who were storing more than 25 gallons on their premises at one time. He stated that by an elimination of the tanks and by preventing the distributing companies from filling them the sale of 1500 to 2000 gallons of gas would be added to the local service stations. The association included 19 dealers, he said.

Fire Chief R. Nybee stated that an ordinance covered the storage of gas in the city. He requested Steuernagel to produce the names of people who were violating the ordinance.

Funeral Services For Wintersburg Pioneer Saturday

WINTERSBURG, Mar. 1.—Funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock for Mrs. Emma Hyber, 64, who passed away this morning at 5 o'clock after a long illness. The services will be held in the Dixon funeral chapel, Huntington Beach, and will be conducted by the Rev. J. G. Hurst, pastor of the First Christian church. Interment will be in the Huntington Beach cemetery.

Mrs. Hyber had been a resident of Wintersburg for the past 30 years. She was born in Indiana March, 9, 1855. Surviving Mrs. Hyber are her husband, Ed. Hyber; one daughter, Mrs. Julia Bowers, of Los Angeles, and a niece, Mrs. Maude Hollenbeck.

CAPTAINS FOR Y. W. C. A. FUND DRIVE CHOSEN

FULLERTON, March 1.—Team captains who will lead workers in the Y. W. C. A. campaign have been selected. Organization of workers is under way. Six teams will take charge of the actual soliciting to raise the $2650 quota.

Team captains are Mrs. Harry Suters, Miss Faustina Nenno, Mrs. W. J. Carmichael, Mrs. Lloyd Hulbert, Miss Emma Kast and Mrs. Mollie Thatcher. Miss Kast will head the high school division and Mrs. Thatcher the grammar schools.

A luncheon at the California Hotel cafe at 12:30 p. m., March 5 will formally open the campaign. Mrs. Hubert Biggs will be the hostess at the luncheon.

The initial gift committee is at work laying the foundation of a fund to be announced on the opening day of the drive.

Yorba Linda and Placentia have started campaigns for their quotas and Brea expects to start a canvass soon. The Fullerton campaign will close at a luncheon to be at noon next Friday.

L. B. CLUB TO HEAR WELCH LECTURER

LAGUNA BEACH, March 1.—Arthur Cheetham, Welch lecturer, will address the Theosophical society Sunday evening when it meets in the Community club, his subject being data regarding the fabled continents of Atlantis and Lemuria.

Six illustrative maps will be displayed and data, both occult and scientific, regarding the lost continents will be presented. The rise of the western part of the American continent will be shown on the maps.

The Enquirers' class, which meets in the home of Mrs. Maybelle L. Frost and Miss Annie Gayne Peake on Cliff drive Saturday night, will consider "The Astral Body" as its subject, with an informal discussion of "My Seven Minutes in Eternity" by William Dudley Pelley, an article appearing in the March American Magazine. Frederick Schwankovsky is class leader.

STORM DRAIN APPROVED AT LAGUNA BEACH

LAGUNA BEACH, March 1.—Two improvement projects were approved by the city council Wednesday. The much discussed storm drain enterprise, taking in the slough through the center of town met with official sanction.

The improvement of Laguna canyon storm drain has been agitated for many years. The slough drains a large area outside the city and the expense entailed is estimated at $65,000. The need of the improvement is admitted. Engineering problems involved are the discharge of water above sea level. This was finally met by ending the drain at mean high tide, allowing that the drain would silt up, but planning to open it once or twice a year. This was considered more economical than an attempt to carry the drain below low tide, which presented many difficulties.

The acquisition of title to undedicated streets was brought before the council by City Engineer A. J. Stead, who urged that action be taken as a problem is presented which must eventually be met. On the recommendation of City Attorney Moresby White Thalia street was taken by resolution, this resolution asserting that the public right had been adequately established through common use of the thoroughfare by the public over a period of more than five years.

Other streets which have not been dedicated will be taken over in similar manner at subsequent meetings of the council.

Minor matters coming before the the fathers were the notice of damage to Ruby street with consequent danger to users of the thoroughfare; request for city acceptance of a street to be known as Randall way by Ida Randall Bolles, referred to the engineer; filing of the health report; report of encroachment on public street by buildings placed on Radcliffe court; approval of a map for resubdivision of several lots, thrown into a single lot.

8 CANDIDATES IN CONTEST AT BEACH

LAGUNA BEACH, March 1.—Eight candidates for places on the Laguna Beach county water board are shown in the check of nomination papers filed for office. Five places are to be filled, as all directors go out of office at the same time. All are candidates for re-election.

The present board consists of Joseph R. Jahraus, president; Frank B. Champion and Thomas A. Cummings, constituting three of the five on the original board, with John L. Brickels and G. W. Prior, appointed about six months ago. Others who have filed papers are George N. Brown, Austin Cody and Henry B. Weeks.

All of those seeking office have held public office in this city before. Mr. Jahraus was a member of the first council, as were also Champion, Cummings and Brickels. Mr. Champion is now mayor and Mr. Prior is city clerk.

Of the three contenders for places occupied by the present board, Mr. Cody and Mr. Brown were both members of the board of the Laguna Beach sanitary district's board.

The election is to be held March 26, with the chamber of commerce the polling place.

Students Of Anaheim At Board Meet

ANAHEIM, March 1.—Members of the council of the Central school occupied the seats of city council members during a recess of that body last night. The pupils were brought to the meeting to observe the methods of the city council, by the principal of the school, Wilbur Benney.

The officers were elected at the school by popular vote during the presidential campaign of last fall. The school is the only one in the city to have a student governing board, according to the principal. Officers are from the fourth, fifth and sixth grades.

Jack Lewis is the mayor, Claudine Arrighi, clerk; and Winnifred Hapgood, city manager. Other officers present were Helen Trobin, Helia Herwitz, Billy Wallop and Jack Rodden.

SCOUT CHIEF TO SPEAK IN SAN CLEMENTE

SAN CLEMENTE, March 1. — George Walker, Santa Ana, Scout executive of Orange county, will address the San Clemente Kiwanis club on Boy Scout work at the weekly session of the club March 8, Virgil Westbrook, commander of the San Clemente American Legion post, announced today.

Each member will bring a youth of Scout age to the session. The Kiwanis chapter and American Legion of the Spanish village plan to spend much time on Scout work and the meeting will be the start of an active campaign to make San Clemente a Scout center for Orange county.

AUXILIARY IS ORGANIZED AT SAN CLEMENTE

SAN CLEMENTE, March 1.—San Clemente women started the formation of an auxiliary chapter of the American Legion at a meeting last night in the social club. Mrs. Helen Dee Wolfe, former adjutant of the Newport Beach auxiliary, was appointed to secure members for the new club here. All women eligible for membership are requested to see Mrs. Dee Wolfe. Mrs. Gertrude Bailey, La Mesa, district committee woman of the organization, was present at the San Clemente meeting as was Mrs. Bernice Keys, president of the San Diego auxiliary.

At the meeting of San Clemente post 331, American Legion it was decided to form a Boy Scout troop. Boys of the village will meet at the Social club next Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock, when they will be organized by Ed Gleason, first vice commander, Tom Guderian and C. W. Wells, Scout leaders of San Clemente. The Legion voted to stage a card party March 13 in the social club in conjuncture with the auxiliary.

Members of the Legion, C. W. Wells, Tom Guderian and Ed Gleason, have been engaged by Bill Klepper, president of the Seattle baseball club, to take tickets at all Indian training camp games until the training season closes on March 24. Money thus earned will be used in Boy Scout work as will all profits from the concession at the ball park owned by the Legion.

Anaheim Council Accepts Bid On Pipe For Water System

ENGINEERS TO PRESENT DATA BEFORE BOARD

ANAHEIM, March 1.—Preparing for the reconstruction of the Anaheim water system, the city council last night accepted a bid of the American Cast Iron Pipe company, of Los Angeles, for a quantity of pipe.

While the exact amount of the first purchase has not been determined, it will approximate $15,000, it was reported at the meeting.

Water engineers are now making a survey of the Anaheim water system and a report is expected in the near future, the council was told.

The American Cast Iron Pipe company's bid guaranteed delivery on pipe in 45 days.

Other bidders were the National Cast Iron Pipe foundry, Pacific States Pipe foundry, National Cast Iron Pipe company and the United States Cast Iron Pipe and Foundry company, all of Los Angeles.

Representatives of the United States and the National companies asked for a re-consideration of their bids. Foster Manock, of the former company, asked that a formal record be made on the minutes that he had entered a formal protest against the acceptance of the bid of the American company. He stated that the bid placed by his company was the lowest to be entered.

Mayor L. E. Miller and Councilman Grafton explained that the bid had been awarded pursuant with advice from the firm of consulting engineers making a survey of the water works system of the city. It was explained that the bids called for 100 foot pressure pipe while the bids submitted by the objecting representatives called for pipe of 150-pound pressure, a pressure which engineers agreed was not needed for the Anaheim system. Other factors had been also taken into consideration, it was said.

A resolution was read moving for the adoption of the amendment of ordinance No. 507, an ordinance regulating and fixing the rates of taxation of business houses.

A petition was presented by Dr. Truxaw asking for the re-zoning of the corner of South and Los Angeles streets from a strictly residential district to a business district. The matter was referred to the planning commission.

O. A. Steuernagel, president of the Anaheim Service Station association, appeared before the council asking an investigation of gasoline tank owners who were storing more than 25 gallons on their premises at one time. He stated that by an elimination of the tanks and by preventing the distributing companies from filling them the sale of 1500 to 2000 gallons of gas would be added to the local service stations. The association included 19 dealers, he said.

Fire Chief R. Nybee stated that an ordinance covered the storage of gas in the city. He requested Steuernagel to produce the names of people who were violating the ordinance.

LAGUNA BEACH, March 1.—Succumbing to the influence of art in this city, Stuart Avis, former Newport Beach merchant, now the owner of the Laguna Beach dry goods store, is having his store decorated in modernistic style by Al Dupont, artist and decorator.

Funeral Services For Wintersburg Pioneer Saturday

WINTERSBURG, Mar. 1.—Funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock for Mrs. Emma Hyber, 64, who passed away this morning at 5 o'clock after a long illness. The services will be held in the Dixon funeral chapel, Huntington Beach, and will be conducted by the Rev. J. G. Hurst, pastor of the First Christian church. Interment will be in the Huntington Beach cemetery.

Mrs. Hyber had been a resident of Wintersburg for the past 30 years. She was born in Indiana March, 9, 1855. Surviving Mrs. Hyber are her husband, Ed. Hyber; one daughter, Mrs. Julia Bowers, of Los Angeles, and a niece, Mrs. Maude Hollenbeck.

CAPTAINS FOR Y.W.C.A. FUND DRIVE CHOSEN

FULLERTON, March 1.—Team captains who will lead workers in the Y. W. C. A. campaign have been selected. Organization of workers is under way. Six teams will take charge of the actual soliciting to raise the $2650 quota.

Team captains are Mrs. Harry Suters, Miss Faustina Nenno, Mrs. W. J. Carmichael, Mrs. Lloyd Hulbert, Miss Emma Kast and Mrs. Mollie Thatcher. Miss Kast will head the high school division and Mrs. Thatcher the grammar schools.

A luncheon at the California Hotel cafe at 12:30 p. m., March 5 will formally open the campaign. Mrs. Hubert Biggs will be the hostess at the luncheon.

The initial gift committee is at work laying the foundation of a fund to be announced on the opening day of the drive.

Yorba Linda and Placentia have started campaigns for their quotas and Brea expects to start a canvass soon. The Fullerton campaign will close at a luncheon to be at noon next Friday.

L. B. CLUB TO HEAR WELCH LECTURER

LAGUNA BEACH, March 1.—Arthur Cheetham, Welch lecturer, will address the Theosophical society Sunday evening when it meets in the Community club, his subject being data regarding the fabled continents of Atlantis and Lemuria.

Six illustrative maps will be displayed and data, both occult and scientific, regarding the lost continents will be presented. The rise of the western part of the American continent will be shown on the maps.

The Enquirers' class, which meets in the home of Mrs. Maybelle L. Frost and Miss Annie Gayne Peake on Cliff drive Saturday night, will consider "The Astral Body" as its subject, with an informal discussion of "My Seven Minutes in Eternity" by William Dudley Pelley, an article appearing in the March American Magazine. Frederick Schwankovsky is class leader.

STORM DRAIN APPROVED AT LAGUNA BEACH

LAGUNA BEACH, March 1.—Two improvement projects were approved by the city council Wednesday. The much discussed storm drain enterprise, taking in the slough through the center of town met with official sanction.

The improvement of Laguna canyon storm drain has been agitated for many years. The slough drains a large area outside the city and the expense entailed is estimated at $65,000. The need of the improvement is admitted. Engineering problems involved are the discharge of water above sea level. This was finally met by ending the drain at mean high tide, allowing that the drain would silt up, but planning to open it once or twice a year. This was considered more economical than an attempt to carry the drain below low tide, which presented many difficulties.

The acquisition of title to undedicated streets was brought before the council by City Engineer A. J. Stead, who urged that action be taken as a problem is presented which must eventually be met. On the recommendation of City Attorney Moresby White Thalia street was taken by resolution, this resolution asserting that the public right had been adequately established through common use of the thoroughfare by the public over a period of more than five years.

Other streets which have not been dedicated will be taken over in similar manner at subsequent meetings of the council.

Minor matters coming before the the fathers were the notice of damage to Ruby street with consequent danger to users of the thoroughfare; request for city acceptance of a street to be known as Randall way by Ida Randall Bolles, referred to the engineer; filing of the health report; report of encroachment on public street by buildings placed on Radcliffe court; approval of a map for resubdivision of several lots, thrown into a single lot.

THE WEEKLY PANTRY SHELF

SILVER ACRES

SILVER ACRES, March 1.—Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Wallace, of Polson, Mont., visited last week in the W. W. Berry home. Mrs. Wallace is a cousin of Mrs. Berry.

The dance given by the Silver Acres Women's club at the Boise clubhouse Friday was well attended. The quilt given away by Mrs. Elizabeth Wiley was presented to Anna Gertrude Berry. The next meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Laura Anderson, with Mrs. D. W. Bates as co-hostess.

Preston Stroud has taken over the grocery department of the Fifth street garage, formerly operated by Annin brothers.

Dan Head has been ill in his home for the past three weeks.

Mrs. Cora Cole rented her property here and returned to South Dakota with her son to make her home.

Mrs. Dudley Watkins and son, Gene, of Oceanside, visited last week in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Austin.

Mrs. Evelyn Scofield visited Mrs. W. W. Berry and Mrs. W. Marks Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. K. E. Johnson, of Blair, Wis., have rented the Charles Fipps property.

Mrs. J. G. McCracken visited in Los Angeles the last of the week; while there she attended a concert.

3 You won't find a Recipe for Making a FT. Waffle

And you'll never find Hills Bros. roasting coffee in large quantities. By a patented, continuous process, only a few pounds at a time pass through their roasters. A marvelous uniform flavor is produced such as no other coffee has.

HILLS BROS COFFEE

Fresh from the original vacuum pack. Easily opened with the key.

HIGH SCHOOL CLINICS WILL BE IMPROVED

By GALE D. WALLACE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
(Special to The Register)

SACRAMENTO, March 1.—Tuberculosis will be combatted at its source by the further development of high school clinics in Santa Ana within the next two years under a plan of the state department of public health, revealed in their report for the last fiscal year.

This prediction was made by Edythe Tate Thompson, superintendent of the California bureau of tuberculosis, who cites figures to show that period just following the high school education of children is the one in which the "white plague" takes its greatest toll. During the past year 768 young people between the ages of 20 and 30 years were treated at county tuberculosis hospitals.

At present there are 13 high school clinics in which pupils are examined for traces of tuberculosis, which include the clinics in Santa Ana and Salinas.

Following the assumption of community control by the majority of the 58 counties in the state, a complete hospital program sufficient to care for tubercular patients of the state is expected to be finished in 1929, according to the bureau's report.

Hospital treatment will be available only to residents of California, the report said. Destitute persons coming to California for a change in climate are warned that the public institutions for the care of tubercular patients are not opened to them.

In a bill now pending before the state senate, Senator H. C. Jones of San Jose asks that every city and county be allowed to erect and maintain a sanatorium for treatment of tubercular patients. This prepares the way for the establishment of local hospitals.

HANSEN

HANSEN, Mar. 1.—Mrs. Ralph Shearer gave a party for her daughter, Georgia, on her fourth birthday February 22. Two kinds of cake and jello were served as refreshments. The little guests in attendance were Davie, Buster and Bonnie May Jones, Renette and Leland Hansen, Mary Miser, Margaret Dochy, Ellen Jane Peters, Helen Eckert, Gertrude and Dean Nicoldsand, Jacklyn and Allen Kitchen. Mrs. Jones and Mrs. Kitchen were guests.

THE WEEKLY PANTRY SHELF

WHIPPING POST FOR CRIMINALS IS ADVOCATED

By HOMER L. ROBERTS
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
(Special to The Register)

SACRAMENTO, March 1.—Adopt the whipping post and reduce California's crime problem 50 per cent immediately!

This is the recommendation to the California state legislature made by Dr. Joseph Perry Green of Sacramento, nationally known psychologist and founder of the International College of Metaphysics at St. Louis.

"I am heartily in accord with Judge Kavanaugh of Chicago in advocating the whipping post for gunmen," said Dr. Green. "This is sound from a psychological point of view, and will do more to deter crime than life imprisonment, or even hanging. These are my reasons:

"1. Criminally inclined persons have lost the fear of death. The recent World war cultivated fearlessness of death, in order to make good soldiers.

" 2. The great probability of non-conviction of criminals.

"3. Imprisonment or execution relieves the criminal of responsibility of providing for himself.

"Administration of a whipping, especially one in public, is feared much more than execution or imprisonment, because the infliction of physical pain of 10, 20 or more lashes, lasts longer than the pain of execution," Dr. Green continued.

WINTERSBURG

WINTERSBURG, March 1.—Mr. and Mrs. Ray McCormick and family spent Sunday in Belleflower as guests of Mr. McCormick's mother, Mrs. Kate McCormick.

Louis Steck and mother, Mrs. Albert Steck, motored to San Bernardino to attend the orange show the latter part of the week and returning stopped at Colton, where they called upon Mrs. Steck's sister, Mrs. Laura Sisson, and niece, Mrs. Alvin Hunter. At the Hunter home Mrs. Steck met a friend of her girlhood days, Mrs. Cox, whom she had not seen since leaving Missouri some years ago.

Betty Slater, young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Slater, underwent a minor operation Saturday.

Mrs. Henry Snasdell attended on Tuesday evening in Huntington Beach a party given by a group of the teachers to other teachers of the department.

Mrs. P. E. Pemberton, sister of Mrs. Henry Snasdell, returned Sunday to her home in Alhambra after a four-day visit in her sister's home. Mr. Pemberton motored down Sunday, spending the day and taking his wife and little daughter, Donna, home in the evening.

Mrs. George Gothard and son, Edwin Gothard, motored to Colton Sunday, taking to her home Mrs. Gothard's daughter, Mrs. Agnes Powell, and son and daughter, Jack and Luella Powell, who were houseguests last week in the Gothard home.

Miss Alma Vandruff spent several days in Belleflower with her sister, Mrs. Ruby Greer, returning home Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jenkins spent Saturday in Long Beach.

Mr. DeLavergne and daughters, Virginia and Elenore DeLavergne; Mr. and Mrs. Irwin and daughter, Reberta; Mrs. W. P. Treece and son, Jack, and daughter, Lois; Alice Breeding, Coy Rogers, Donald McMilland and son, Kenneth, spent Tuesday evening at the Alamitos skating rink. They met Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Gothard, former local residents, who were at the rink for the evening.

Mrs. W. P. Treece motored on to Long Beach from the rink to visit her sister.

Mr. and Mrs. Don McMillan and family motored to San Diego Sunday, making the trip in their new sedan and were accompanied on the trip by Mr. and Mrs. William McGuire and Jack Treece. Mr. and Mrs. McMillan visited their daughter, Miss Geneva McMillan, who is in school in that city.

Two first places in the track meet held between the high schools of Huntington Beach and Long Beach, held in Long Beach Tuesday, were won by local boys. Dean Pryor won first in the 100-yard dash and Ray Furuta in a broad jump of over 19 feet. Dean Pryor also won second place in the 220-yard dash.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Lacy and Mr. and Mrs. Gauldwing, friends from Long Beach, were Sunday evening visitors in the home of Mrs. Lacy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Blaylock, and Dr. and Mrs. U. G. Littell and John Blaylock, of Santa Ana, were afternoon guests.

Mrs. E. C. Lopp entertained as a week end guest in her home, her sister, Mrs. F. B. Stussy, and son, of Belleflower, and Sunday, Mrs. Lopp and daughter, Norma Lee, motored home with them for the day.

Everette Bentch has gone to Lawnsdale where he is to be employed in the oil fields.

Mrs. J. H. Pryor, president of the Oceanview Parent-Teacher association, and Mrs. B. I. Frost attended a presidents' meeting Tuesday afternoon in Santa Ana in the home of Mrs. N. Beisel, fourth district president of the P.-T. A.

WESTMINSTER

WESTMINSTER, March 1.—Mr. and Mrs. John Cain, of Orange, were Friday visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Spencer.

Cars were purchased by two residents of Westminster, last week. The Rev. R. A. Weld is driving a new sedan while Pence Kelson has a late model roadster.

Mr. and Mrs. Orval Day attended the annual orange show at the San Bernardino Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Smith and sons, Charles and Donald, and their grandchildren, Elizabeth and Virginia Bryan, of Burbank, motored down to their ranch Friday.

The Rev. R. A. Weld, Mrs. Weld and Mrs. R. E. Larter attended the wedding of Miss Margaret McClintock and Mr. Souder, of Los Angeles, in the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Anna McClintock, in Stanton, the Rev. Mr. Weld performing the ceremony. Following the ceremony the couple left for Alhambra where a wedding supper was served in the home of a friend.

J. A. Knapp was in Los Angeles Friday to have his injured hand examined by a physician.

Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Grandy were in Whittier Thursday to see their daughter-in-law, Mrs. Douglas Grandy, who had just returned from a hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. William Cozad jr., and daughter, of Balboa, were entertained Sunday by Mr. and Mrs. Harry Mansperger.

Mr. and Mrs. Amos Horner and daughter, of Harbor City, were entertained Sunday as guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Curtis, Mr. Horner being the son of Mrs. Curtis.

Mrs. Harry Penhall and Mrs. Clyde Day spent Sunday afternoon in Santa Ana, where they visited Mrs. Louise Haskins.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Loomis attended the Iowa picnic at Lincoln park, Los Angeles, Saturday, being accompanied from Long Beach by Mrs. Loomis' sister, Miss Clara Miller.

The large tent and the office buildings which the Deeble-Chapman corporation has had at their poultry division at New Westminster have been taken to the north 40 acres of the land purchased by the corporation from J. J. Vogt.

Mrs. R. A. Weld is ill in her home.

Hollis Fittz and 15 of his Boy Scouts hiked to Huntington Beach on an outing Saturday. In the party were Charles Anderson, Clifford Crane, Donald Melvin, Bill Turpin, Bud Hare, Glen Curtis, Frank Eastwood, Glenn Lawrence, James Goble, Donald Wardlow, Donald Hallaway, John Day, James Pugh and Ben Bassee.

Mrs. Raymond Penhall gave a turkey dinner in her home on Sunday evening for the members of Mr. Penhall's family. Included in the family group were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Penhall, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Penhall and two sons, Mr. and Mrs. Morton Penhall and three children, of Cypress; Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Ray and daughter and son, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Penhall, of Long Beach; Mrs. Alice Chandler, Mr. and Mrs. Lem Hayes and two children and the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Penhall.

The funeral of George A. Francis, who for the past 20 years had been a resident of Westminster, was held Saturday morning from the Westminster Presbyterian church. The service was conducted by the Rev. R. A. Weld, pastor of the church, and the Rev. W. T. Wardle, of Los Angeles, who for 13 years was Mr. Francis' pastor at the local church.

Mrs. R. A. Weld and Mrs. O. B. Byram sang. Pallbearers were Harry Anderson, E. R. Schneider, Thomas Hosack, O. B. Byram, Hensler Larter, Ed Larter, Charles Johnson and F. J. Grandy.

George A. Francis was born in Green county, New York, March 4, 1865, and at the age of eight years he went with his family to Nebraska. January 9, 1895, the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Francis occurred and to the union two daughters were born.

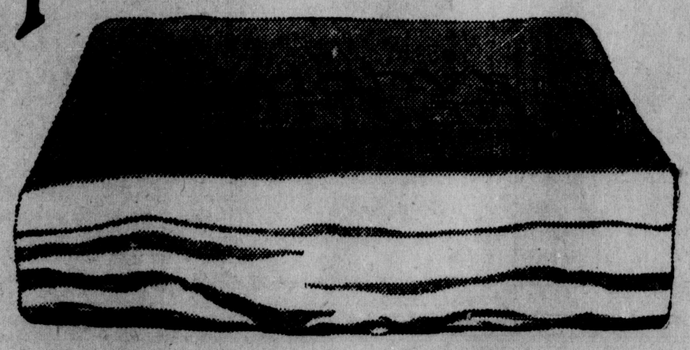
Cudahy's Puritan Bacon



Finer Flavor

Cudahy's Puritan Bacon is unrivalled. Finer flavor and greater tenderness have made it famous.

Puritan owes its distinguished qualities to the special method of curing these choice young meats. This method diffuses the rich meat juices in a natural way without forcing or hurrying. It is therefore uniformly sweet, mild, tender and delicious. Broiled or fried, its very aroma tempts even the most delicate appetite.

Try Puritan and see how good it is—a tempting, wholesome, nutritious food, easily digested; fine for growing children as well as for grown-ups. Puritan Bacon is a delightful adjunct in the preparation of meat dishes, salads, etc. At your dealer's.

REG. U. S. PAT. OFF.

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

The Tinymites still wondered why the Tree Man was so queer. "Oh, my," said Scouty, "I just wish you'd tell us what you're all about. We've never seen a man like you How do you live? What do you do? The story of your life would be a thrill to us, no doubt."

The Tree Man smiled, and then sat down. Said he, "Now Tinies, gather 'round. I'll tell you all a story that's as strange as it can be. What you are going to shortly hear will be unusual, I fear. But anyway I'm going to talk a little while 'bout me.

"You see, out in the open air the monstrous trees grow everywhere. That's why the woodsmen come around with axes every year. They wish to chop them to the ground, where later on the limbs are found, but all the truns and bigger parts are dragged away from here.

"Of course you know that that is wrong, 'cause this is where the trees belong. It is a shame to drag them down when they are not full grown. It spoils the looks of everything and takes the beauty out of spring. The woodsmen ought to know enough to let the trees alone.

"Well, that's where I play my small part. From spot to spot I quickly dart and scare some of the woodsmen off, while racing through the breeze. They don't know what I am, you see, and that is why they're scared of me. It may sound like real foolish work, but I've saved lots of trees."

Just then the rain began to fall. The Tree Man said "Hey, one and all, crawl underneath by flowing hair. A thoughtful soul am I. I'll act just like a bumbershoot." The Tinies all began to hoot. "Oh, thanks!" they cried. "You're very kind. You're keeping us all dry."

YORBA LINDA

YORBA LINDA, Mar. 1.—Mrs. Augusta Jepson went to Santa Ana Wednesday afternoon to visit Miss Cora McFarland, and was surprised to find herself the guest of honor at a crystal shower which had been arranged by some of her former neighbors.

The card party which Yorba Linda chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, gave Monday evening was a decided success. Twenty prizes were offered, Mrs. Anna DeBerry winning first prize in "500" and J. A. Small receiving first prize in bridge. The door prizes were won by Mrs. Willits Van Cleave and J. W. Hargrave.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Small spent the week end in Los Angeles in the home of a brother, F. H. G. Small.

Miss Edna Chandler, who is secretary of the Minneapolis Woman's club was a week end guest in the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Miller.

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Sengebush, of Long Beach, were recent dinner guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Rose Johnson.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hargrave attended the National Orange show Friday and were overnight guests in the home of Mrs. Hargrave's sister, Mrs. McWethy.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Bates had as dinner guests Monday, Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Abshier, of Brea.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hargrave and children, of Ontario, were Sunday guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hargrave, and in the afternoon the whole party went to Anaheim to call on Mrs. Helena Hargrave, of Honolulu, who is spending the winter here.

VENICE BEAUTIFUL UNDER HEAVY SNOWFALL

NATION'S CAPITOL HASTHREE "SUNNY BOYS"

Tanned skins and sunny dispositions have been prescribed for the nation's congressmen. Here you see three prominent legislators sitting, all goggle-eyed, before a battery of "artificial sunlights" and getting most of the benefits of a vacation in Florida without traveling out of the capitol. They are, left to right, Representatives L. C. Dyer of Missouri, Frederick N. Zihlman of Maryland, and C. J. McLeod of Michigan.

THEY'RE GOING TO CATALINA SOON!

FLIES IN RACCOON COAT

Lowering the non-stop flight record from Los Angeles to New York by approximately a half hour, Capt. Frank Hawks stepped from his "air express" Lockheed plane in New York, took off his raccoon coat and stepped out in a spick and span business suit to see the city. Hawks' time was 18 hours 21 minutes and 59 seconds, the old record of Art Goebel having been 18 hours and 58 minutes. A mechanic accompanied him.

WESTMINSTER

L. A. PRODUCE

LOS ANGELES, Calif., (UP)—Favorable growing weather is bringing an increase in the supply of many vegetable commodities on the local market resulting in a downward trend in prices for many products. This condition was somewhat aggravated today by the absence of buyers and a very sluggish movement of supplies.

Watsonville Newtown apples were weaker on the auctions yesterday's average declining to 85c.

Artichokes from Central California weakened to $4.50@$5.00 a box for fancy stock.

Local avocados were plentiful and while the best offerings brought 25 Z27c a pound, much inferior quality and small size fruit had to be discounted to 21@22c.

Imperial Valley asparagus had a moderate demand at $11.50 a crate for the fancy stock, $9.00 for choice $7.00 for unclassified stock.

Bunched vegetables were steady at the following prices: beets 30@35c; carrots 30@35c; radishes 15@25c; spinach 15@20c, and turnips 20@25c. Cabbage ruled firm at $1.25@$1.50 for most of the supply.

Local cauliflower is showing a wide range in quality, most of the supply being ordinary. Prices were slightly lower today, quoted generally at 50@75c a crate.

Local cull lemons ruled steady at $1.25@$1.75 a box.

Imperial Valley lettuce had a moderate demand at $2.65@$2.75 a crate for 4-dozens and $2.25 a crate for 5-dozens.

Oranges from nearby were in liberal supply and the market continues very dull. Large size standards were selling at $1.50@$1.75, occasionally slightly higher; mediums at $1.25@$1.50, and small juice stock at 50@75c.

Peas from Pismo were easier, the best offerings declining to 11@12c a pound. San Pedro stock brought 18@19c, and poor stock from Imperial valley sold as low as 6@7c.

New potatoes from San Diego county were offered at 7@8½c a pound.

Mexican tomatoes ruled steady, with the best lugs quoted at $1.75@$2.00.

The potato market was barely steady. Idaho Russets were sold at $1.37@$1.40, and Stockton Burbanks at $1.20@$1.40 per cwt.

NEW YORK CURB

By Richard L. Gridley

NEW YORK, March 1.—(UP)—In one of the most impressive displays of strength since the bull market, curb stocks soared sensationally today under the stimulus of urgent short covering and reports the incoming Hoover administration would be greeted by a huge demonstration on the stock exchange.

Firmness in call money was ignored as were other credit uncertainties.

Newmont mining finally came to life with a sensational 15-point advance to a further high record, reflecting the tremendous appreciation of its Kennecott and Continental Oil holdings.

In the industrial division, Wright Haro new, was an outstanding feature of strength, soaring nearly 20 points before meeting profit taking.

BONDS

By Otto E. Sturm

NEW YORK, March 1.—(UP)—Trading on the bond market started the new month in active and buoyant fashion, stimulated by the convertibles, which mirrored the bullish demonstrations in their stocks by sharp advances. Price movements in the general list were narrow, but the tone was firm while the foreign list was active and firm with convertibles also featuring this group. The United States government loans were advanced in fairly active buying.

Anaconda 7s supplied the outstanding feature of the stock privilege issues, being bid up 8 points to a record high.

VENICE BEAUTIFUL UNDER HEAVY SNOWFALL

NATION'S CAPITOL HASTHREE "SUNNY BOYS"

Tanned skins and sunny dispositions have been prescribed for the nation's congressmen. Here you see three prominent legislators sitting, all goggle-eyed, before a battery of "artificial sunlights" and getting most of the benefits of a vacation in Florida without traveling out of the capitol. They are, left to right, Representatives L. C. Dyer of Missouri, Frederick N. Zihlman of Maryland, and C. J. McLeod of Michigan.

FLIES IN RACCOON COAT

Lowering the non-stop flight record from Los Angeles to New York by approximately a half hour, Capt. Frank Hawks stepped from his "air express" Lockheed plane in New York, took off his raccoon coat and stepped out in a spick and span business suit to see the city. Hawks' time was 18 hours 21 minutes and 59 seconds, the old record of Art Goebel having been 18 hours and 58 minutes. A mechanic accompanied him.

WESTMINSTER

WESTMINSTER, March 1.—Mrs. L. E. Barry gave a class party Tuesday evening in the class room for her class of junior girls of the local Sunday school. Each girl furnished one dish for the exchange luncheon and Mrs. Barry served ice cream. An hour of games followed the supper, Miss Margaret Knighten, sister of Mrs. Barry, assisting her.

Those attending the supper and party were Mrs. Barry, Miss Knighten, Ruth Lessig, Winifred Snasdell, Ilamae Hensley, Virginia Ferguson, Mary Kilday, Mary Raylor, Marian Melvin, Edna McCardia, Sadie Johnson, Marie Arnett and Mildred Loftus.

Mrs. Ed Finley, who has been ill, is reported improved.

The Busy Bee club's monthly executive meeting was held Monday afternoon in I. O. O. F. hall.

George Abbott, accompanied by his daughters, Mrs. Mattie Wilson and Mrs. Alma Davis, of Huntington Park, went to Corona, where they visited another daughter, Mrs. Georgia Green, who was in a hospital. It is expected that it will be another week before she is sufficiently recovered to leave the hospital. Mrs. Green has been at the hospital since the first of January.

Work has been commenced on the Ed Finley residence, which is being erected near the Finley service station west of town. The house will be a five-room frame, modern in every way. Contractor Anderson, of Santa Ana, is in charge of building operations. The home is to cost $4500, it is understood.

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Rivers, of Compton, were recent overnight guests of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Morris. They have gone to Texon, Tex., where Mr. Rivers has accepted a position in the oil fields.

Mrs. George Whitcomb, Mrs. Alice Hare and Mrs. Winifred Morris attended an exchange luncheon Tuesday, given by the Woman's club of Huntington Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. Wells McCoy spent Saturday evening at the San Bernardino Orange show and from there went to Corona, where they remained over night as guests of Mrs. McCoy's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Perle Glass.

Wallace and Brice McCoy motored to San Bernardino Sunday afternoon to attend the closing evening of the orange show.

Financial and Market News

L. A. PRODUCE

LOS ANGELES, Calif., (UP)—Favorable growing weather is bringing an increase in the supply of many vegetable commodities on the local market resulting in a downward trend in prices for many products. This condition was somewhat aggravated today by the absence of buyers and a very sluggish movement of supplies.

Watsonville Newtown apples were weaker on the auctions yesterday's average declining to 85c.

Artichokes from Central California weakened to $4.50@5.00 a box for fancy stock.

Local avocados were plentiful and while the best offerings brought 25 Z27c a pound, much inferior quality and small size fruit had to be discounted to 21@22c.

Imperial Valley asparagus had a moderate demand at $11.50 a crate for the fancy stock, $9.00 for choice $7.00 for unclassified stock.

Bunched vegetables were steady at the following prices: beets 30@35c; carrots 30@35c; radishes 15@25c; spinach 15@20c, and turnips 20@25c. Cabbage ruled firm at $1.25@$1.50 for most of the supply.

Local cauliflower is showing a wide range in quality, most of the supply being ordinary. Prices were slightly lower today, quoted generally at 50@75c a crate.

Local cull lemons ruled steady at $1.25@$1.75 a box.

Imperial Valley lettuce had a moderate demand at $2.65@$2.75 a crate for 4-dozens and $2.25 a crate for 5-dozens.

Oranges from nearby were in liberal supply and the market continues very dull. Large size standards were selling at $1.50@$1.75, occasionally slightly higher; mediums at $1.25@$1.50, and small juice stock at 50@75c.

Peas from Pismo were easier, the best offerings declining to 11@12c a pound. San Pedro stock brought 18@19c, and poor stock from Imperial valley sold as low as 6@7c.

New potatoes from San Diego county were offered at 7@8½c a pound.

Mexican tomatoes ruled steady, with the best lugs quoted at $1.75@$2.00.

The potato market was barely steady. Idaho Russets were sold at $1.37@$1.40, and Stockton Burbanks at $1.20@$1.40 per cwt.

NEW YORK CURB

By Richard L. Gridley

NEW YORK, March 1.—(UP)—In one of the most impressive displays of strength since the bull market, curb stocks soared sensationally today under the stimulus of urgent short covering and reports the incoming Hoover administration would be greeted by a huge demonstration on the stock exchange.

Firmness in call money was ignored as were other credit uncertainties.

Newmont mining finally came to life with a sensational 15-point advance to a further high record, reflecting the tremendous appreciation of its Kennecott and Continental Oil holdings.

In the industrial division, Wright Hero new, was an outstanding feature of strength, soaring nearly 20 points before meeting profit taking.

BONDS

By Otto E. Sturm

NEW YORK, March 1.—(UP)—Trading on the bond market started the new month in active and buoyant fashion, stimulated by the convertibles, which mirrored the bullish demonstrations in their stocks by sharp advances. Price movements in the general list were narrow, but the tone was firm while the foreign list was active and firm with convertibles also featuring this group. The United States government loans were advanced in fairly active buying.

Anaconda 7s supplied the outstanding feature of the stock privilege issues, being bid up 3 points to a record high.

GERMANY TO HONOR HER WAR DEAD

In the rush to honor their war dead, the allied countries have been stampeded into adopting the same form of honoring the war dead. Of course, England has her cenotaph to commemorate her war dead toward which the horse guards constantly face, but undoubtedly the most sacred memorial is the grave of the unknown soldier as one enters Westminster Abbey. France has buried her unknown soldier under the Arc de Triomphe. The United States has buried her unknown hero at Arlington. There, within the easy approach of hundreds of thousands, the multitudes of curious and pilgrims jostle each other to look upon the grave of the unknown dead who symbolizes the devotion of the common soldier. The idea was novel, and was hastily adopted by all the allied nations, so that all now have their grave of the unknown soldier.

Germany has been so absorbed with other problems that she has been able to give little time to an adequate memorial for her heroic dead. But the matter has not been out of mind. Pursuant to the usual German thoughtfulness, a commission has now reported a plan which has been adopted with a general unanimity. The proposition is to dedicate a large tract of land in the forest of Thuringia to Germany's heroic dead, and in the heart of it erect a huge shaft like our Washington monument with such figures and inscriptions on the base as shall dignify the memory of the German soldiery. Germany has been critical of the publicity given to movie actors and other semi-public characters who have been photographed laying wreaths upon the grave of the unknown soldier, which has usually been placed midway "between" a subway station and a taxi stand."

After all, a shrine becomes very common when it is too accessible to the multitude. To place it where it will require some effort to reach, will make it more a place of pilgrimage. This is what is intended for the German memorial. No doubt, like the great Niederwald memorial along the Rhine, this proposed memorial will become the shrine of a truly great people. But how different it will be. The Niederwald memorial is a memorial of pride and victory. The Thuringian memorial will be a memorial of humiliation and defeat. Yet Germans will have no occasion to apologize for the valor of their soldiers during the four terrible years of the World war. Like the Confederates of the South, they fought for a Lost Cause. Leaders, intoxicated with the frenzy of military glory, plunged the nation into humiliation not unlike that of 1806 when Napoleon over-ran the Fatherland.

But the German soldier fought with all that was in him for the glory of the Fatherland, and though defeated, he deserves the everlasting homage of his countrymen through all the ages.

Two British soldiers fell before the rifles of the Minute Men at Concord Bridge in the opening battle of the American Revolution, and there they lie buried. Admirers of heroism in foe as well as friend, have erected a stone there bearing the inscription written by James Russell Lowell, "They came three thousand miles, and died, to keep the past upon the throne." Those who make a pilgrimage to this American shrine always stop before these graves to honor the heroic soldiery of the enemy dead. So it will be in after years when the descendants of those who honor supremely the men who fell in the Allied cause, will stand before the German memorial in the Thuringian forest. They too, died for a discredited cause, but they did not know it. They fought for what to them was the dearest thing on earth,—the Fatherland.

Dean Inge of London says that in a million more years man may be a really noble creature. Flatterer!

TOURIST ROAD SUPPORT

The proposal of the county clerks' association to the legislature that a flat uniform allocation of $20,000 to each of the counties of the state before a division be made on the basis of registration is a wise and just measure. Several of the counties have a small registration of automobiles and would receive a very small part of the fund. The assessed valuation of these counties would not permit a sufficient tax to build or maintain adequate highways. At the same time the motorists of all other parts of the state will use their roads.

These counties have natural scenic, fishing, and hunting, as well as mining, and other attractions which cause their roads to be used by tourists as well as residents of the entire state. This flat division would require only about 12 per cent of the whole fund, and would be uniform. That means that even those counties which would get the bulk of the fund for road purposes would receive the $20,000 along with the less populous counties before the pro rata division would be made. The whole state would benefit by the plan, and it would be a graceful concession by the richer counties.

Snowstorms in the southern cities of Italy! Have they no chambers of commerce there?

WHEN HISTORY IS NOT "BUNK"

Professional lines of business are searching the records to prove that their line reaches farthest back into history. Now comes one of the delegates to the National Hairdressers' Association and declares that one of Nero's favorites was known to have given herself a permanent wave by winding her locks on sticks that were packed in clay. Another one declared that Venus herself bleached her hair with quick lime.

Don't we recall that before Atlas took upon himself the job of holding up the earth, he had for quite a series of years, gone through his daily dozen?

LAW ENFORCEMENT MEASURE PASSES

The bill which we previously referred to providing a maximum penalty of five years in prison and $10,000 fine for violators of the Volstead act, passed through Congress yesterday.

It is an extremely strong measure and passed the House by a vote of 288 to 90. Some of the hostile correspondents and newspapers refer to this as "steam roller" methods, and intimate that it is organization and only organization that is able to put this measure through.

Surely they do not claim that either party organization was behind the bill. Everyone knows this is not true. The organized temperance forces of the country were behind it, but the only thing that they represent are the voters who vote dry back home. The 288 Congressmen who voted for the bill unquestionably voted for it because they knew that a majority of their constituents believed and would vote that way. Many of them were undoubtedly elected on that very issue.

On the other hand, the 90 that voted against it voted against it because they knew that a majority of their constituents would support them in such a position. There were three times as many votes cast for the measure as against it. Isn't it strange that this "vast majority" of wets are not able any more to express themselves in any other way than making noise?

TRANSPORTATION VICTIMS

One of the proposals of the joint legislative committee in the matter of vehicle accidents is worthy of note and of becoming a law. This committee proposes that anyone against whom a judgment has been rendered for being responsible for negligent operation of a vehicle shall have his license revoked if he fails to satisfy the judgment.

It would be better if a plan could be devised whereby a victim of a vehicle accident could be taken care of regardless of whose negligence it was, at least during the period of his incapacity. We have already arrived at that point for injuries in industries.

It is a long road from the injury, through the courts, to a judgment and oftentimes to no avail because of the fact that the negligent driver was execution proof. In such cases the victim not only suffers from the collision but the added expense of the suit and attorney's fees. The proposed law would tend to force automobile owners to insure against liability and thus afford relief to their victims when judgment was obtained.

THEY FLY AGAIN

Flying is "Lindy's" job, and evidently it is to be the job of "Mrs. Lindy." A little mishap doesn't stop them from continuing their normal business.

They are to be congratulated on their response to whatever challenge the accident presented.

NO COMPARATIVE FIGURES

We note that the scientists in New York measured a maiden's blush last night. We thought that blushing was an art that had passed away several years ago. We would be more interested to know just what was done or said to make the maiden blush.

Another Arizona View

Tucson Daily Citizen

After days of fruitless discussion the second Santa Fe conference on the Boulder dam project seems likely to end in failure. Such an outcome would be deplorable.

Had an agreement been reached at the first Santa Fe conference, this project would be in operation today, seven years being the estimated time required for its completion. Meanwhile there has been a most costly retardation of Arizona's development and the people are beginning to view with concern the possible consequences of further delay.

It is difficult to form an adequate estimate of the tremendous loss our state will suffer for every year in which we fail to put to work on our farms and in our mines the water and water-power of the Colorado, creating untold wealth in new property and its products and affording employment to thousands of new citizens. Even a conservative estimate of that loss should spur us on to a speedy determination of the matter. Let us make some reasonable compromise of existing differences and ratify the compact, thus permitting work on the dam to begin. Through our present policy of opposition, we are not only setting back the material growth of the state, but by obstructing a project designed for the common good we are damaging our prestige among the other states.

A fact that has contributed to the increasing concern of our people, as delay follows delay, is the rapid development of the Colorado delta below our borders in Mexico. "Nothing in this act," says the Swing-Johnson law, "shall be construed as a denial of or recognition of any rights, if any, in Mexico as to the use of the waters of the Colorado system." This declaration evidently anticipates that Mexico will claim such volume of water from the Colorado as it happens to be using whenever an international settlement is made. That country's use of water from the Colorado is reported to be growing at the rate of 200,000 acre feet a year and we know that capital is now pouring into the delta region in vast amounts to develop irrigation enterprises. It is true that Mexico's right to any part of the Colorado, though an international stream, has been challenged, but although its claims may not be specifically protected by treaty, they can not be ignored, for they may be sustained in arbitration.

The marvelous agricultural and industrial development following the completion of the Roosevelt dam and adding so enormously to the wealth of the state, has fixed the public's vision on the extraordinary benefits to be realized from the construction in the canyons of the Colorado of the world's greatest reservoir; and a growing dissatisfaction is now disclosing itself among our people with the tactics that have so long postponed, and are still postponing, these benefis.

What if we have not gained all we sought. The water wealth allotted to us means a development so vast that one can hardly picture it. Under the proposed apportionment we shall have more water and water-power than can be used in a generation Let us hasten by prompt ratification this beneficent enterprise and stem the frightful wastage now occurring. If there is further delay while we bargain for a larger share, the loss to Arizona in retarded development will be infinitely greater than anything we can hope to gain by the present procedure.

The editorial page I read—
Sometimes I read it twice,
And always do my best to heed
Its excellent advice
But in one such attempt I know
That I am doomed to fail,
Because, a week or two ago
It bade me
SAVE THE WHALE!
I have no ship in which to sail
Out through the wind blown spray
To hunt the men who hunt the whale
And drive them from their prey.
I have no private bay or sound
In which the whale could roam
And spout and sport the whole year 'round
And make himself at home.
Nor could I, although far and wide
I ploughed the restless deep
Find any place where whales abide
And romp and eat and sleep
I might range on, year after year
From Line to Arctic floes
And back again, and never hear
The cry of "Thar she blows!"
The editorials that I read
For years have come to be
My law, my ethics and my creed;
They shape my life for me.
But this one, though it makes me sigh
Must be without avail
And it will pass unheeded by,

MARRIED ON $25 A WEEK

Sure! Why not?

Two young people were in love with each other and decided to get married.

He was earning twenty-five dollars a week as a mechanic's helper, but they determined to get married anyhow.

This may come as a shock or may appear a deed of rashness to a great many people who think their darlings should not venture into the sea of matrimony without an assured income of many times twenty-five dollars a week.

I read the other day that a young lady said she needed over $1,000 allowance for music lessons, a considerable sum for horseback riding and another allowance for French, which she considered necessities.

The girl who married on twenty-five dollars a week evidently did not think this was necessary. Neither did her husband.

But why should they? They have youth and health and a spirit of adventure. That is about all it takes to make the materials for a happy marriage.

If they ever get anywhere or accumulate any money it will be by the general efforts of both, and they can speak of their possessions as ours, not his.

Somehow the idea of a woman taking a chance with a man she loves and risking with him the adventure of life is appealing to an old guy like me, but when I read this over to a young lady she said she didn't think any woman could be happy on twenty-five dollars a week It entailed too many hardships. So there you are.

Of course no one can tell what is in store for this couple. They may strike the rocks and their matrimonial bark may be wrecked. But this young lady stands about as good a chance as young ladies that sell themselves for a million or so.

Love is not made safe by money. In fact, the better class of people don't care to have life made safe at all. Their stock in trade is hope and adventure and health.

I once read of a couple that spent their last dollar on a marriage license in Albany and walked back home fifty miles.

Doubtless this was foolish. But what would youth be without foolishness!

After all, the best security in the world, the best foundation to begin and to maintain matrimony with, is love. If you have that, and can surely keep it, you have everything. It is better than money or houses or lands. Keep love and you can meet everything else with an undismayed front; but when love flies out of the window all the stocks and bonds you have will not guarantee you happiness

There may be some doubt as to love being the greatest thing in the world in some other respects, but when it comes to marriage love is pretty near to being the sine qua non.

Thoughts On Modern Life

EVERYMAN AS TYRANT

In the age of the Monarchs our fathers had to watch the Crowned Man lest he tyrannize over them.

In the Age of the Masses we have to watch the Common Man lest he tyrannize over us.

When the Common Man stands alone he is powerless.

When the Common Man syndicates his strength with his fellows he is powerful.

The tyranny of Everyman is the anonymous tyranny of aggregates of men, a tyranny far more difficult to down than the tyranny of a single dictator.

The tyrannized crowds of the Age of the Monarchs did well to "get a line" on the mind of the Crowned Man.

The tyrannized crowds of the Age of the Masses do well to "get a line" on the mind of the Common Man when he acts in concert with his fellows.

We cannot undermine this autocracy of the average unless we understand the mind of the mob.

And the mind of the mob has certain well defined characteristics that may be listed, viz:

First, the mass mind is extreme. It sees no fine shadings of a situation, admits no qualifications of a proposition, demands everything or nothing.

Second, the mass mind is dogmatic.

What it lacks in information it makes up in intensity of conviction; conscious of crowd agreement, it is bolstered up in its cocksureness.

Third, the mass mind is credulous.

Fourth, the mass mind is factious.

It is intolerant of the faith of others and inconsiderate of the feelings of others.

Fifth, the mass mind is unstable.

It is not accident that makes the world mob and mobile alike; the crowd is mobile and mercurial; its passions can be switched by a passing sneer or smile; its convictions may be whirled about like a weather-vane.

Sixth, the mass mind is simple.

It over-simplifies both the problems it faces and the panaceas it proposes.

Seventh, the mass mind is immoral.

It is immoral because it is emotional rather than rational and moral conduct is rational conduct.

Eighth, the mass mind is conservative.

Its broad gesture may be that of non-conformity, but its essential genius is that of conformity; the very fact that it is a crowd mind means that it is a conformist mind; and since crowds cannot create, it is essentially negative, and therefore not of the trail-blazing sort.

This is the mind of Everyman, the tyrant modern men must fight.

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

REST TIME

Some children need an afternoon nap and some do not. That is the answer to the anxious mother who wants to know why Madeline, across the street, just the same age as Mildred, three last month, takes her nap without a murmur while Mildred absolutely refuses to close an eye."

"Because Mildred is like that, and Madeline is the other way. A child of three and on, rests when he is weary. It is a good practice to establish a rest hour after lunch. The child is washed with warm water, dressed in loose robe and soft easy slippers, and left to rest in a quiet, light-shaded room.

"But she won't sleep for me."

"Maybe she won't. Think a little. Suppose I wanted you to go to sleep right after lunch and you did not want to sleep. Suppose I kept urging you to sleep, scolding about it, explaining about it, spanking and shaking and shouting about it, would you go to sleep?

First, sleep must be welcome. Then it must be wooed. It can never be forced. Excitement drives all thought of sleep away. Fear kills sleep. Noise and bright light and sounds of activity about the house will drive sleep away. The stage must be set for sleep or sleep cannot appear.

Then the body must be ready to go to sleep. The tired child will sleep unless TOO tired. Most of the little children are not tired and feel no need of sleep. "I feel too rested to sleep," protests one little four-year-old.

These little children need hard exercise every forenoon. Their growth demands hard work, general activity, the complete use of the body in sturdy effort. If the child works hard with ball or car or shovel for an hour or more, walks and runs and jumps and shouts, he will be ready to rest after lunch. But if he has been in bed until nine o'clock, had breakfast by ten, dressed and out for play by eleven brought in by eleven thirty to prepare for lunch, washed, brushed, seated at the table by twelve, he is neither hungry nor tired and will neither eat nor sleep with any idea of contentment. He is about ready for a good morning's work and will take it out on the unfortunate grownup who is trying to feed him or put him to sleep.

Turn the toddlers into the yard for play. Make the play as vigorous as the circumstances will permit. Shovels, pails, gravel; brooms, rakes, barrows; swings, slides, balls and bats; things to play with and freedom to play, and they will be willing to eat, and glad to rest.

But how can you rest if you are not tired?

(Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, enclosing stamped, addressed envelope for reply.)

GERMANY TO HONOR HER WAR DEAD

In the rush to honor their war dead, the allied countries have been stampeded into adopting the same form of honoring the war dead. Of course, England has her cenotaph to commemorate her war dead toward which the horse guards constantly face, but undoubtedly the most sacred memorial is the grave of the unknown soldier as one enters Westminster Abbey. France has buried her unknown soldier under the Arc de Triomphe. The United States has buried her unknown hero at Arlington. There, within the easy approach of hundreds of thousands, the multitudes of curious and pilgrims jostle each other to look upon the grave of the unknown dead who symbolizes the devotion of the common soldier. The idea was novel, and was hastily adopted by all the allied nations, so that all now have their grave of the unknown soldier.

Germany has been so absorbed with other problems that she has been able to give little time to an adequate memorial for her heroic dead. But the matter has not been out of mind. Pursuant to the usual German thoughtfulness, a commission has now reported a plan which has been adopted with a general unanimity. The proposition is to dedicate a large tract of land in the forest of Thuringia to Germany's heroic dead, and in the heart of it erect a huge shaft like our Washington monument with such figures and inscriptions on the base as shall dignify the memory of the German soldiery. Germany has been critical of the publicity given to movie actors and other semi-public characters who have been photographed laying wreaths upon the grave of the unknown soldier, which has usually been placed midway "between" a subway station and a taxi stand."

After all, a shrine becomes very common when it is too accessible to the multitude. To place it where it will require some effort to reach, will make it more a place of pilgrimage. This is what is intended for the German memorial. No doubt, like the great Niederwald memorial along the Rhine, this proposed memorial will become the shrine of a truly great people. But how different it will be. The Niederwald memorial is a memorial of pride and victory. The Thuringian memorial will be a memorial of humiliation and defeat. Yet Germans will have no occasion to apologize for the valor of their soldiers during the four terrible years of the World war. Like the Confederates of the South, they fought for a Lost Cause. Leaders, intoxicated with the frenzy of military glory, plunged the nation into humiliation not unlike that of 1806 when Napoleon over-ran the Fatherland.

But the German soldier fought with all that was in him for the glory of the Fatherland, and though defeated, he deserves the everlasting homage of his countrymen through all the ages.

Two British soldiers fell before the rifles of the Minute Men at Concord Bridge in the opening battle of the American Revolution, and there they lie buried. Admirers of heroism in foe as well as friend, have erected a stone there bearing the inscription written by James Russell Lowell, "They came three thousand miles, and died, to keep the past upon the throne." Those who make a pilgrimage to this American shrine always stop before these graves to honor the heroic soldiery of the enemy dead. So it will be in after years when the descendants of those who honor supremely the men who fell in the Allied cause, will stand before the German memorial in the Thuringian forest. They too, died for a discredited cause, but they did not know it. They fought for what to them was the dearest thing on earth,—the Fatherland.

Dean Inge of London says that in a million more years man may be a really noble creature. Flatterer!

TOURIST ROAD SUPPORT

The proposal of the county clerks' association to the legislature that a flat uniform allocation of $20,000 to each of the counties of the state before a division be made on the basis of registration is a wise and just measure. Several of the counties have a small registration of automobiles and would receive a very small part of the fund. The assessed valuation of these counties would not permit a sufficient tax to build or maintain adequate highways. At the same time the motorists of all other parts of the state will use their roads.

These counties have natural scenic, fishing, and hunting, as well as mining, and other attractions which cause their roads to be used by tourists as well as residents of the entire state. This flat division would require only about 12 per cent of the whole fund, and would be uniform. That means that even those counties which would get the bulk of the fund for road purposes would receive the $20,000 along with the less populous counties before the pro rata division would be made. The whole state would benefit by the plan, and it would be a graceful concession by the richer counties.

Snowstorms in the southern cities of Italy! Have they no chambers of commerce there?

WHEN HISTORY IS NOT "BUNK"

Professional lines of business are searching the records to prove that their line reaches farthest back into history. Now comes one of the delegates to the National Hairdressers' Association and declares that one of Nero's favorites was known to have given herself a permanent wave by winding her locks on sticks that were packed in clay. Another one declared that Venus herself bleached her hair with quick lime.

Don't we recall that before Atlas took upon himself the job of holding up the earth, he had for quite a series of years, gone through his daily dozen?

LAW ENFORCEMENT MEASURE PASSES

The bill which we previously referred to providing a maximum penalty of five years in prison and $10,000 fine for violators of the Volstead act, passed through Congress yesterday.

It is an extremely strong measure and passed the House by a vote of 288 to 90. Some of the hostile correspondents and newspapers refer to this as "steam roller" methods, and intimate that it is organization and only organization that is able to put this measure through.

Surely they do not claim that either party organization was behind the bill. Everyone knows this is not true. The organized temperance forces of the country were behind it, but the only thing that they represent are the voters who vote dry back home. The 288 Congressmen who voted for the bill unquestionably voted for it because they knew that a majority of their constituents believed and would vote that way. Many of them were undoubtedly elected on that very issue.

On the other hand, the 90 that voted against it voted against it because they knew that a majority of their constituents would support them in such a position. There were three times as many votes cast for the measure as against it. Isn't it strange that this "vast majority" of wets are not able any more to express themselves in any other way than making noise?

TRANSPORTATION VICTIMS

One of the proposals of the joint legislative committee in the matter of vehicle accidents is worthy of note and of becoming a law. This committee proposes that anyone against whom a judgment has been rendered for being responsible for negligent operation of a vehicle shall have his license revoked if he fails to satisfy the judgment.

It would be better if a plan could be devised whereby a victim of a vehicle accident could be taken care of regardless of whose negligence it was, at least during the period of his incapacity. We have already arrived at that point for injuries in industries.

It is a long road from the injury, through the courts, to a judgment and oftentimes to no avail because of the fact that the negligent driver was execution proof. In such cases the victim not only suffers from the collision but the added expense of the suit and attorney's fees. The proposed law would tend to force automobile owners to insure against liability and thus afford relief to their victims when judgment was obtained.

THEY FLY AGAIN

Flying is "Lindy's" job, and evidently it is to be the job of "Mrs. Lindy." A little mishap doesn't stop them from continuing their normal business.

They are to be congratulated on their response to whatever challenge the accident presented.

NO COMPARATIVE FIGURES

We note that the scientists in New York measured a maiden's blush last night. We thought that blushing was an art that had passed away several years ago. We would be more interested to know just what was done or said to make the maiden blush.

Another Arizona View

Tucson Daily Citizen

After days of fruitless discussion the second Santa Fe conference on the Boulder dam project seems likely to end in failure. Such an outcome would be deplorable.

Had an agreement been reached at the first Santa Fe conference, this project would be in operation today, seven years being the estimated time required for its completion. Meanwhile there has been a most costly retardation of Arizona's development and the people are beginning to view with concern the possible consequences of further delay.

It is difficult to form an adequate estimate of the tremendous loss our state will suffer for every year in which we fail to put to work on our farms and in our mines the water and water-power of the Colorado, creating untold wealth in new property and its products and affording employment to thousands of new citizens. Even a conservative estimate of that loss should spur us on to a speedy determination of the matter. Let us make some reasonable compromise of existing differences and ratify the compact, thus permitting work on the dam to begin. Through our present policy of opposition, we are not only setting back the material growth of the state, but by obstructing a project designed for the common good we are damaging our prestige among the other states.

The tyranny of Everyman is the anonymous tyranny of aggregates of men, a tyranny far more difficult to down than the tyranny of a single dictator.

The tyrannized crowds of the Age of the Monarchs did well to "get a line" on the mind of the Crowned Man.

The tyrannized crowds of the Age of the Masses do well to "get a line" on the mind of the Common Man when he acts in concert with his fellows.

We cannot undermine this autocracy of the average unless we understand the mind of the mob.

And the mind of the mob has certain well defined characteristics that may be listed, viz:

First, the mass mind is extreme. It sees no fine shadings of a situation, admits no qualifications of a proposition, demands everything or nothing.

Second, the mass mind is dogmatic.

What it lacks in information it makes up in intensity of conviction; conscious of crowd agreement, it is bolstered up in its cocksureness.

Third, the mass mind is credulous.

It swallows propaganda easily; in fact most crowd convictions are built on the tainted and twisted information the propagandists furnish.

Fourth, the mass mind is factious.

It is intolerant of the faith of others and inconsiderate of the feelings of others.

Fifth, the mass mind is unstable.

It is not accident that makes the world mob and mobile alike; the crowd is mobile and mercurial; its passions can be switched by a passing sneer or smile; its convictions may be whirled about like a weather-vane.

Sixth, the mass mind is simple.

It over-simplifies both the problems it faces and the panaceas it proposes.

Seventh, the mass mind is immoral.

It is immoral because it is emotional rather than rational and moral conduct is rational conduct.

Eighth, the mass mind is conservative.

Its broad gesture may be that of non-conformity, but its essential genius is that of conformity; the very fact that it is a crowd mind means that it is a conformist mind; and since crowds cannot create, it is essentially negative, and therefore not of the trail-blazing sort.

This is the mind of Everyman, the tyrant modern men must fight.

OUR CHILDREN

REST TIME

Some children need an afternoon nap and some do not. That is the answer to the anxious mother who wants to know why Madeline, across the street, just the same age as Mildred, three last month, takes her nap without a murmur while Mildred absolutely refuses to close an eye."

"Because Mildred is like that, and Madeline is the other way. A child of three and on, rests when he is weary. It is a good practice to establish a rest hour after lunch. The child is washed with warm water, dressed in loose robe and soft easy slippers, and left to rest in a quiet, light-shaded room.

"But she won't sleep for me."

"Maybe she won't. Think a little. Suppose I wanted you to go to sleep right after lunch and you did not want to sleep. Suppose I kept urging you to sleep, scolding about it, explaining about it, spanking and shaking and shouting about it, would you go to sleep?

First, sleep must be welcome. Then it must be wooed. It can never be forced. Excitement drives all thought of sleep away. Fear kills sleep. Noise and bright light and sounds of activity about the house will drive sleep away. The stage must be set for sleep or sleep cannot appear.

Then the body must be ready to go to sleep. The tired child will sleep unless TOO tired. Most of the little children are not tired and feel no need of sleep. "I feel too rested to sleep," protests one little four-year-old.

These little children need hard exercise every forenoon. Their growth demands hard work, general activity, the complete use of the body in sturdy effort. If the child works hard with ball or car or shovel for an hour or more, walks and runs and jumps and shouts, he will be ready to rest after lunch. But if he has been in bed until nine o'clock, had breakfast by ten, dressed and out for play by eleven brought in by eleven thirty to prepare for lunch, washed, brushed, seated at the table by twelve, he is neither hungry nor tired and will neither eat nor sleep with any idea of contentment. He is about ready for a good morning's work and will take it out on the unfortunate grownup who is trying to feed him or put him to sleep.

Turn the toddlers into the yard for play. Make the play as vigorous as the circumstances will permit. Shovels, pails, gravel; brooms, rakes, barrows; swings, slides, balls and bats; things to play with and freedom to play, and they will be willing to eat, and glad to rest.

But how can you rest if you are not tired?

(Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, enclosing stamped, addressed envelope for reply.)
